CURRENT ACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PLANS

The Freedom Agenda Program

The stated purpose of the Freedom Agenda program is
"to involve all the groups in a community in a continuing discussion of the basic rights of Americans." This is accomplished through the medium of forums or discussion groups at the community level.

Spearheading this effort is the League of Women Voters through a subsidiary organization, the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, Inc.
A grant of $45,000 in April, 1954, to the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, Inc., was augmented in November, 1954, by an additional grant of $66,610.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 20, 25

The Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, Inc., sponsored a series of Freedom Agenda pamphlets to be used in connection with the group discussions. According to the American National Research, Inc. Report for October 5, 1955, all six of the pamphlets "are ingeniously contrived diversionary tracts. Communism and internal subversion is either completely ignored or glossed over, minimized, or de-emphasized. This is done through the simple device of creating a tremendous bugaboo about 'vanishing civil liberties!, 'whittling away of Constitutional guarantees, hysteria and exaggerated fear of Communism', and all the other tiresome and all-too-familiar stereotypes and worn-out cliches of the anti-anti-Communists, diversionaries, and confusionists."

Programs for particular mention. Written by twenty-six-year-old Alan Westin, one of the examples used by the author to show that loyalty to country is one of the oldest and most complex problems involved in the governing of man is: "Christ was disloyal to Rome, while Judas, betraying his Master, was loyal to the state." Report points out that, ignoring the no small question of religion, the awkward matter of historical perspective, and complete political non-similarity, "we are presumably to deduce that American Communists by being disloyal to the state are analogous to Jesus Christ. Those Americans who are loyal to their government by infiltrating the Communist conspiracy and 'betraying' its secrets to their own government are 'amalgamated' in the very best Communist style with Judas."

George E. Sokolsky devoted an entire column to the Westin pamphlet. He also pointed out the fallacy in the use of the example set out in the preceding paragraph:

"Christ owed no loyalty to Rome. His loyalty was to God. But apart from that, Rome had conquered Palestine and defiled its Temple to God. The Jews, among whom Christ appeared as a teacher and whose followers regarded Him as a Messiah, were seeking freedom from a profane conqueror. Judas was loyal to no country; he was disloyal to One whom he regarded as his teacher."

In a similar manner, Sokolsky exposes the faulty use of other examples by Westin. He also points out that although Westin speaks of Benedict Arnold, William Joyce, Vidkun Quisling, and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, he says nothing of Alger Hiss, William Remington, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, or of Dr. Klaus Fuchs or Alan Nunn May. He noted that in his pamphlet Westin came up with this conclusion:

"The need to measure fidelity has also provided a fertile field for reckless and irresponsible politicians, who have been supported by groups to whom 'constitutional rights' is a dirty term and unorthodox thinking a sin. Demagogues of this ilk did not invent Communists or the Soviet Union, however, and it seems clear that the proper way to deal with them is not to abandon the quest for fidelity in public employment but to approach the task with sanity and justice, ignoring neither the dangers of Communist activity nor the menace of the radical 'security-firsters'."

From this says Sokolsky, it is possible to say that sin is evil but that objectionable persons are not to be trusted if they point out the sinners.

> New York Journal American, July 5, 1955

Alan Westin joined the Communist Party under an assumed name while attending Harvard University in 1948 and remained a member until April, 1949. He was active in the Harvard Chapter of the National Lawyers' Guild* and was elected president of the Student Section of the National Lawyers' Guild at the national convention of the Guild *See Appendix for citation.

in the Spring of 1949.

A news article concerning an American Legion report on the Freedom Agenda stated that the report expressed the opinion that the six Freedom Agenda pamphlets were designed "to further the delusion that the danger of Communism is non-existent." In connection with the pamphlet Freedom of Speech and Press by Zechariah Chafee, Jr., it was pointed out that Chafee: "Signed the Rosenberg clemency petitions in 1953; submitted the amicus curiae brief to the U.S. Supreme Court in behalf of John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo of the infamous 'Hollywood Ten'; sponsored appeals of the Citizens Committee to Free Earl Browder*; signed petition opposing renewal of the Dies Committee; issued a statement defending the Communist Party in 1941 and protested the tabbing of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade* as a Red-front in 1940."

New York Journal-American, August 23, 1955

In December, 1954, the Fund made a grant of $5,000 to the Young Men's Christian Association for cooperation with the Freedom Agenda program, which was followed in February, 1955, by a grant of $8,000 to the Young Women's Christian Association for the same purpose. In January, 1955, a grant of $4,000 had gone to the Universalist Church of America for an educational program to be conducted jointly by the Universalist *See Appendix for citation.

Service Committee and the Council of Liberal Churches in cooperation with the Freedom Agenda program. In May, 1955, a grant of $20,000 was made to the Council for Social Action of the Congregational Christian Churches to promote discussion of civil liberties issues among the members of its affiliated churches.

Report of The Fund for the Republic; May 31, 1955, pp. 20, 26, 27

In the meantime, in February, 1955, a grant of $50,000 had been made to the American Heritage Council, Chicago, Illinois, "for a two-year program dealing with the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, in cooperation with the Illinois Department of the American Legion." Robert M. Hutchins, Fund president, stated in the annual report of the Fund dated May 31, 1955, that Irving Breakstone, commander of the Illinois Department of The American Legion, called this educational effort a "positive approach to communism." Fulton Lewis, Jr., reported on his radio broadcast of September 2, 1955, that he had contacted the executive secretary of the American Heritage Council in Chicago, who had informed Lewis that there must be a typographical error, in that the wording always used by him and Breakstone was that the program was a "positive approach to Americanism."

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 21,24

The executive committee of the Illinois Department of The American Legion, at a meeting in Bloomington, Illinois, on October 1, 1955, went on record as "repudiating and disowning any support of the...
American Heritage Council, the Ford Foundation or The Fund for the Republic, or any of its programs."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, October 5, 1955

Study of Communist Influence in American Life

In November, 1953, the Fund appropriated $300,000 for an account of Communist influence in major segments of U. S. society.

According to Dr. Hutchins, many public actions have been taken and many political reputations have been built on assumptions about what the Communists in the United States have been able to accomplish and what they are doing at the present time, and it therefore seemed useful to make some effort to discover whether or not these assumptions are well founded. He said that the appropriation was made to carry out a definitive study of what the Communist Party has amounted to and what it amounts to now; what the successes and failures of Communists have been in various important segments of American life.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 13, 28

A study project committee was set up with Clinton Rossiter of Cornell University as director. Information concerning Rossiter has been set forth previously in connection with his membership on the committee studying the Communist record. The subject matter has been divided into twelve topics, under the over-all supervision of Rossiter and his assistant, William M. Goldsmith.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. .37

The Cornell Daily Sun, Ithaca, New York, on February 17, 1955, reported an interview with Professor Clinton L. Rossiter in which he stated it would be best not to employ, as writers, former members of the Communist Party who had been intimately connected with the particular fields and who had subsequently deserted the Party. He added, however, that ex-Communists would be extremely useful as sources of material, but felt that it would be unwise to use them as the sole sources and main figures in the project.

The Washington Daily News of October 19, 1955, reported that Earl Browder, former head of the Communist Party who is still under a 1953 Federal indictment for perjury, was working as a paid "informant" on The Fund for the Republic project on the history of Communism.

The article also set forth that the Fund had issued a statement on behalf of Professor Rossiter which stated in part: "Mr. Browder is not an employee, a consultant, a staff member, a researcher or any other kind of employee or associate of the project or Fund." Rossiter, however, conceded that Browder was working for the project and was being paid "fairly well."

On October 6, 1955, Earl Browder testified before Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security (Eastland Committee) in Executive Session, which is conducting hearings relative to the "strategy and tactics of world Communism." Browder is reported to have been employed by Daniel Bell and Theodore Draper, who are preparing a history of the Communist movement in the United States for The Fund for the Republic, Serving as a source of information for the development of the facts relative to this subject matter and at a salary of $3,600 per year. It is reported that this salary is paid by the Fund through Bell.

Theodore Draper

One topic, History of the Communist Party in the United States (1919-1945), is to be developed by Theodore Draper.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 37

Draper started participating in Socialist activities as a youth but became interested in and sympathetic with Communism during his first year at City College of New York: He worked as assistant foreign editor of the Daily Worker, the east coast Communist newspaper, from 1934 to 1936, and as foreign editor of New Masses* from 1936 to 1939. After leaving New Masses he worked for a short time for TASS, the Russian news agency.

Daniel Bell

Daniel Bell, labor editor of Fortune and lecturer in sociology at Columbia University, was selected to develop the topic Communism in the Labor Movement. From 1941 to 1944, Bell was managing editor of The New Leader, which in 1941 described itself as the organ of the Social Democratic Federation in the United States. During the autumn quarter of 1947. Bell was faculty advisor of the Marxist Club at the University of Chicago, the stated purpose of which was to discuss, contrast and correlate Marxist methods in social science with other philosophies. Bell has long been a student of American Communism and Socialism. In his speeches and writings he has criticized the Communist Party and Communist front groups. He wrote an essay The Development and Background of Marxian Socialism in the United States, which was included in a compendium Socialism and American Life, published in 1952 by the Princeton University Press. This compendium was edited by Donald Egbert, *See Appendix for citation.

who is developing the topic Communism and the Arts for the Fund.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 37

In 1943 and in 1944 Bell spoke at mass meetings in New York City which were called to protest the jailing in Minneapolis of eighteen members of the Socialist Workers Party* under the provisions of the Smith Act.

Earl Latham, Amherst College, was selected to develop the topic Communism in Government. In December, 1941, the name E. G. Latham appeared as one of the signers of a letter from the American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom* to the Governor of Oklahoma protesting the prosecution of Communists in Oklahoma for criminal syndicalism.

The other topics to be included in this study of Communist influence in American life, and the persons who will develop them are:

Communism and Anti-Communism (1945-1956)

David Shannon, Teachers College, Columbia University

Communism and Religion Ralph L. Roy, Union Theological Seminary, New York, N. Y.

Communism and Education Robert Iversen, Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa

Communism and the Mass Media Moshe Decter, New York, New York

Communism and the Social Structure Nathan Glazer, New York, New York

Communism and Science
Donald Fleming, Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island

Communism and Opinion-Making Groups
John Roche, Haverford College, Haverford, Pennsylvania

In February, 1955, Clinton Rossiter stated that this series of books could be best completed by individuals who, for the most part, "stayed out of the arguments over Communism and McCarthyism." However, in 1954, Moshe Decter collaborated on a book entitled "McCarthy and the Communists," which criticized Senator McCarthy's investigating methods and the results thereof.

Association of the Bar of the City of New York Fund, Inc.

In November 1954, The Fund for the Republic made a grant of $100,000 to the Association of the Bar of the City of New York for the appointment of a special committee to make an appraisal of the loyalty-security program of the Federal Government.

The Fund claimed that it had been alleged that "the rights of individuals have been sacrificed to the demands of national security, that these demands are fantastically excessive, and that national security has not in fact been promoted by the measures adopted in its name."

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 14, 24

As previously indicated, the material incorporated in Adam Yarmolinsky's book, Case Studies in Personnel Security, which is misleading and relatively worthless as a criterion for judgment, will be used by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York in connection with this study.

The special committee appointed by the Association includes lawyers outside of New York:

Dudley B. Bonsal, Curtis, Mallet-Prevost, Colt and Mosle, New York, New York

Bonsal was named chairman.

Elliott E. Cheatham, Professor of Law, Columbia University Cheatham was named staff director. For approximately three months in 1934, Elliott Cheatham employed, as a research assistant, an individual who later served with the Loyalist Army during the Spanish Civil War. The files of another Government agency reflect that in a letter to the Secretary of War dated March 31, 1943, Cheatham characterized this individual as an "unusually able and competent young lawyer with leftist sympathies." He further stated: "I may add that I trust his left wing sympathies will not be deemed to disqualify him for a position of responsibility during the war. It would be unfortunate, so I believe, to the position of the Army in our national life and to immediate national unity, if the radicals and left wingers believed that they could not have an equal opportunity in our armed forces."

The remaining members of the special committee are:
Whitney North Seymour, Simpson, Thacher, and Bartlett, New York,
New York

According to the Articles of Incorporation of the American Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union, * Whitney Seymour was a temporary director in 1936.

In both 1937 and 1938 Whitney North Seymour was retained as an attorney by the International Labor Defense* to present a case before the United States Supreme Court.

Seymour was the guest speaker before the New York chapter of the National Lawyers' Guild* in 1937.

1944 Report, Special Committee on Un-American Activities, Appendix-Part IX, p. 1270

During 1937 and 1938, Seymour was on the board of directors of the American Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union. *

Monte M. Lemann, Monroe and Lemann, New Orleans, Louisiana

Monte M. Lemann was a sponsor of conferences of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare* in 1940 and 1942. He was also a sponsor of the New Orleans Council of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship* from 1943 to 1947. In 1951, Lemann admitted that he had been affiliated with these organizations but immediately withdrew when he learned that they had been cited as subversive.

Blacklisting in Private Industry

Turning its attention to another aspect of the loyalty-security program, the Fund took cognizance of the fact that the policy against retaining persons in the Government service who are regarded as disloyal or as security risks has been extended to those private corporations which have Government contracts. It further noted that some industries in which there are no Government contracts have taken it upon themselves to institute comparable procedures. Choosing the field in which it said the practice has had the longest vogue, the entertainment industry, the Fund in September, 1954, authorized a project for a study of blacklisting in the motion picture, radio and television industries, appropriating $100,000 for this purpose.

John Cogley

John Cogley, formerly executive editor of Commonweal, a lay Catholic magazine, was named director of this project. In developing the project, Cogley circulated a letter which stated, in part:

- (1) Does your organization hold that certain political criteria should be met by artists whom you engage, i.e., would you disapprove of hiring an artist
  - (a) named as a Communist by a Government agency?
  - (b) who was an "unfriendly witness" before a governmental investigating body?
  - (c) who stood on the Fifth Amendment before such a body?
  - (d) who has been listed in such private organs as Counterattack, Red Channels, Firing Line?
  - (e) who in the public mind, or at least before a goodly section of the public, is deemed "controversial"?

Here, again, the stress is on "political," when actually subversion and Communism are not political but a criminal movement to destroy by force and violence the Government of the United States.

Michael Harrington

Michael Harrington, Cogley's principal assistant on the project, has participated in Socialist activities since at least 1953.

Reliable information has connected Harrington with the activities of the Socialist Youth League*, the Independent Socialist League*, the Young People's Socialist League and the Young Socialist League.

In 1954 he worked for the Workers Defense League in New York City.

Paul Jacobs

In January, 1955, it was announced that Paul Jacobs, a CIO and AFL union consultant and member of the board of directors of the American Civil Liberties Union, was to be the representative on the West Coast for the survey on blacklisting in the entertainment industry.

Hollywood Reporter, January 6, 1955

Jacobs has stated that he was active in the Young

Communist League* for about a year in 1933-1934, until he was expelled for engaging in Trotskyite activities. He has said that he was a Trotskyite for about a year following his expulsion from the Young Communist League, and acquaintances have described him as a former member of the Socialist Workers Party*. One acquaintance recalled that while at the University of Rochester, Rochester, New York, in 1937 she met a Trotskyite organizer, Paul Jacobs, who tried to recruit her for the Socialist Workers Party.

*See Appendix for citation.

In a speech at Los Angeles, California, on March 14, 1953, Jacobs is reported to have (1) criticized FBI investigations; (2) complained that Gus Hall, Communist Party leader convicted in New York City in 1949 for violation of the Smith Act and a fugitive in Mexico, was not afforded his constitutional rights when he was apprehended in Mexico and returned to the United States; (3) advised those filling out Civil Service forms and loyalty oaths to admit past affiliation with cited organizations and if any trouble resulted to contact the American Civil Liberties Union immediately; (4) criticized investigations by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, warning that a citizen's refusal to answer questions concerning his past or present affiliation with the Communist Party always resulted in the loss of his job or reflected adversely upon securing future employment; and (5) stated that he could see no future for students unless they planned a wellorganized demonstration of their feelings toward academic freedom and students' rights.

Representation by Counsel

American Friends Service Committee

According to the annual report of the Fund, among those who suffer from unusual legal difficulties are those who conscientiously differ with prevalent practices and policies. The conscientious objector to military service does not fare well in this country; nor does the person who conscientiously objects to taking an oath or to telling about the unpopular activities of his acquaintances. Therefore, in order to assist conscientious nonconformists and to help to establish their rights, the sum of $150,000 was authorized in May, 1955, for a two-year program by the American Friends Service Committee to obtain legal representation in cases of conscience, to litigate dubious points in the law, and to provide economic assistance to defendants in certain instances.

Report of The Fund for the Republic May 31, 1955, pp. 17, 24

In a statement issued in Philadelphia on November 15, 1953, the executive secretary of the American Friends Service Committee expressed concern over the rongressional investigation of Communism in the Philadelphia public school system, stating that his organization had been disturbed for some time by trends toward restricting the freedom of the individual. He said, in part: "Fear is too often our response to uncertainty. Loyalty oaths, legislative abuses of investigatory power, assumption of guilt until innocence is proved, implications of guilt through association, and denials of the free platform are some of the products of this fear."

The New York Times November 16, 1953

Morker, the east coast Communist newspaper, the Chicago regional office of the American Friends Service Committee and the Illinois Division of the American Civil Liberties Union had undertaken to challenge the loyalty oath required of all state employees in Illinois. The article noted that the American Friends Service Committee was appealing to all state employees to resist the oath because, among other reasons, "it threatens the rights of all, including Communists." It was pointed out that the American Friends Service Committee would give financial assistance to those losing jobs because of refusal to sign the oath, part of the funds for this purpose coming from a grant from The Fund for the Republic.

This same article noted that Leon Katzen, acting secretary of the Civil Rights Congress* of Illinois, had hailed this challenge to the loyalty oath requirement "as another landmark in the growing movement to defend constitutional liberties."

*See Appendix for gitation.

In September, 1955, it was reported that twenty-five pacifists had been arrested on charges of violating the New York State Defense Emergency Act in refusing to take shelter during an air raid drill on June 15, 1955. The pacifists called the state law an infringement of civil liberties. It was noted that counsel had been assigned to aid in their defense by the American Friends Service Committee, the funds for this purpose coming out of the $150,000 grant to the Committee from The Fund for the Republic.

New York Daily News, September 27, 1955

Cooperation with Bar Associations

The annual report of the Fund notes that the Fund is framing a general program of cooperation with bar associations in assisting defendants to obtain counsel, particularly in cases in which civil liberties are involved. In September, 1953, a grant of $40,000 was made to the Voluntary Defenders Committee, Inc., of Massachusetts "to provide counsel to indigent defendants in criminal courts." In February, 1955, a grant of $5,000 was made to the Association of the Bar of the City of New York Fund, Inc., for the aid of "unpopular" defendants.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, 17, 24

Special Awards

For the stated purpose of dramatizing the progress made in upholding civil liberties, the Fund gives prizes to persons, organizations and communities that have distinguished themselves by the stand they have taken. In March, 1955, an award of $5,000 was given to the University Young Women's Christian Association of Westwood, California, "for the maintenance of an open platform in the vicinity of the University of California at Los Angeles." A $10,000 award was made in March, 1955, to the Civic Area Committee of the Waverly, Iowa, Chamber of Commerce for constructive action in racial relations, because of the efforts of the community on behalf of a Negro Air Force captain and his family.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 21, 22, 25, 27

In May, 1955, the Fund appropriated $100,000 to be used for special awards for distinguished service to civil liberties.

One such award is described in the following paragraphs.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 300

William Jeanes Memorial Library Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania

Mary G. Knowles is employed as a librarian at the William Jeanes Memorial Library, Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania, which is operated by the Society of Friends. On June 22, 1955, the library received a $5,000 award from The Fund for the Republic for its "courageous and effective defense of democratic principles" for hiring Knowles and refusing to discharge her despite the fact she invoked the Fifth Amendment-before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in 1953, and was described by Herbert Philbrick, former FBI informant who testified before the Subcommittee, as having been a Communist Party member.

The New York Times,
June 23, 1955
The Washington Post and Times Herald,
September 16, 1955

This award has been criticized editorially as a "startling example of the sentimental approach to the security problem" and as an imposition upon taxpayers to be called upon, through the device of tax-exempt money controlled by the Fund, to subsidize an award to a library for hiring a woman who refused to testify before a Senate Committee.

Saturday Evening Post, July 30, 1955 The (Washington) Evening Star, September 16, 1955 Sources who have furnished reliable information in the past have advised that Mary G. Knowles registered as a Communist Party* member in Boston, Massachusetts, in 1943; was a Communist Party member from 1944 to 1945; was secretary of the school branch of the Communist Party in 1947 and attended Communist Party meetings in 1948. She was an instructor at the Samuel Adams School*, Boston, in 1944, and was secretary of the school from 1947 to 1948. She was reported as a member of the International Workers Order* in 1949.

Knowles testified before a public session of the Senate

Internal Security Subcommittee on September 15, 1955, at Washington, D. C. She refused to tell the Subcommittee whether she had ever been a Communist, basing her refusal on the ground the Subcommittee had no jurisdiction to question her concerning such matters as she was in possession of no pertinent information concerning subversion.

Knowles, however, stated she was not then a Communist and had not been a Communist Party member for at least six years.

The Washington Post and Times Herald, September 16, 1955

A source in a position to furnish reliable information in this matter advised that township supervisors at Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania, held a meeting on September 21, 1955, and voted not to accept the award to the library from The Fund for the Republic. The money was placed in escrow.

Fellowships and Grants-in-Aid

The Fund for the Republic has established a program of fellowships and grants-in-aid "in order to turn the attention of scholars to problems of special concern to the Fund and to aid those already working in the field."

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 21, 40

Eleanor Bontecou, Washington, D. C.

Eleanor Bontecou received an award to complete a book about the Federal loyalty-security program. In her book, The Federal Loyalty-Security Program which was published in 1953, Bontecou criticized the operation of the loyalty-security program.

David Fellman, University of Wisconsin

David Fellman received a grant or fellowship for a nontechnical book on American civil liberties. The May 27, 1948, edition of the Daily Cardinal, a University of Wisconsin student newspaper, stated that Fellman was one of fifty-nine professors who had signed a petition in a drive to defeat the Mundt anti-Communist bill.

Lewis P. Fickett, Jr., Graduate School of Public Administration, Harvard University

Lewis P. Fickett, Jr., received assistance in the preparation of a study of the government security program.

Walter Gellhorn, School of Law, Columbia University

Walter Gellhorn received an award for research assistance in preparing the 1956 Edward Douglass White lectures. Information regarding Gellhorn has been previously set forth in connection with his work in the production of the Cornell Series in Civil Liberties.

J. A. C. Grant, University of California

J.A.C. Grant received a grant to complete a study on "dual sovereignty" and the rights of persons accused of a crime. The April 25, 1945, issue of Variety, a theatrical publication, contained an article which stated that the Hollywood Writers Mobilization* was publishing plans for a conference to be held the following month. The name of Dr. J.A.C. Grant was listed among the University of California faculty members added to the organization's steering committee for the event.

*See Appendix for citation.

Morton Grodzins, University of Chicago

Morton Grodzins received a grant to assist in his study of the extreme right in America.

Harold Hyman, Earlham College

Harold Hyman received a grant for a book on oaths and other efforts in American history to assure or measure loyalty.

Milton R. Konvitz, Cornell University

Milton R. Konvitz received a grant to complete a book First Amendment Freedoms.

Professor Milton R. Konvitz of Cornell University reportedly told an American Jewish Congress forum on civil liberties that "Congressional inquisitions have induced fear and bitterment, if not hysteria and panic among teachers."

Pamphlet: Rights, Vol. I, March, 1954. Published by Emergency Civil Liberties Committee

Speaking before the annual plenary session of the National Community Relations Advisory Council in Atlantic City, New Jersey, on June 18, 1955, Konvitz attacked congressional investigating procedures and championed "nonconformism."

The New York Times, June 19, 1955

Konvitz allegedly was a member of the Legislative Council of the New York chapter of the National Lawyers' Guild* in 1941-1942.

Edwin Sanders, executive secretary of the American Friends Service Committee in Pasadena, California

Edwin Sanders received a grant to make a study of interference with religious freedom in California.

Edward Shils, University of Chicago

Edward Shils received a grant to complete a book on the loyalty-security program. Information regarding Shils has been previously set forth in connection with the distribution by the Fund of the special issue of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

James M. Smith, Ohio State University

James M. Smith, received a grant to complete a book, Freedom's

Defense: The Kentucky and Virginia Resolutions.

Malcolm Smith, University of California Cornelius Cotter, Stanford University

Malcolm Smith and Cornelius Cotter received a grant for a study of emergency powers vested in the President and their potential effect on civil liberties.

*See Appendix for citation.

Stanford University School of Law

Claiming that the accepted view of Communist activity in the United States rests in a large part on evidence given by a small number of witnesses, The Fund for the Republic, in May, 1955, made a grant of $25,000 to the Stanford University School of Law to "assemble the statements of the most important of these witnesses and to make an objective analysis and critical summary of them."

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 13, 14, 27

The Fund announced that the study would be conducted under the direction of Herbert Packer of the New York and Supreme Court Bars, who would work in Washington, D. C., until January 1, 1956, when he would join the Stanford faculty.

The following appeared in a recent issue of Human Events:

"The Fund itself will have effective control of the Stanford project, since it is to be directed by Herbert Packer, a Fund payrollee who worked for several months earlier this year on the highly-questionable Yarmolinsky report on individual loyalty security case histories, another Fund project."

Human Events, September 24, 1955

According to the same issue of Human Events, the arrangement was concluded with Carl B. Spaeth, Dean of the Stanford Law School, who is described as being "widely known as an ultra-liberal." In his radio broadcast of September 6, 1955, Fulton Lewis, Jr., stated that Spaeth had made the arrangement without the consent of the board of directors of Stanford University. In his broadcast of August 22, 1955, Lewis stated that the study had been offered to various universities over the East, particularly Catholic ones, all of whom turned it down on the grounds that it obviously was nothing more than an attempt to discredit those witnesses and help the Communist cause.

In his radio broadcast of August 30, 1955, Fulton Lewis, Jr., stated that at the beginning of World War II, Spaeth moved to Washington, D. C. where he went to work for the Department of State and became a "great friend of the Alger Hiss, Lawrence Duggan, Sumner Welles clique."

Alger Hiss testified before the House Committee on Un-American Activities on August 16, 1948. In reply to a question as to whether or not he knew an individual named Carl between 1934 and 1937, Hiss stated, "I think I know two or three people named Carl, one of whom I certainly knew, I would think, as far back as 1937--Carl Spaith."

Hearings (1948) before the Subcommittee on Legislation of the Committee on Un-American Activities, House of Representatives, 80th Congress, 2nd Session, Volume I

In January, 1949, Spaeth stated that during 1947 he came to know Alger Hiss intimately and he had many long discussions with him, but stated that he had no knowledge of Communist activity on the part of Hiss.

Spaeth attended the 11th Conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations* held at Lucknow, India, October 3-14, 1950, as a member of the United States delegation.

The Stanford University School of Law received an additional $5,000 grant from the Fund in May, 1955, to finance a summer study on a civil liberties topic by members of the Stanford Law Review.

Television

In presenting its program of popular education, the Fund has not neglected the medium of television. Two competitions in the field of television have been announced. In December, 1954, $75,000 was appropriated for awards for outstanding original drama and documentary scripts on civil liberties themes. In May, 1955, $65,000 was authorized for awards to outstanding dramatic and documentary television shows already on the air.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 22, 29

The Daily Worker issue of September 16, 1955, reflected the following awards by the Fund for original television scripts:

"Drama Class

"First prize--$5,000. The Conspirators by Lillian Schoen Andrews. The story of Elijah Lovejoy, the abolitionist editor of Alton, Ill., who was murdered for insisting on an editor's right to conduct his newspaper-as he sets-fit.

"Second prize--$2,500. We Can't Be the First, by Jo Sinclair. A Jewish family living in a two-family house in a small Ohio city grapples with the problem of whether to rent half of the house to Negroes who badly need a home.

"Other prizes--$750 each:

"The Invisible Accuser by Robert Spencer Carr. The fight of a woman surgeon to clear herself of charges brought against her as the result of a loyalty check."

"Typhoon by Leo Goldman. Resentment against Negroes by white personnel of a hospital ship, following their integration in the same naval unit.

"The General's Other Son by Andrew McCullough. A three-star general's struggle to accept the fact that his son is a conscientious objector.

"The Burden of the Day by John W. McGreevey. A prominent lawyer takes on the defense of a former Communist, knowing his act will end his political hopes.

"The Claw in the Cat's Paw by Jean F. Merrill. The smear of a teacher as a Communist by economy-minded citizens to forestall spending for school improvements.

"Over the Fourth by William O'Toole. The production of a Fourth of July pageant gets unexpected help from the ghosts of Hamilton, Pinckney, Henry and Washington. "The Pencil Box War by Rose Leiman Schiller. An old storekeeper decides to attend high school but is opposed by townspeople and parents of students.

"Outpost by J. G. Severns. A Negro soldier in the Korean war, constantly baited by a white sergeant, proves himself to be the better man under fire.

"Boden's Grave by Marian C. Skedgell. A son goes home to bury his father and discovers he had never before understood his father's position as a reformer.

"The Inner Curtain by Victor Ullman. A practical joke involving communism at a large industrial plant ultimately forces the perpetrator of the joke to design.

"Documentary Class"

"First Prize--$5,000. Pepito by Burton and James Benjamin. A factual account of the experiences of a 15-year-old Puerto Rican boy during his first few days in N. Y. C.

"Six additional prizes of $1,500 each:

"The Yankee Rebels by Lew Andrews. Three hundred years of American history, seen through the eyes of a contemporary milkman in Concord, Mass.

"The Music He Heard by J. F. Breg. A factual account of the life of Albert Einstein and his fight for the 'freedom for all men to be true to themselves.'

"A Minority of One by Mrs. Kristin E. Hunter. Desegregation in Camden, N. J., through the true situation of the only white student in a class of Negroes.

"Shield of the Republic by Clayre and Michel Lipman. An account of the first case in which the Supreme Court established its right to review legislation. "Natural Boundaries by Muriel O'Donnell. Integration of Negroes and Puerto Ricans in an Italian neighborhood through the Police Athletic League.

"The America of Walt Whitman by Hugh Gorman Whittington.
Dramatization of excerpts bearing on civil liberties from Whitman's Leaves of Grass."

In September, 1954, $200,000 was authorized for production of pilot films and for participation in television programs of interest to the Fund. In this connection, it is stated in the annual report that the Fund has employed television in a small experiment on the Pacific Coast, where short motion pictures "of events in the current history of freedom" are supplied to television newscasters, and is planning to extend this venture to other parts of the country.

Herbert L. Block

In May, 1955, $200,000 was authorized for a fifteen-minute weekly television series featuring Herblock (Herbert L. Block), cartoonist of The Washington Post and Times Herald.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 22, 29

In the past, Block has drawn satirical cartoons concerning security-type investigations of Government employees.

The Washington Post, December 30, 1947; September 6, 1951

A source which has furnished reliable information in the past reported that Block, in an address before a civil liberties group on

April 5, 1954, called the Communist-in-Government issue "complete and utter nonsense."

According to another reliable source, a provision in the original contract between Block and The Fund for the Republic that the cartoons and other work of Block were not to be used for political purposes was crossed out by Dr. Hutchins prior to the signing of the contract.

On October 14, 1955, the board of directors of the Fund issued a statement that the proposed television series featuring Block had been canceled when it became apparent that it would not be practical to limit Block's field of discussion to the boundaries set out by the charter of the Fund.

Commission on Race and Housing

In November, 1954, The Fund for the Republic authorized a grant of $100,000 to establish a Commission on Race and Housing to look into the question of whether or not "minorities, particularly Negroes, encounter serious obstacles in finding places to live or in building new homes."

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 19, 29

Among the members of this commission are the following persons:

Gordon W. Allport, professor of psychology, Harvard University

Allport has participated, either as a sponsor or the signer of a letter, in the activities of the Coordinating Committee to Lift the (Spanish)

Allport has advised another Government agency that he was a member of the Socialist Party until 1941.

Laird Bell, attorney, Chicago, Illinois

An article in the April 26, 1951, issue of the Chicago Daily News announced that Bell was one of twelve prominent men who opposed the passage of the Broyles Bills in the Illinois Legislature. The Broyles Bills were proposed anti-Communist legislation.

*See Appendix for citation.

In his radio broadcast of September 6, 1955, Fulton Lewis, Jr., stated that Bell defended Alger Hiss and had been a violent opponent of congressional committees investigating Communist and other subversive activities as far back as the Dies Committee.

Bell was a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR)* in the late 1930's and early 1940's. He contributed $25 to the IPR in 1937, 1939, and 1942.

Study of Fear in Education

In September, 1954, the Fund authorized a study of attitudes of college and high school teachers. According to Dr. Hutchins, it is widely believed that teachers in schools, colleges and universities have been intimidated by pressure groups and by the atmosphere resulting from the cold war. $150,000 has been appropriated for this study to determine if this is true.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 16, 29

The director of the study project committee for this investigation is Paul F. Lazarsfeld, professor of sociology at Columbia University, who has been mentioned previously in connection with Samuel A. Stouffer's book, Communism, Conformity, and Civil Liberties. The codirector is Louis Harris, a partner in Elmer Roper & Associates, New York, New York.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 38

A four-member advisory committee for this study is composed of:

Helen M. Lynd, professor of social philosophy, Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, New York

Helen Lynd was identified in the August 13, 1950, issue of the newsletter Counterattack as one of six professors who wanted to testify on behalf of eight teachers who were suspended by the New York City Board of Education for conduct unbecoming their profession when they refused to state whether or not they were members of the Communist Party.

Lynd's name has appeared, either as a signer of petitions or as a sponsor, in connection with the activities of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born*<sup>1</sup>. Samuel A. Stouffer has been mentioned previously.

Frank Stanton, president, Columbia Broadcasting System, New York, New York

Other Activities

Freedom of Expression

Because, in its opinion, the authority of the Post Office Department to interfere with freedom of expression is very great, and the Department has lately shown a disposition to exercise this authority, the Fund believes that an objective analysis of the powers and conduct of the Post Office Department with reference to freedom of expression is called for. In May, 1955, $35,000 was authorized for a study of Post Office interference with the flow of information and opinion.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 17, 30

On September 26, 1955, it was announced that the Fund had granted $30,000 to the Institute of Legal Research of the University of Pennsylvania Law School to study how the government intercepts non-mailable matter. According to the announcement, the study will concern government action against obscene publications, foreign political propaganda and other such material.

Daily News (New York), September 27, 1955

Columbia University received a grant of $3,000 in April, 1954, for a pilot study by the Bureau of Applied Social Research of current situations involving pressures on local educational institutions. An additional grant of $15,300 was authorized in June, 1954, for preparation by the Bureau of Applied Social Research of a program for a study of extremist groups. In this connection, it is to be noted that in June, 1954, the Fund appropriated $106,700 under a project for research and planning of a study of extremist groups.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 25, 28

The Fund, claiming that one of the difficulties of teachers in colleges and universities is the widespread ignorance of the laws and practices affecting their rights, made a grant of $10,000 to the Academic Freedom Project of Columbia University in April, 1955. This grant is to be used to make a pilot study of the acquisition and termination of tenure in the higher institutions of California, Illinois and Pennsylvania. Clark Byse, professor of law at the University of Pennsylvania, and Louis Joughin, assistant director of the American Civil Liberties Union, were named codirectors of the project.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 16, 25

According to the annual report, the Fund has cooperated with various national organizations in reporting and analyzing attacks on freedom of expression. It has supported the American Library Association's Newsletter on Intellectual Freedom with a grant of $6,000 authorized in November, 1954, and in February, 1955, authorized $9,000 to be used by the National Book Committee for a preliminary exploration of the theory of the right to publish and to read.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 16, 24, 26

The Fund is assisting an effort under the leadership of J. Russell Wiggins, executive editor of The Washington Post and Times Herald, whereby representatives of all the media of communication that use the printed word may make a concerted attack on the problem of censorship. The project, Commission on Censorship and Related Matters, was authorized in May, 1955, with an appropriation of $5,000 for a discussion of a commission concerned with all aspects of censorship of the printed word.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 16, 17, 30

On October 9, 1955, a $5,000 grant to determine the feasibility of a study of the American Press' performance during the 1956 presidential campaign was announced by the Fund. The grant was made to the Association for Education in Journalism and the project will be undertaken by an affiliated group, the Council on Communications Research. The announcement of the grant stated that the Fund, had stipulated, in making the grant, that it is not committed to support such a study but is interested in examining the council's ultimate report.

The Washington Post and Times Herald, October 10, 1955

Immigrants and Aliens

According to the annual report of the Fund, the difficulties that beset immigrants and aliens in the United States appear to have been growing more numerous and more serious "since the War." The legal assistance that is required is specialized and hard to find. In June, 1954, the Fund made a grant of $15,000 to the Common Council for American Unity for the purpose of "enabling it to go to the rescue of aliens and immigrants caught in the machinery of the law." In May, 1955, the Fund made a second grant of $32,500 to permit the Common Council for American Unity to assemble and describe 2,000 cases affecting aliens with which it has dealt.

Racial Discrimination

In April, 1954, the Fund authorized a grant of $240,000 to the MF /00-273340 Southern Regional Council to strengthen its headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, and to staff twelve state affiliates with full-time professional personnel to work in expanding community education in intergroup relations. In January, 1954, a $5,000 grant had been made to the Southern Regional Council for preparation and distribution of a summary of the book, The Negro and the Schools.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 18, 27

The Catholic Interracial Council of Chicago received a grant of $10,000 in June, 1954, and an additional grant of $8,000 in May, 1955, to expand a program for reducing interracial tensions, i.e., to help it to mitigate the acute racial tension which, according to the Fund report, has developed in Trumbull Park, Chicago.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 18, 25

In November, 1954, the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., was given a grant of $10,000 for the work of its Department of Racial and Cultural Relations in its efforts to solve problems arising in the border states out of the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States declaring segregated schools unconstitutional.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 18, 26

The American Friends Service Committee, with the aid of the Fund, is working on the economic situation of the Indians in the Southwest, of Negroes in Dallas, Texas, and Greensboro, North Carolina, and on difficulties in the schools of Washington, D. C., that have followed the decision of the Supreme Court. For this work, the American Friends Service Committee received a grant of $55,000 in June, 1953, and an additional grant of $86,500 in June, 1954. These sums are in addition to the $155,000 received in May, 1955, for other activities which are described elsewhere.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 18, 24

According to the annual report of the Fund, the Public Education Association of New York City, at the request of the Board of Education, is studying racial segregation and educational discrimination in the schools of New York City. The Fund is helping to finance this investigation by a grant of $10,000 authorized in May, 1955. It is alleged that this investigation is the only one of the sort now being conducted in a northern community and will, seek to answer such questions as: Is there a deliberate attempt to segregate children in city schools? Are Negro and Puerto Rican children given the same educational opportunities that other children in New York City receive? What can be done to promote integration? The Board of Education has appointed a commission which is to examine the results and make recommendations for action.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 19, 26

On October 6, 1955, it was announced that Vanderbilt University's law school would set up an "impartial and objective" legal reporting service in the field of race relations. This service, to be financed by a $200,000 grant from the Fund, will report on court decisions, administrative regulations and laws dealing with race relations.

New York Herald Tribune, October 7, 1955

On October 7, 1955, it was announced that the Methodist Board of Social and Economic Relations had accepted a $25,000 grant from the Fund, to be used for interracial study conferences, workshops, work camps and educational projects.

The Evening Star (Washington, D.C.), October 7, 1955

Popular Education

For the stated purpose of arousing interest in civil liberties, to explain their importance, and to describe their conditions at the present time, the Fund appropriated $20,000 in April, 1955, for work in civil liberties with labor unions. In April, 1954, it authorized $35,000 to be used by the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools for a radio series on problems confronting public schools, and in May, 1955, it authorized $5,000 to be used by the American Friends Service Committee to finance radio programs on civil liberties topics. Earlier, in September, 1953, $40,000 had been granted Columbia University in connection with its bicentennial celebration, the theme of which was "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof." This grant was used to prepare and distribute material pertaining to the Bicentennial, including a documentary film, "Freedom to Read," radio programs, and a pamphlet series.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, pp. 21, 24, 25, 26, 30

In September, 1954, an editorial award competition project was authorized for awards to publications for distinguished contributions on topics of interest to the Fund. $100,000 was appropriated for this purpose.

Report of The Fund for the Republic, May 31, 1955, p. 29

The FBI and The American Legion

David Lawrence, in his column of August 23, 1955, captioned "Investigating the Investigators," stated that judging from the annual report of The Fund for the Republic it appeared that the organization was "primarily interested in investigating the investigators—the persons and institutions who recognize that a Communist conspiracy has existed in the United States and still exists."

The Evening Star (Washington, D.C.), August 23, 1955

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his broadcast on August 22, 1955, reported that the Fund was trying to find some college to serve as a "front" in making an investigation of the FBI and The American Legion. He again mentioned this in his broadcast on August 26, 1955, reporting that he had been informed that a project was under consideration by the Fund to investigate both The American Legion and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, on the grounds that "they endanger personal rights and freedoms of individuals."

Similar allegations have appeared subsequently in the news, both in newspapers and on the radio.

Paul Harvey News, August 28, 1955; Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) Daily News, September 3, 1955, September 21, 1955; Chicago Sunday Tribune, September 4, 1955; Human Events, September 24, 1955

As a matter of fact, on August 15, 1955, it was reported confidentially that Wilbur H. Ferry, vice-president of the Fund, had commented that The Fund for the Republic was going to have an investigation made of the FBI and that he would like to have a good Catholic law school undertake such an investigation. He also mentioned that the Fund was going to have an investigation made into the activities of The American Legion.

On October 6, 1955, another source reported that he had heard from a person working on a Fund project that the Fund was going to allocate a rather large sum of money to investigate the FBI and was looking for personnel to conduct the inquiry.

On October 8, 1955, information was received that although some individuals on the staff of The Fund for the Republic were urging an investigation of the FBI, the matter of a grant of funds to conduct such an investigation had not as yet come before the board of directors.

PART IV

CURRENT ACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PLANS (September 10, 1955, to January 1, 1956).

CURRENT STUDIES AND PROJECTS

Federal Joyalty-Security Program

In November, 1954, the Fund made a grant of $100,000 to the Association of the Bar of the City of New York for the appointment of a Special Committee to make an appraisal of the loyalty-security program of the Federal Government. With regard to the project, the Fund has received the following criticisms:

Fulton Levis, Jr., in his broadcast of September 22, 1955, said that the Fund is directing its every effort in an attempt to convince the public that the whole idea of a Government security program is a bad thing and thus get rid of it, which has been its real objective all along. (100-391697-146,183)

George Sokolsky, in his broadcast of October 23, 1955, in a discussion of the security system of the United States, said that most of the Fund's tax-free money is being spent to fight anti-Communism and the security system of the United States. (62-89885-119)

On November 22, 1955, Joseph Volpe, former General Counsel of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), and now an attorney in Washington, D. C., advised the Bureau that during the time when Senator Clifford Case was President of the Fund, he (Volpe) served as an advisor to Case on projects for the Fund. During that time they had outlined an objective study of the Government's security program. After Case had resigned Robert M. Hutchins was designated as President.

According to Volpe, the proposed study of the Government's security program was then presented to Mutchins, who immediately said: "The security program is no good and I'm going to prove it and I'll spend all the money necessary to establish that fact." Volpe stated that obviously Mutchins mind had been made up prior to the time he even had contact with the security program project and his whole approach was not to be one of objectivity, but rather a definite processes ted that to discredit the Covernment's accuraty program. As a recult of Eutohinal attitude, velpe resigned from the Fund. (100-5-11-200)

The hiring of Brouder by the Fund was also criticized in an editorial appearing in the October 24, 1955, issue of the "Seattle Post Intelligencer," which stated in part: "It gives offence to any decent and honest sense of propriety for a man with Ur. Browder's record as a Communist and in his present position of still unresolved accusation to have any part in the preparation of the reference books and texts from which American children may shape their political and economic philisophies even the smallest part. Does it not justify equal offense that an organization capable of usalgaing such a role to such a man should undertake the tasks and responsibilities of publication in that field? American history should indeed include the story of Communist activity in this country, but the truth of the matter should be told by those who believe in America and the perverted version of the Communists themselves should not be substituted for the truth." (100-391697-A)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his October 31, 1955, broadcast advised that he had received a wire from Professor Hossiter which requested Lewis to call him before he mantioned Rossiter's name on his future broadcasts. Lewis said that he called Bossiter, who said that he was very unhappy, very uncomfortable and was sick and tired of being blaned for the inadequacy of the project of the bibliography. Rossiter assured Lewis that his project would be objective and would not be tainted with a leftist touch. Rossiter also said that he was fully cognizant of the fact that the fund had gone to the left. (100-391697-236)

The Study of Fear in Education

In September, 1954, the Fund authorized $150,000 for a study of attitudes and fear among college and high school teachers. (100-391697-146)

Concerning this project, Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his broadcast of October 4, 1955, said a questionnaire had been circulated among 2,500 professors and others in the field of education. The questions were designed to probe into their thinking on politics and academic freedom. Lewis stated that he requested a copy of this questionnaire from the committee in charge of this project but they flatly refused to make one available. (94-4-2189-204.)

George Sokolsky, in his column of November 19, 1955, referred to an editorial appearing in the "Beaumont Enterprise" newspaper, concerning this project which stated in part that "evidence may be presented to make the American people believe college professors, cower in their classrooms, look furtively about the campus when they leave for their homes to see if they are being followed by sinister strangers." Cokolsky then stated that nobody so scared or so sinister will be found on any campus except such scholars as have devoted themselves to sedition or subversion and wonder why no one has ever caught them. In September, 1955, it was reported that 35 Pacifists had been arrested on charges of violating the New York State Defense Emergency Act in refusing to take shelter during an air raid drill on June 15, 1955. The Pacifists called the state lap an enfringement of civil liberties. It was noted that counsel had been assigned to aid in their defense by the AFSC, the funds coming out of a previous grant from the Fund. (New York Daily News," 9-27-55;)(100-891697-A) on his October 5, 1955, broadcast said that he went to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where he interviewed heads of the AFSC and then to New York City to see what happens to the Fund's grant at the Paction level." He said that the leader of the 25 arrested Pacifists is Dorothy Day, who is the publisher of a notorious magazine called "The Catholic Norker," a very left-wing publication not connected with the Catholic Church. Lewis stated that Misd Day, as a representative of the group, called police on the day of the practice air raid and told them that she and her group were going to stage a demonstration on that date and would refuse to obey police orders to go into the shelter. According to Lowis, one Annoud Tennessy, who is the editor of Miss Day's publication, said that she and he were "philosophical anarchists" and that they were disobeying a man-made law in order to obey the law of God. The Can Francisco Division has furnished the Eureau with a Photostat of a preliminary draft of an article to appear in the "Stanford Law Coview," a publication of Stanford Law School, which article to concerned with employer practices implementing the Federal Industrial Fersonnel Security Program and was prepared under a grant from the Fund. A review of this article reflects that it is a lengthy discussion of governmental regulations in the Federal Fersonnel Security Program and the operation of that Trogram. It reaches a conclusion that the industrial security program presents an effort to strike a fair balance between the demands of security and individual rights; however, it advocates that the Government assume responsibility for confidential clearances which are now granted exclusively to industrial employees by their employers. No critical comment concerning the FBI is made. (100-501057-1071)

The article than identified these individuals and acts out in Cefail their alleged pro-Communist affiliations. The Hovember 0, 1955, issue of the above newspaper sets forth an article reflecting an interview of Eutchins, President of the Fund, in which Eutchins defends the directors of the SEC in spite of their alleged pro-Communist affiliations. Eutchina stated that the accusations against them are "inaccurate and perfidious." (190-391697-A)

Regarding Lutchins defence of the directors of the SEC, an editorial appeared in the Kovenber 9, 1955, issue of the "New York Journal-American" which stated that "Lr. # CUPRENT ACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PLANS

(January 1, 1956, to Earch 31, 1956)

CURRENT STULLER AND PROJECTS

The Study of Communist Influence in American Life X

In November, 1953, the Fund appropriated $300,000 for a study of communist influence in major segments of United States society. Professor Clinton Rossiter of Cornell University was named director of this project.

The January 7, 1956, issue of the "Ithaca Journal," Ithaca, New York, newspaper contained an article concerning Professor Rossiter and his work with the Fund. According to Rossiter he was asked by Nutchins, the Fund's president in August, 1974, to direct a survey of communist influence in the United States. The accepted, he stated on the basis that he would be given full freedom and that all major decisions would be his. Rossiter said his project sought thoughtful and documented answers to the following questions:

- I. That was the extent of communist penetration into American society, institutions and ideals?
- 2. That is the extent of real or potential communist penetration today?
- 3. That permanent effect did communism, as distinguished from efforts to root out communism, have on American life?

In connection with this study, Lossiter said,
Earl Browder, the former head of the Communist Farty in the United States, is one of scores of former communists ---both repentant and unrepentant --- to whom we will talk in the course of these studies. (others were not identified)
He added that the studies will illuminate the strengths and weaknesses of this country. One of the valuable by-products of the study, Rossiter noted, will be a "unique library of materials on American communism." He hopes to have this project complete on or before January 1, 1959. (100-391637-993)

Corninton and the social Structure X

Ey letter dated Jenuery 5, 1950, Hiss Caryl 5. Terry, employed an a secretary by the Fund at Lew York City, advited the Lureau that members of the Funds project atudying communist and Larical society have subscribed to a number of communist and propagative publications in the course of accumulating documentary materials on the subject of their research. The added as a matter of office routine, she signed a number of letters requesting such subscriptions, referring particularly to the "National Guardian" (not cited as a subversive publication) which is now being sent to her. The claims she has no sympathy with its views or to similar publications to which she subscribed. (100-201607-323)

Tuffles are negative concerning Tarry. It is noted that "Communism and the Locial Structure" is included among the topics being studied by the Fund in a group entitled "Communist Influence in American Life."

Communitor and Anti-Communica

Pauld Channon, Teachers College, Columbia University, is preparing a study of "Communism and Anticommunism (1945-55)," as part of the Funds project entitled "Communist Influence in American Life."

Inder date of Larch 16, 1950, Shannon directed a letter to the Eurecu's New York Office stabing that in connection with the above-antioned study he had subscribed to the "Naily Forker" and the "Torker," cast coast communist newspapers, as an aid to his research. He added that he may also interview Communist Party members and other questionable people. He noted that he wanted the fureau to be coare that the purpose of his activities in connection with this project are strictly scholarly, (100-319097)

The Catholic Interrectal Council of Chicago, Illinois, in its 1955 achievement report, listed andny its income an Ca,000 contribution from the funt for the Legablic. To explanation was given as to the purpose of the contribution by the Fund. (1/20/50, "Chicago Laily Lama"; 44-6007-4)

Council on Commissions Engage

In Cotober, 1985, the Fund granted $3,000 to the Council on Communications Descared, an affiliate of the Association for Education in Journalism, to conduct a study to determine without commitment the feasibility and proceeding the of a study of the performance of the American proceduring the 1888 Providential compaign. (The study was proposed to the Fund by the Lational Committee on Diving and Levy Dijectivity of Signa Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity.

on 1/27/56, the Signa Delta Chi announced that as a recult of a poll of 76 editors and publishers, they have acropped the plane for the above mentioned study. (1/27/56, "The Evening Star": 103-531637-336)

District of Columbia For Association

The 1/11/56, ique of "The Tachington Star" namepaper reported that the District of Columbic Car Association voted on 1/10/56, to set up a compressit foundation for research into legal progress, with a study of State Department passport policies as an initial project, expected to be completed in May, 1856. It was reported that the Fund tentatively had offered a $25,030 grant for the undertaking. Objection to the proposed foundation was voiced by Hies Kathyrn Casey, who declared that the "whole slant of the Fund (Fund for the Depublic) is to the left."

Fulton Lowis, Jr., commented regarding this green on his 1/9/00, breadcast, atating that the Fund had tade the effer some weeks carlier but the Loard of Directors of the District Dar Association was going to submit the effer to the entire membership of the association, being aware of the fund's past history and not wanting to take the responsibility for the decision on the matter. Lapis added that John Lord O'Drian, member of the District Car Association, and the Leard of Directors of the lund, was promoting the project. Lowis stated that this is the same g'Orian who wrote the book "Lutional Courity and the Individual Freedom, "thousands of which were distributed by the Fund. The book, Levis said, is the usual distribe of double talk against the Covernment's Loyalty-Security Program and to an attempt to persuade the reader that there is no danger from communists in the Covernment or elsewhere and that innocent citizens cringe and cover and live in fear night and day because of the anticommunist hysteria which has been imposed upon the Catton by unprincipaled politicians and avil propagandists. Lepis added that if O'Brian had anything to do with the propased etudy the results will justify the worst fears that the barristers any be entertaining at the present. (94-4-2109-205)

Ean Francisco Council for Civic Unity (SFCCV)

The 2/6/56, issue of "San Francisco Chronicle" newspaper reported that the SEUCU was sponsoring a series of 20 TV programs over station KROU-TV (owned and operated by the Chronicle) beginning 2/26/56. The series to be called "Darrier," will be financed by a $35,000 grant from the Fund and will deal with specific cases in the Edy area concerning race relations, loyalty oaths, religious bigotry, and civil liberties. The program will be narrated by Council's Executive Director Edward W. Howden with assistance from writer-producer Paul Obluda and Council Directors Brooks Clyde and Bill Losh. Howden announced that if the programs prove successful the Fund will spend additional $25,000 for nore programs. (100-391697-337)

Information re above TV programs was previously furnished the Dureau 2/1/56, by Ignatius McCarthy, engineer and electronica technician, Can Francisco, who stated he was offered employment by Obluda as technical expert for the programs. Obluda is planning films on "False Arrests" and "Illegal Searches and Ectaures," McCarthy states will accept position and will advise Dureau refurther developments. Detailed summaries of information in Dufiles concerning SFCCU and above-named individuals are contained in Eufile 100-301607-337,344,345,247.

In connection with above TV programs, Obluda contacted our San Francisco office on 2/9/55 and stated that their Larch 4; 1950 program was to deal with the civil rights aspects of search and seizure and the use of electronic listening devices by law enforcement. He desired statement from SAC re position of the Department in this matter. The Director has indicated "keep out of this entirely," and SAC Can Francisco was advised to that effect by Duairtel 2/10/56, (109-301697-304)

Television Programs

On 1/29/56, the Fund announced the "Robert E. Sherwood Awardo," for television programs dealing with American liberty and freedom, as presented on commercial television between 10/1/55, and 5/81/56. The awards are designated as follows: $80,000 for the best network drama; $20,000 for the best network drama; $20,000 for the best network documentary; and $15,000 for the best production of either type by an independent station. [The following individuals were named as jurors for the awards: Kermit Bloomgarden, theatre producer; Robert W. Purcell, wanaging director, station KIIB-IV: Robert Faft, Jr., attorney; Gardner Cowles, president, Des Koince Register and Tribune Company; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the late President; Harrison Sweed, attorney; Eucll G. Gallagher, president, College of the City of New York; Gilbert Keldes, author and critic; and Philip H. Willkie, attorney and vice president, Ruchville, Indiana, Kational Bank. Detailed summaries of information in Dufiles concerning the above-maned individuals are reflected in Eufile (100-301607-352,305,351.)

The above TV awards were commented on by Victor Riesel in his column 1/23/56, in which he was critical of the Junds nelection of Dloomsarden, who he said sponsored a cited communist front organization in 1949. Riesel added that Dloomsarden had also been tied up with several unpleacent pro-Squiet organizations (unnamed) which did much to smear the reputation of our Covernment, here and abroad. (1/23/50; "New York Kirror"; 62-82195-A)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his broadcast 3/1/56, stated that this type of arard was a method of giving left-wingers respectability and prestige, and another example of the Fund's encouragement of left-wing activities. (94-4-2189)

In an article entitled "Fund for the Republic Huffs Again," by Joseph D. Shipley in the 2/27/56, "The New Leader," Shipley complained that Kermit Bloomgarden, whose career has been warked by membership in a number of front organizations, is the only one of the vine judges who has any knowledge of the threatre. Chipley also cuestioned the salection of Bloomgarden because of his security background. (103-331637)

Venderbilt University Law School

It was announced on 10/6/56, that the Vanderbilt University Law School would set up a reporting service in the field of race relations to report on court decistons, administrative regulations, and laws dealing with race relations. This service was to be financed by a $200,000 grant from the Fund.

(1/5/56, "Kashington Evening Star"; 100-301607-A)

Potential Projects

James Monroe Jefferson, a self-employed publicist residing in Los Angeles, California, advised our Los Angeles office on 1/27/56, that he had recently applied to the fund for employent and in outlining his experiences he mentioned that he had been employed as a publicist for various growers in southern California. He also indicated having worked on various matters relating to the interment of Japanese in the U. S. during the early part of World War II and had implied that these growers had been in favor of the Japanese being interned.

Jefferson added that on 1/37/56, he had received a letter from Egilock Hoffman, Executive Assistant to the President, wherein Hoffman stated in substance that many people felt that the Japanese had been unjustly interned and that the Fund was interested in using any material which Jefferson may have compiled regarding the growers, et al, being in favor of the Japanese internent provided Jefferson could fully document this material and there was nothing in his background to embarrase the Fund.

Jefferson was of the spinion that the Fund was attempting to prove that the real basis for the Japanese interment was a regult of pressure by groups such as the growers association rather than any military danger. It added that this was contrary to any of his own thoughts on the matter and for that reason did not accept the Fund's offer. (100-391697-340,846)

The Study of Fear and Education

In September, 1954, the Fund authorized $150,000 for a study of the attitudes and fear among college and high school teachers.

The "National Review," issue of 4/18/56, carried an article entitled "From the Academy," written by Russell Kirk. In the article Kirk states that "The Fund for the Republic is spending a great deal of money in an endeavor to discover fear among teachers. Men seldom fail to discover what they seek, if they have sufficient money to spend in the pursuit; and a representative of that Fund recently remarked in my presence that the Fund knew that teachers were thoroughly terrorized, and was now proceeding to document its assumption."..."Few men know better than does Mr. Robert Hutchins, head of the Fund for the Republic, just how timorous professors and teachers are; for he has bullied and browbeaten the species for some decades with conspicuous success. Certainly some people of the University of Chicago quake at the name of Robert M. Hutchins." (100-391697)

Bibliography on the Communist Problem in the United States

By way of background, the Fund in June, 1953, appropriated $64,500 for a study of public records concerning communism, under the direction of Professor Arthur Sutherland of the Harvard Law School. As a result of the study, the Fund in January, 1955, published a book entitled "Bibliography on the Communist Problem in the United States." Subsequent to its distribution of the "Bibliography," the Fund received considerable criticism in the press from scholars and writers claiming that important anticommunist works had been omitted.

On 4/12/56 the Fund announced that it would revise its controversial "Bibliography." Hutchins, who made the announcement, stated that $25,000 had been allotted for the preparation and distribution of the revision. Professor Clinton Rossiter of Cornell University, in charge of the revision, said that he wanted it made clear that the revision was not being made because of previous criticism that the "Bibliography" had omitted important anticommunist writings, but because of criticisms made that were "intellectual in character," not further explained. (Washington Post and Times Herald, 4/14/56, 100-391697-A)

The Washington City News Service on April 13, 1956, reported that Joel Seidman, a professor at the University of Chicago, will be in charge of the revision of the "Bibliography," under the supervision of Rossiter. Seidman has not been investigated by the Bureau. He has been, however, in the League for Industrial Democracy (not cited), American Student Union (cited by HCUA), Keep America out of War Congress (not cited) and the Socialist Party, (A detailed summary is contained in Bufile 100-391697-372.] (100-391697)

Survey on Racial Integration,

According to the 4/15/56 issue of the "New York Times," a survey to compile a factual inventory of racial integration in the North is currently under way. This survey is being made by a staff of researchers headed by David Loth, formerly with the New York Times" and the "New York World." According to Loth, the aim of the project is the preparation of a list of all instances of desegregation in Northern areas during the last two years where Negroes and whites were separated. The list, he explained, will include instances resulting from court orders, official mandates, pressure of organized groups, voluntary action or mere accidents of population. He added, "We're trying to assemble the bare facts of desegregation without any comment or explanation."

Loth has not been investigated by the Bureau. A detailed summary concerning him is contained in Burile 100-391697-374.

San Francisco Council for Civic Unity (SECOU)

Cn 2/6/56 the SFCCU announced that they were sponsoring a series of 26 television programs over station KRON-TV, beginning 2/28/56 under a $35,000 grant from the Fund for the Republic. This series, to be called "Barrier," was to deal with civil liberties.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his broadcast 6/21/56, stated that the previous week's issue of "Variety" magazine contained a review of the television series entitled "Darrier," referred to above. The review in "Variety" states that "Darrier" is a series on civil liberties and that the Fund was picking up the tab. Civic organizations such as the League of Vomen Voters and the Antidefamation League are participating. Leais, referring to an unspecified program in the series, stated that it was evident that the panel of the program was made up of four or five liberal lawyers and a "couple of housewifely fill-tins." "The liberal viewpoint completely obamped the conservative," he said. This, he said, is "what the Fund for the Republic calls education in the field of civil liberties. Translated, that means propagada in the field of /####=communism." (D4-4-2183) informant to the effect that B. J. Milick, Detroit, Michigan, member of the Independent Exciulist League (cited by Attorney General), stated he was going to Cavhington, D. C., to conduct a series of interviews with important people in the socialist and communist movements. This was in connection with a book he was writing, which he describes 48 a report on the Communist Farty. Fidick stated that his book and his trip-to Mashington, D. C., were being spontared by the Fund. (100-301607-869)

The fund for the Copublic made public on 6/21/56 a report on its first three years operations. This report, which is summarized under fart VI of this memorandum, disclosed a number of grants totaling $376,141 not previously announced by them. These grants are indicated as follows:

305,334 for a news-film project that supplies motion pictures and tape recordings of events in the field of civil liberties to radio and television stations. This project was not identified but is propably the project headed by Harbert Bernard of Los Angeles, California.

$45,000 to the Absociation for Education and Journalism for a study of press treatment of civil liberates to be made after the national elections this fall.

QDG,QQQ to the Cchool of Librarianship of the University of California to investigate pressures affecting the selection and retention of books in libraries.

LEG. COSO to the Cara Legrence College in Dronzville. New York, for a two-year experimental program of student-faculty compare on civil liberties and civil rights.

Eureau files fail to reflect any partinent inforcation concerning Cara Laurence College, Nerbert Dernard and the Lahool of Librarianship of the Iniversity of California.

PART IV

GUIDENT ACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PLANS (July 1, 1956 to September 30, 1956)

CURRENT STUDIES AND PROJECTS

Our Civil Rights

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his syndicated column on 7/5/56 said that the Fund was now going to make available to radio stations and discussion groups a series of 13 quarter-hour programs entitled "Our Civil Rights," examining the status of civil rights in this country. According to Lewis these programs consist of tape recordings of testimony presented to the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights (Hennings Committee). Al Hemilton, a member of the Eadio Department of the United Auto Vorkers in Vashington, D. C., was hired by the Fund to record more than 200 hours of subcommittee hearings and to edit the recordings for a radio script.

Lewis was critical of the above-mentioned programs as he said that the Henning's Committee itself was intent to discredit anticommunism in general and the Federal Loyalty-Security Program in particular. He said its staff was infiltrated with Fund for the Republic thinkers during its hearings last fail. He added that Hamilton, the editor, would only parrot the liberal line of the United Auto Workers.

Eureau files reflect that one Al (Albert Wilkin) Hantiton in 1935 was national chairman of the Student League for Industrial Descoracy (succeeded by the American Student Union, cited by the HCUA); that he had participated in the 1935 convention of the American Youth Congress (cited by the Attorney General); was a sympathizer and supporter of the Socialist Workers Party (cited by the Attorney General) 1935 and 1936; and was expelled from the University of California at Los Angeles in July, 1933, for refusing to take a required course in military science and tactics. In 1935 Camilton was reportedly president of the Southern California Congress of Youth, affiliated with the American Youth Congress (cited by the Attorney General).

Kantiton also admittedly was a member of Young Pecalos Castalist Liagua (youth organization of Castalist Party) 1000-07; was manbor of National Ecocutiva Committee of Castalist Ferty, 1000-03; and was the Vishington representative and reporter for the Castalist
"Call," 1940-43. It is noted that the above individual and his wife, Januatt, resided at 5001 Gramy Street, N. W., Weshington, D. C., in January, 1950. (101-61672).

The Polks Washington City Directory of 1946 lists Albert W. Camilton (wife, Jecnette) as residing as 2991 Crawy Street, N. W., Vashington, D. C., and employed as a radio program producer, employer not specified. This individual may be identical with the above-named individual and the Al Contiton referred to by Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his 7-5-53 broadcast.

Study of Commission influence in Incrior

The fan Francisco Division by letter dated 0-0-63 has advised that according to a technical surveillance on the Communist Forty Needquarters at Can Francisco, California, one Villian Coldenith, a teacher at the City College of New York, New York City, on 0-20-63 contacted Villian Achneideman, chairman, District 13 Communist Farty, Can Francisco, and said he was working on a book relative to the effect communion has had en labor. This was in connection with his study concerning the effect of communion on the American way of life. In interview was arrenged for the following day.

Cn C-M-50 Goldenith appeared at the office of Cohnectorman recording the above matter. The conversation recorded, for the most part, was insudible. It, however, related to a general discussion regarding the above-mentioned book being written by Goldenith. No significant statements were noted other than the feet that Cohneiderman had criticized Goldenith for his critical writing in the past, presumably against the Communication forty. (Focur, CF 618-0; 100-10157)

Villian Coldentth appears to be identical with Villian U. Soldentth who according to Eufiles is the sections in charge of a project to study the communist influence in American life under a $500,000 grant mode by the Fund in Movember, 1953. Our files contain no additional pertinent information concerning Goldsmith. (100-591697-70, 291 encl. p. 69)

Trada Union Educational Program

The Aureau has received a copy of the AF of L-CIO pemphlet No. 31 dated July, 1955, entitled "Lecurity, Civil Liberties and Enions," written by Denjamin D. Augal, Marry Fletschman and Joyaé Lewis Kornbluh. The pamphlet notes the part that labor has played in combating communism. It describes the operation of various security programs noting that any worker becoming involved should consult with union officials for guidance and austriance. It orders the impression that actions of adjudicating officials are often arbitrary and not in accord with information available regarding the workers involved. It is not critical of the FBI. (None Stanley to Rosen, G-7-56, 100-931697-A)

Legal is the Trade Union consultant to the Fund. He is currently directing educational programs with trade unions on civil liberties which are designed to advise union members their rights under the industrial security programs. It is noted that the Fund to date has agant $30,195 toward this programs Segal has not been investigated by the FDI and is identified as a former organiser for the Socialist Farty. In 1951 he was a member of the Lational Religious and Labor Foundation founded in 1932 by Jeroma Dayls, who has been identified as a member of the Communist Farty in the 1930's. Durcau files failed to reflect any pertinent information concerning Kosnbluh and/or Fleischman, who is the executive director of Eatlonal Labor Sorvices, Now York City.

PERLOGRATURS AND CRANCO IN AID-

Association for Education and Journalism

The Fund has approved a grant of $45,000 to the captioned association for a study during 1956-57 of the newspapers' presentation of news related to civil liberties. The study will be headed by Professor Kenneth R. Larvin, president of the association and head of the Department of Technical Journalism, Iowa State College. ("Editor and Publisher," June 29, 1953). (100-291637-A)

The files of this Eurepu fail to reflect any deregatory information concerning the Accostation for Education and Journalism and Professor Lennoth D. Karvin.

Salantates Promises

In December, 1954, the FFA corrections CVS,COS for course for outstanding original draws and decompating corinto on civil liberates themes. The September 10, 1955, issue of the "Taily Verker," cast coest communist newspaper, reported that the fund had awarded 10 prince for original television peripts in the draws and decumentary class.

The July I, 1050, tenue of the "Daily Forker" reported that the Jund had stated to has made utperous attempts to interest film, radio and television autiets in films and scripts dealing with civil liberties, but so for there are no buyers. Of the CO corists which was primes in the Fund's competition held nore than a year ago, the paper said, all but two were rejected for the screen, radio and television. According to the article, the Fund offered no explanation for the lack of success they were having with their scripts. (103-501637-A) on 5-50-55 the Fund announced the second annual composition for Debort L. Cheruced annual for television programs dealing with freeden and justice. The annual contacted last year in memory of Cheruced, a playpright who was a director of the Fund at the time of his death. They include $50,000 cach for the best network drame and best documentary programs and $15,000 for a production in either category on an independent otation. (102-501007-A)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., advised Ir. Nichola on 7-10-50 that he has learned that the Yund has maded grand of $20,500 to Larjoria Lewenthal (phenatic), who is a professor of acciding and had been at Columbia University and possibly at Stanford University. This grant was made to make a study of the celeation of books and book concersion on the part of librarians. Lewis had no further details identifying Lewenthal.

Durcau files contain various references to a Karjeria Leventhal but to to not possible to edequately identify for due to lock of sufficient background data furnished by Levis. (165-901007-307)

The Bureau has obtained a copy of the Fund's "Three-Year Report," which reflects the activities of the Fund to C-20-CS and examination of this report reflects that the Fund has made approximately C4 grants to individuals and organizations, not previously mentioned. To check Bureau files on these grants would involve a considerable number of file reviews. Accordingly a scaple of IS names was taken to determine if the recipients of these grants have any derogetory background and whether there is any indication that the criticism of the Fund during the past year has affected its awarding of grants. Of the IS grants scleeted 7 have been awarded during 1955. Our files show some derogatory information on 4 of them (one of which received a grant in 1955), identified as follows:

U. Lirk Roclofs, Cornell Univertaty, was swarded $6,500 for completion of his book "An Educy on Citizenship."
Realofs in December, 1955, was placed on Eureau list of individuals not to be contacted in view of his past privides of the Durace, (63-32201-223)

Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, was awarded $25,000 to underwrite in nort the expenses of a 6-day conference on the essentials of freedom. The Dureau investigated this college in 1963 on the allegation a Facciat Porty existed there. Our investigation failed to substantiate this allegation or reveal any un-American activities there. (100-74572)

John W. Caughey, University of California, at Los Angeles (UCLA) was awarded a grant (amount not specified) to complete a study of intellectual freedom in American colleges and universities since World War II. Bufiles show that in Karch, 1950, Caughey was one of UCLA's faculty members signing petitions against loyalty cathe. He made several speeches against such loyalty cathe and that year was susted from his job. Eq. however, returned to UCLA in 1959. (116-421054)

Largh Lawrence College, Eronzville, New York, was awarded $29,600 in Larch, 1956, for a 2-year experimental program in civil liberties. This college has not been investigated by the Dureau; however, several members of its faculty have been subjects of security-type investigations. Our filed show it has long been a controversial institution of learning because of its liberal educational policies and the wider latitude in teaching afforded its faculty. Students under faculty guidance and as part of their curricular have participated in numerous front group activities and have frequently taken up the cause of racial minority groups. Various faculty members were called before the Jenner Committee in March, 1959. (100-950042)

In addition to the above-mentioned grants reflected in the Fund's "Three-Year Report," released to the public on June 22, 1956, the following individuals and organizations were also given grants-in-aid as indicated by the Fund's report. In view of the results of the sampling of grants as indicated above and the fact that checking Bureau files on the remaining individuals and organizations would involve a considerable number of extensive file checks, no attempt is being made at this time to review Bureau files concerning the following named grants. It is noted that the Fund's "Three-Year Report" has been completely indexed and that the names of the individuals and organizations who have received grants from the Fund and not previously mentioned by it are also identified in this revision of the running memorands.

American Traditions Project

the fund for the Republic in its September, 1956, bulletin stated that it has established an American Traditions Project to dramatize incidents illustrating how the good sense of Americans has prevailed in our daily lives, particularly in conflicts or disputes which may never have reached the head-lines. According to the Fund, the project offers $10,000 in prizes for letters reporting "true stories about groups or individuals who successfully stood up for the right to think and read freely and to follow the distates of conscience or who have applied the Bill of Rights to human situations in the face of considerations of expediency." Thirteen prizes are offered from a first prize of (2,500 down to ten of $100 cach. In addition, an amount equal to each prize will be donated to any tax-exempt, charitable, educational or religious organization designated by the winner. The Fund stated further details would be announced later. (100-391697-428)

Study of Influence in American Life

David A. Shannon, 106 Morningside Drive, New York City, a professor at Columbia Iniversity, advised the Bureau by letter 9/20/56 that he was writing a history of the Communist Party from 1945 to date under a grant from the Fund for the Republic. He requested information regarding the Communist Party underground and other activities to be used in his study. The Bureau, by letter 10/5/56, advised him we were unable to assist. It is noted that Shannon previously wrote to the Bureau on 3/16/56 to inform us he was writing this history. (100-391697-427)

FELLOWSHIPS AND GRANTS-IN-AID

Dr. Robert D. North of New York City, a specialist in educational and psychological measurement, stated on 11/26/56 that there is no available scientific evidence to prove that American Negroes, as a group, are innately inferior in intelligence to white persons. Dr. North stated that whatever lag exists between Negroes and whites in intelligence may very well be due to environmental and not hereditary differences. North's comments were in a report financed by the Fund made public on 11/26/56 at the annual meeting of the Anti-Defamation League of B'Nai D'Rith. (Mashington City Hews Service 11/26/56, 62-131007-A) Bufiles fail to reflect any pertinent information identifiable with North.

According to the 11/27/56 issue of the "Washington Post and Times Herald," Mary Knowles, a librarian at a quaker-operated library at Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania, was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury on 11/26/56 for refusing to answer questions about past communist affiliations while testifying before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on July 20 and September 15, 1955. On both occasions she dented Communist Party membership or affiliation for many years with organizations on the Attorney General's subversive list. The had also pleaded 5th Amendment before the Subcommittee in 1953. (100-591697-A)

It is noted that in June, 1955, the Fund awarded 5,000 to the Plymouth Meeting Library in recognition of its "courageous and effective defense of democratic principles" in employing Mrs. Knowles and refusing to fire her in spite of her refusal to answer Congressional questions.

Referral/Consult

Bureau files reflect that Frantz is the subject of a scourity-type investigation closed during February, 1956. Investigation developed he was reportedly a member of the Communist Party in the late 1930's to late 1940's. During recent years, he and his wife (also a former Communist Party member) have been active in front groups and associated with communists. He was interviewed by Bureau agents in June, 1950, and stated that he was not in sympathy with the program involving the investigation of a man's political affiliations. He was also active in the National Lawyers Guild (cited by the NCVA) during 1954 and 1955. He was the attorney who wrote the Amicus Curia Drief in opposition to the Internal Courity Act of 1950 and filed this brief with the United States Eupreme Court in September, 1955.

The San Francisco Division, by teletype 10/10/56, advised that their files fail to reflect any employment of Frantz by the Fund; that he was employed by Eancroft Entiney, a law book firm, in San Francisco and resided at Merkeley, California. The teletype reflected that Frantz was scheduled to speak before the National Lawyers Guild banquet on 10/12/56 at San Francisco, California. (100-20023)

American Traditions Project

According to the 2/19/57 tosue of the Rechington "Evening Star," three area residents are among the winners in the Fund for the Republic's $10,000 American Traditions Project. The three winners are: David Koones and L. Edgar Princ, employees of the "Star" and Stanley Field, Chief of Production for the Eadlo-Television Branch of the Army who lives in Arlington, Virginia. The article stated that additional winners would be announced at a later date.

The American Traditions Project was designed to collect true stories about groups or individuals who successfully stood up for the rights to think and read freely and who followed the dictates of conscience or who applied the Bill of Rights to human situations in the face of considerations of "especial considerations of "especial constant of a cash prise may designate a tax-exempt charitable institution to receive a sum to be given in his name equal to the amount of his winning.

Recent summaries concerning the above-named prize winners may be found in Buffle 100-391697-454.

Additional prize winners in the Fund's American Traditions Project were announced by the Fund on 2/28/57 at a banquet held at the Mayflower Motel, Vashington, D. C. These winners are: John B. Orr, Jr., Miami, Florida; Ann Harr and Bessie Nick, Akron, (Ohio) waitresses; Hexel Brannon Smith, editor of the Lexington (Mississippi) Advertiser; Dr. Gertrude X. Sladek, 2940 28th Street, Morthwest, Vaskington, D. V.; and Villia Korey, 1915 East-West Mighway, Silver Spring, Maryland.

Bruce Catton, a member of the Fund's board, spoke at the banquet, at which time he assailed the Government's restriction on information as "excessive" and added that this restriction was among present-day "throats to liberty."

Up-to-date summertee regarding the above-homed prize winners may be found in Buffle 100-391697-455.

A recent summary regarding Catton is contained in Dufile 121-12556-26.

Commission on Rights and Libertics of American Indians

The fund on 3/26/57 announced the establishment of the above-named commission to premote better understanding of the rights and responsibilities of the American Indians under a $100,000 grant authorized on 3/15/55. The commission will be headed by 0. Meredith Vilson, president of the University of Oregon. He will be admisted by Charles A. Eprague, publisher of the "Oregon Statesman;" Karl Llewellyn, Professor of Jurioprudence, University of Chicago; Arthur M. Schlebinger, Sr., Professor Emeritus of History, Marvari University; and W. W. Keeler, vice-president and general manager of Phillips Petroleum and Chief of the Grerokee Mation. ("Daily Worker," 3/25/57; 103-231637-A)

Recent summaries concerning the above-named individuals, may be found in Eufile 100-001007- 457.

Study of Communist Influence In Rajor Segments of U.S. Society

The January 11, 1957, tosue of "Counteratteck," reported that the Yiking Press has announced that it will publish in Karch, 1957, a book entitled "The Loots of American Communion," by Theodore Draper, under sponsorship of the Fund for the Republic. The book is the first in a series of books (ten in all) being written under a project headed by Professor Clinton Rossiter of Cornell University. The total project to entitled "Study of Communist Influences in Lajor Legments of V. S. Society." Draper's back had been previously listed as a "History of the Communist Party in the United States (1918-1945)." Central Lesearch Section is obtaining a copy of this book for review. (102-350512-755)

Cogarding the above, the "New York Daily News" in an editorial entitled "FFE Fluffs Again," dated 9/17/57, stated that Draper's back has now been released by the Viking Frequence According to the editorial, the book, though well written and thoroughly documented, glamorized a lot of Americans who fell for communism during or soon after World Far I. Nore significant, the book offers the theory that most early U. S. communists originally were genuine, sincere, all-wool American radicals of various kinds--Populists, trade unionists, Dryan Democrate and so on. As such, one gathers, they merit our sympathy and respect. Their big mistake, says Draper, was to let the Lussian fieds take them over and turn them into just another cog in the Kremlin's world-wide communist machine. The implication of all this is that if the present day U. S. Fees would only declare their independence of Noncow, they, too, would merit our sympathy and respect.

The editorial states that by a strange coincidence Draper's book was published on the same day that the U.S. Communist Party made public its new constitution, claiming to have cut itself loose from the Krenlin. Many newspapers published this without comment and, according to the editorial, a lot of Americans will be taken in by it. This dangerous deception will be belstered by the Draper book, the editorial adds, and further the "Fund for the Kepublic appears to have fluffed again, and to have given American communism yet another boost while claiming to be combatting it." # Council for Social Action of the Congregational Christian Churches (CSACCC)

The "Washington City News Service" on 1/28/57 reported that Representative Gordon H. Scherer accused the Council for Social Action, an agency of the General Council of Congregational Churches, of trying to force the Nouse Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA) to call off its investigation of the Lund for the Republic. The Congressman charged that Ray Gibbons, director of the Council for Social Action, in an exchange of letters with him, threatened to use the voting power of the church groups against individual members of the Committee unless the investigation was halted.

A summary of Buftles regarding Ray Gibbons and the CSACCO may be found in Buftle 62-103296-18.

According to the "Three-Tear Report" distributed by the Fund for the Republic in June, 1956, it has given the USACCO $20,000 to aid the discussion of civil liberties among its members. In addition, $31,400 was given by the Fund to the USACCO to support a two-year program in race relations in Virginia and North Carolina. (100-391697-400 encl. p.23,40)

University of lowa

According to the Larch, 1957, issue of "Right," a monthly newsletter of, by and for the "American Rightwing," published by Bradford Kartin, San Francisco, California, the Fund for the Republic has awarded $4600 to the University of Iowa for a study of "patriotism," The study which is headed by Ralph E. Ellsworth, Director of Libraries at the University will include a bibliography of all "Rightwing" groups.

Bufiles reflect that Elloworth by letter 11/87/56 advised that since 1945 he has been building up a bibliography of Fasqiot organizations under a small grant from the FFB. Until very reachtly he has not made any effort to gather material from the communists to get their side of the picture. He has written the Communist Farty regarding this material but has received no reply. He states he wants the FBI to know he'd contacting the communists and why and has offered his files to the Eurequ. The Eurequ by let 12/4/56 to Elloworth advised that we could be of no assistance to him and suggested that he refer any pertinent information he may develop to our Omaha Office. It is noted that the Omaha and New York Offices have been asked to be on the lookout for Elloworth's contemplated book and to furnish it to the Bureau immediately. (94-1-11230-400)

OTHER GRANTS

The Fund in its Bulletin of January, 1957, states that the three and a half years' experience of the Fund in the field of civil liberties has emphasized what is perhaps a truisme that the really basic issues involved are those of fact-finding or of publicity. The Fund stated further that it "does not attempt to influence legislation, and, it is not its function or its policy to intervene directly in civil liberties cases (as does the American Civil Liberties Union, for example) to furnish counsel or offer amous curiae briefs. Lit it has supported, or helped to support, numerous special studies by law schools and bar groups; its fellowship grants have assisted individual legal scholars; it has tried to awaken a greater interest among lawyers generally in the legal aspects of the more significant civil liberties problems of the time."

Fund then proceeded to enumerate the individual grants which they have made for legal studies, all of which have previously come to the Eureau's attention with the exception of the following:

Bar Association of St. Louis Foundation,

$47,000 to sponsor open forum TV programs on civil liberties subjects:

Pennsylvania Bar Association Endowment,

$40,000 for a study of the rights of privacy as affected by law enforcement methods.

American Bar Foundations

$25,430 for a study by the Special Committee on Individual Rights as affected by National Security of the American Bar Association of the procedures of Congressional investigating committees. (100-391697-448)

Book Contest

According to the "Daily Worker" of 1/7/57, the American Library Association, Chicago, Illinois, announced a contest with awards totaling $30,000 for books published in 1956 and 1957 which make "distinguished contributions to the American tradition of liberty and justice." Awards for books published in 1956 will be made on 4/25/57. The time and place of awards for books appearing this year will be announced at a later date. The awards are made possible through a grant from the Fund for the Republic. (100-391697-A)

Television Programs

on 11/2/56, an informant who has furnished reliable information in the past made available a copy of a letter written by Herbert Biberman to Seymour Baskind, of New York City on 8/12/54. Biberman stated that he had been negotiating with the Fund for the Republic regarding the movie "Salt of the Earth" and Hallock Hoffman, assistant to the Fund's president, suggested that the Fund might be able to televise the movie on a national hookup that fall. The informant advised that no subsequent information had come to his attention to indicate any further negotiations between the Fund and Bibernan.

The film "Salt of the Earth," highly criticized as communist propaganda, was produced in 1954 by Herbert Biberman, Michael Wilson and Paul Jarrico who were identified as having been affiliated with the Communist Party by several witnesses testifying before the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities as noted in the Committee's 1952 Annual Report. (LA 3512-S; 100-399257-181)

According to the 2/19/57 issue of the "Daily Worker," a documentary film about racial integration entitled "A City Decides" produced under a grant from the Fund for the Republic will be televised nationally on 2/23/57 in New York City. The film portrays integration in the public school system of St. Louis, Missouri. (100-391697-A)

The above film appears to be identical with a documentary film entitled "Integration in St. Louis," which, according to the Fund's "Three-Year Report," released on 6/22/56, shows how successfully St. Louis met the problem of desegregation in its schools. This film was produced by Fleishman Hilliard, Inc., 407 North 8th Street, St. Louis, Missouri. Bufiles fail to reflect any pertinent information concerning this corporation. (100-391697-435, pages 40, 42, 82, 85)

SPECIAL AWARDS.

The captioned library on 6/22/55 received a $5000 award from the Fund for its "courageous and effective defense of democratic principles," for hiring and refusing to fire Mary G. Knowles, a librarian, who previously refused to discuss past CP activities while testifying before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in 1953 and 1955. (100-391697-146)

According to the 1/11/57 "Washington Post and Times Herald," Mrs. Mary Knowles, a librarian in the Quaker community of Plymouth, Meeting, Pennsylvania, was found guilty on 1/10/57 by the U.S. District Court, Washington, D. C., on 52 counts of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions concerning past CP affiliations. She was permitted to remain free under a $500 bond pending a presentence investigation.

According to the 1/18/57 "Washington Star;" Mrs. Knowles that day was sentenced in the District Court, Washington, D. C., to serve 120 days in jail and pay $500 fine for contempt of Congress. She was allowed to remain free under a $500 bond pending appeal.

The "Eachington Star," on 1/25/57 reported that Ura. Knowles has been retained in her job at the Plymouth Lecting library and will be given a calary rates of $200, making her pay $3,400 a year. The board of the Quaker-operated William Jeanes Memorial Library and on 1/26/57 it wanted to "restate our confidence in Mrs. Knowles."

The propious revision of this memorandum under the section "Current Studies and Projects" listed two projects which were identified as the "Free Society Project" and the "Project to Clarify Dasia Government Igaues." (Part IV, pg. 188) It has since been determined that these are both part of one program which is being called the "basic tosues" program by the FFR.

Pj. 3 of the 7-15-57 tesus of the "Daily Worker" and pg. A-2 of the "Washington Fost and Tines Herald" of 7-15-57 carried articles reflecting that the FFA had thus far announced 3 projects under its "basic issues" program.

The 3 projects are as follows:

- 1. The Corporation Project: A study of the Corporation as it affects individual freedoms.
- 2. The Labor Union Projects A study of the Labor Union as it affects individual freedoms.
- 3. The Common Defence Project: An examination of the impact of the Covernment's defense policies on individual freedoms.

The article from the Latly Worker identified the 10 members of a special committee of consultants which was established to supervise the "basic issues" program. These incividuals have been proviously identified in this memorandum (Part IV, pg. 182) and a brief summary of information in Eureau files on each parson may be found in Eureau file 100-291697-469 & 470.

"The New York Times" of 7/15/57 reflected that according to Fund President Labert M. Lutchino, the ten-member committee on "basic issues" would not be expected to solve the fundamental problems raised by the projects but was aspected to identify the problems and to present them in terms which would make possible a rational debate. Butchine stated that all ten committee consultants would be jointly responsible for conclusions.

Fage 10 of "The New York Times" 7/19/57 reflected an editorial comment regarding the Fund's "pasto issues" program which was described as a principle part of the present phase of the Fund's operations. The article stated, "The Fund has been spending its money by and large in some exceedingly useful directions despite ill-informed and often trresponsible criticism that has been directed against it. In so doing the fund has helped strengthen American democracy, and the new study just announced gives every indication of being a major contribution to this end." (100-891697-A)

The Corporation Project and Labor Union Project

The "Washington News" of 7-2-57 pg. 19 carried an article antitled "New Fund Inquiry" which reflected that the FFW would undertake an inquiry into the impact of two najor U. S. institutions on individual freedom and civil liberty in America. The institutions were identified as the industrial corporation and the labor union. According to the article, Fund President Cobert M. Mutchins stated that the corporation and the labor union are institutions "which may affect the individual for good or ill guite as intimately as big government does. The United States is now a nation of employes, with more than 75% of the working force employed by corporations. Almost 16 million workers are members of unions."

The article further stated, "according to Autohins, the labor union project will examine the relation between the union and its memberahip, between the union and the community, the implications for individual rights of collective pargaining practices, terms of union contracts, size of the bargaining unit and other factors.

"Along parallel lines, the industrial corporation project will try to 'appraise' the corporation's impact on its employes in certain 'traditional' areas: freeder of speech, association and political activity. Also, hopefully, it aims to develop a comprehensive body of opinions on the proper relationship between employer and employed."

According to the article the Labor Union Project will be headed by Clark Kerr, Chancellor of the University of California, Dio "18 a key figure in industrial relations, with important service on the Ear, Labor and Stabilization Loards and various Presidential fact-finding bodies."

The industrial corporation project util be directed by Adolph A. Berle, professor of corporation law at Columbia University and former Assistant Secretary of State.

According to this article the basic question which will have to be faced by the consultants on these and other projects will be the effect on the character of the "organization man", the pressures and disciplines which frequently cause the psychological as well as seconomic entrapsent of the individual.

A brief summary of information in Eufiles concerning Adolph A. Berle and Clark Kerr may be found in Eufile 100-501697-467.

Connon Defense Project

The "Daily Worker", an east coast communist newspaper, issue of 7-15-57, carried an article captioned "Fund to prove Effect of War Work on Liberty" which reflected that the FFR announced it had begun an examination of the "impact of government defense policies on traditional concepts of freedom and liberty."

According to this article, Dr. Isidor I. Labi, NotelPrize winning physicist and chairman of the Concral advisory Committee of the Atomia Energy Commission, will supervise the Common Defence project. Valter Villie, historian and commentator on military affairs, will have administrative responsibility for the project. Newbern of the FFA's Doard of Directors who will provide liaison between the Doard and the Common Defence Project are Charles W. Cole, president of Amherst; former Senator
Merbert M. Lehman, and Jubal R. Farten, president of Toodley
Petroleum Co., Mouston Taxas.

Eummaries of information in Bureau files on Est, Utilits, Colo and Lehman will be found in Bureau file 100-201697-685, 460. Eummary on Farten will be found in Bureau file 100-201697-82.

The criticle further reflected that Hobert II. Lutching, president of the FFR, pointed out that "many acute issues of civil liberties today have arisen from the enormous expansion of governmental nilitary and 'slanty' potivities."

Pg. A-2 of the "Washington Post & Times Berald" of 7-15-57 carried a similar article regarding the Common Defense Project and reflected that three specific fields will be covered by this study:

- 1. The military manpower system, including the draft and reserve laws.
- 2. Measures developed to control sedition and subversion.

2. Techniques for controlling espicance and cabetage, cuch so the "great enlargement" of governmental recreey and the development of intelligence and counter-intelligence agencies.

THE STATE

Excional Association of Interpreta Colations Officials

The Itily Worker, an east coust communict newcraper, of Ceptember 5, 1867, page 3 certical an article captioned, "Urgan Launches Ch-Job Training Frogram" which reflected in part as follows: "A two-year-on-the-job training program in intergroup relations has been Legun b, the Urban League of Greater New York.... The League is participating in a national program to recruit and train new professional workers in racial and intercultural relations under the general administration of the Euthoral Association of Intergroup Colotions Officials (Erial)."

This article reflected that the Fund for the Lepublic was one among other organizations participating in the financing of the program. (100-20229-A)

The HAIRS was formed in Chicago, Illinois, on Hoventer 17, 1927, at a meeting of more than 150 officials working with agencies in the field of race and intergroup relations and the murphoe of the organization was to correlate their activities. The Europe participated in the First National Police - Community Jelations Conference which was sponsored by the NAIRO and held in April, 1952, in Fhiladelphia, Fonnaylvania. A raview of the main file on the NAIRO coes not reflect any communist infiltration of that organization. (G2-8535)

By letter dated February 6, 1957, the Kew York office advised there was no indication that the Communist Farty and instructed its members to infiltrate the Uruan Lague. The files of the Kew York office aid reflect that ages Communist Farty members were detive in the Kew York Uruan Lague in the past but not in sufficient atrength to influence or control it. (103-20019-40)

Arecial Invita

The "Washington Fost and Times Kerald" of Coptember 13, 1957, page 2-4 carried an article captioned "Lucker Group Accepts lift After G-Tear Row" which reflected that the Plymouth Konthly Licting of the Society of Friends had decided to accept the (5,60) gift from the Fund for the Republic and turn the money over to the William Jeanes Kamerial Library for its operation. The money was offered to the Plymouth Konthly Keeting for its defence of a library employe, Lary G. Knowles, who refused to sign the Pennsylvania loyalty outh. The article stated that Urs. Knowles was a substitute librarian in 1954, when she was asked to sign the eath, and is presently head librarian at the library. The oldined "she is not now a member of any reputedly subversive group." The article also reflects that Urs. Knowles was convicted of contempt of a congressional committee and was sentenced to 150 days in jail and fined $500 but has appealed.

CONTRACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PLANS

CUNTERT CTUDIES AND PROJECTS

BASIC INCUST PROTPAH

The FFR's panphlet "The Free Society" received Cot. 4, 1957, reflected that more than 100 persons outside of the fund contributed to the shaping of the Laste Issues Frogram, among them the ten men who have become the Committee of Consultants.

This pumphlet further reflected, The Committee has three functions: to think, to discuss, and to publish. Out of its deliberations and the work commissioned by it, the fund hopes that fresh definitions of fundamental problems and a clarification of the arguments concerning these problems will energy. The discussions of the Committee may become models of the rational detate essential to the democratic process. Additionally, the fund will make every effort consistent with its charter to implement the findings of the Committee."

In an attempt to explain the need for the Dasic Issues Program, this parphiet set forth some of the changes that have occurred in the United States since 1731, when the Itll of Rights was adopted. It reflected that the modern corporation, the labor union, the media of mass communications, and the organised political party were institutions which did not exist at all in 1731. Other institutions depicted as having grown enorabysay were government, education, and the communications were government, education, and the communications were pictured as playing roles sharply different from those they played in 1731. The conclusion was drawn that "Jovernment is no longer the only institution with the power to increase or to deplete the freedem of the individual and of society."

This pumphlet further reflected as follows:

"Fut all these new or changed institutions have one thing in commons they have a projound effect on the individual's daily life, and an his rights and responsibilities. They create new problems of maintaining a free scatety; they may even force us to re-define what such a society is."

The pamphlet reflected that Robert M. Butchins, president of the FFR, declared as follows in cutlining the goals of the Lagic Lagues Program: "It would be pretentious to suppose that any plondering venture such as the program of studies we are undertaking aculd offer definite solutions to the proglem of how to maintain and expand individual liberties in an industriclized and politically polarized world. But I believe that the program offers reasonable expectation that the fundian, by concentrating upon it, make its most effective contribution to the maintenance of freedem and justice in the United Litates."

Now the Banic Issues Program will be Conducted,

This panphlet reflected that the Committee of Consultanta was committed to sustained discussion as the principle means of achieving clarification. The discussion will follow three steps:

- 1. Define the incues
- I. Obtain, through stay work or from constitues members, information necessary to the comprehension of the issues as defined.
- I. Examination of the data and discussion of relevant visupoints.

The above process is expected to result in published statements, representing either interim reports or the efforts of the group to plantfy the issue under consideration.

According to this peophlet the Committee of Consultants will go into two main classes of issues:

- 1. Issues resulting from the impact of new or vactly enlarged institutions such as the influence of the trade union on its members.
- 2. Issues reculting from the growing complexity of national life; including questions of privacy and censorship.

Organization and Administration of the Projects under the Easte Issues Propries

This pumphlet reflected that the organization and administration of the projects under the Easte Tesues Program would follow these lines:

- 1. The board of the fund will approve each project.
- at members of the board will serve as liaison airectors with each project.
- 3. Members of the Committee of Consultants will overses each project.
- 4. Each project will have the services of a staff member of the kind.
- s. Each project is authorized to retain consultants or the services of outside groups with special qualifications in the tubject under study. This will include spokessen and others prosinent in the affairs of the "institution" under consideration.
- G. The fund will make every effort to ptimulate public discussion and delate on the findings. (100-901007-475)

Inhor Union Project

The Fill's pasphiet entitled "The Free Licity" reflected as follows regarding the Labor Union Projects

"American unions, following a tremandous expansion in size and power in the period 1000-1050, have exerted growing influence on the social, cultural and political lives of their members. At the same time they have become a powerful force in arcae once considered the exclusive domain of the corporation, such as employed discipline and the process of production itself.

an interest in foreign affairs, community relations, race relations and other aspects of the civil rights and responsibilities of its members. This may be symptometre of the util to power or of a new sense of obligation.

"The project will examine the implications for the rights of individuals of collective bargaining practices together with such specific issues as jurisdictional strikes, national strikes affecting the public interest, restrictive work rules and community—union clashes of interest.

"Union officials, industrial relations experts, arbitrators and other authorities will contribute to the project. Close cooperation between the projects on the trade union and the corporation will be maintained."

This pumphlet reflected the following individuals would be connected with the Labor Union Projects

Liaison Virectors: Oscar Hammerstein, II (members of the Paul G. Hoffman board of directors) Meyer Ecstaboum

Corporation Project

The IN's pumphlet entitled "The Free Bostety" reflected as follows regarding the Corporation Projects

The debate today about the relation between the corporation and society, and between the corporation and the individual is incessant and confused. According to one point of view, the corporation moves year after year to progressively higher plateaus, casting off outworn or irresponsible practices as it does so. Others hold that as corporations become more and more powerful, their influence becomes pervasive and perhaps dangerous.

"Of special concernite the effect of the corporation on those closest to it. If civil liberty describes a proper relation between the state and the individual, should the idea of civil liberty be carried over into the life of the industrial corporation? Or does a different and perhaps none limiting concept, say a concept of corporate liberties, apply?

"Answers to such cuestions appear to be central to a clarification of basic issues in the U. S. today, since corporations now employ throse-fourths of the nation's labor force and wield considerable powers, explicit and implicit, over other inctitutions as well.

"This project will first seek to appraise the impact of the corporation on the political, social and economic freedom of individuals affected by it.

"from the outset, the cooperation of industry will be sought, in addition to assistance from universities, educational foundations, and trade associations."

The pumphies reflected the following institutions would be connected with the Corporation Projects

Compon defense Project

The FFR's panihlet entitled "The Free Doctety" reflected as follows regarding the Common Defense Projects

"International tensions and the resultant ntlitary posture of the country have rated questions of individual freedem and civil liberty. Although the Federal Covernment's obligation to provide for the common defense is stated in the Constitution, the changes in government responsibility that have taken place since the 18th century have created a shifting and confusing relationship between mecoures of defense and concepts of freedom.

"To explore the basic issues arising in this field, the project will concentrate mainly on three argue of governmental activity: nilitary panpower policies, the suppression of sudition, and the discovery and prevention of explonage.

"The project will be alvanced by commissioning special studies; by consulting with qualified persons in government, law, education and science, and by convening civisory proups from time to time."

This peophiet reflected the following individuals would be connected with the Common Dufense Projects

> Liaison Siractores - Berbert H. Lehman (members of the board of directors)

In Hovember, 1937, The fund for the Republic published a parphlet entitled, "Individual Freedox and the Compon Jefense" which reflected it was written by Walter Millis, and was "a contribution to the discussion of The Free Looisty." This publication was a study criticien of Liverment policies and made numerous derogatory references to the Director and the FIL. It minimised the threat of communism, and ridiculed and criticised Government measures to combat communism. It depicted the 1969 trial of CP leaders as resulting from political pressures on the Truman Administration rather than from any utolation of law. It pictured legislation against acts of treason, espionage, sabotage and utolent revolution an justified but claimed that the legislation enacted was to suppress the "political beliefs" which advocated those acts. Thus they became "inti-stillion necessary" and "at variance with the spirit if not the letter of the Constitution."

In the booklet Willie further stated that the feare of our society "received powerful reinforcement and exploitation from the proseured of personal ambition and partical fury, from the tendency of ** the secret police to againfy their accomplishments and justify their function in confety...." In page 73 he clearly identified the FDI as "a scarce police agancy."

The overall trend of Millist booklet appeared to be an attact to they that the Covernment had imposed intelerable restrictions upon initialized freedom in the name of defence and security. It called for a revision of the internal security laws, a relaxation of secrecy in governmental operations, and decaphasis of intelligence and counter-intelligence operations. Millist attempted to justify this position by minimizing the communist threat to U. I. security and eleming that secrecy, espionage, gounterespienage and intelligence were grossly overvalued.

Page 25 of the "Mashington Post and Times Nordla" of Lovenber 27, 1957; carried an advertisement of a "monograph" entitled "Individual Presson and the Common Defense" by Valter Millio. This advertisement departded this publication as follows:

"A thoughtful examination of our national accurity policies and their inject on individual freedom. These policies have been dramatically called in question by recent events. Clarification and discussion of many of the issues presented by Ur. Willie should materially assist in the revisions of national policy which, it is now evident, are imperative. Ur. Willis' managraph, which he calls 'a structuring of the proclam, discusses some of the lines along which these policies at hit be re-exceined and some ways in which modification assess desirable." (199-331037-4)

The "New York Berold Tribune" of Hovember 27, 1957, page II carried an article captioned "Republic fund Igenes Pamphlet" which reflected that Butchins had announced the publication of the first of a series of pamphlets in connection with the Lund's study of a "free pociety."

This first pamphlet, "Individual Freedom and Common Defense" was written by Walter Hills, the staff member of the Fil assigned to the Common Defense Project. The article reflected that Hills stated in the pamphlet that military obligations, as a part of our national defense, have "introduced significant distortions into the processes of American higher education. They are often sourcely restrictive of individual liberty; it is not plear that they have made any countervailing contributions to political liberty - which is to cay, to the common good, or, in this case, to the acamen defense."

Religious Institutions Project

The FID's pamphlet entitled, "The Free Lociety" reflected as follows regarding the Religious Institutions Frojects

"Into project will deal with the relationship between Church and State, the role of religion in public life, and the rights of religious dissent or non-conformity.

"A study group will consider such questions as:

"The role of the religious pressure group and its affect on freedom of speech, freedom to read, freedom of communications, etc.

"The influence of ecologicatical directives on legislators and blocs of voters and through them on the public law. "The use of public funds to support church-directed education, parachial activities and sectarian interests,

"The question of prayers, released-time and 'moral guidance' programs as well as religious celebrations in the public schools.

"The project will be a joint effort engaging representatives of the three major faiths, as well as the religiously uncommitted. It will from time to time call in outside experts and leading spokemen of the various faiths as well as representatives of the non-religious point of view. It will commission special studies and research from gualified individuals and inotitutions."

The "National "wardign" takes dated 11-6-57, pg. 11 reflected that the FFR planned to give financial aid for the publication of a booklet entitled "The wontgenery Story" which will be a 16-page "comic book" publication takes on the bus boycott conducted by Negroes in Montgenery, Alabama. The Dooklet was reported to contain material on the "Jontgomery Method" and the "virtues of non-violence." According to the "Dational Guardian" the booklet was conceived and written by the Fellowship of Reconciliation and will be drawn by the Al Sapp organization "at cost or less." Fublication is echeduled for January 1953 with an initial printing of 250,000 copies to sell for ten cents each.

The Fellewship of Reconciliation is a semireligicus, socialist-partfist group whose program included apposition to military conscription, promotion of racial equality and abolition of thermonuclear devices. Al Capp has a record of communist front associations. The "Lational Guardian" was sited as "a virtual propagana are of Coviet Lussia" by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. (100-301837)

MIKE WALLACE TV INTERVIEW PROGRAMS.

The "Mashington Post and Times Herald" of April 22, 1958, carried an article on page B-15, which reflected that Newsmaker Productions, Incorporated, and the Fund for the Republic would produce a series of like Wallace TV interview programs at 10:00 p.m., Sundays, over the American Broadcasting Company TV network. The article did not reflect a date for the first program.

The news article reflected that the new program will examine such relationships of the free society as those between individual freedom and modern corporations, the citizen and the union, and the citizen and the requirements of national defense.

will be the effects of the mass media on freedom, the role of political parties and pressure groups and the role of the institutions in a democratic society." (100-391697-511)

A review of Dufiles failed to reflect any information identifiable with Newsmaker Productions, Incorporated. A summary of information contained in Dufiles regarding like Wallace may be found in 94-49860-7.

According to the 4-30-58 edition of "Variety," a NYC publication, the like Wallace interview program commenced on April 27, 1958. The program was entitled "Survival and Freedom" and Fallace and his guests planned to cover all facets of society and the sociological, religious and economic problems of the day. The show was presented by the American Croadcasting Co. in association with the FER which had contributed $50,000 to assist the network in carrying the series of thirteen programs. The show's producer was Ted Yates Jr. and the director was Mickey Trenner. No information was located in Bureau files which could be identified with Yates or Trenner. The "Variety" article also reflected that "Tapes of the shows will be made available for radio rebroaccast and there's a possibility that the kinescopes will get a showing at the U.S. Pavillon at the Drussels Fair." (100-591697-521)

According to "Variety," Like Wallace's guest for the first program on April 27, 1958, was Reverend Reinhold Niebuhr and the topics of discussion were separation of church, and state, anti-semitism, Cathologism, atheism and the necessity of freedom. The inquisitor and the guest were virtually on the same side, the show had a "static and soaptox quality that didn't sit too well at 10:00 P.U."

The second program in the series was televised at 10:00 P.M. on May 4, 1958, and Wallace's guest was Cyrus S. Eaton described by Wallace as a Gleveland (Ohlo) industrialist who "heads up a one billion collar emptre in coal, from ore and railroads." Statements made by Eaton on the program were highly opinionated and false. For example, Eaton said:

"If you were to take the police forces of the cities and of the counties and of the states and the Governmental agencies and add them up, littler in his prime, through the Gestapo, never had no such spying organizations as we have in this country today."

"...take the Central Intelligence Agency, which one of its jobs is to check the FBI to see whether it is doing its duties..."

"...there are no communists in America to speak of, except in the minds of those on the payroll of the FBI."

Hear the end of this program, Vallace said "We have just heard one side of this issue. In the course of this series on survival and freedom, we intend to explore all sides. We plan to have at least one spokesman who believes that the socalled liberal mind is in itself a threat to our survival and freedom."

A typed transcript of the Wallace-Eaton interview may be found in Bufile 100-127094-101.

A Washington City News Service release dated May C, 1958, reflected that Robert M. Nutchins, president of the FFR, had offered the Director an opportunity to appear on the Mike Wallace IV program to answer charges against the FUI made by Cyrus S. Eaton on that program on May 4, 1958. The news release reflected that an American Broadcasting Company spokesman in New York disclosed that the Director had telegraphed that he "did not want to dignify Cyrus Eaton's remarks with an interview." (100-391697-A) The full text of the Director's telegram of May 5, 1958, to Mutchins was as follows: "In reply to your telegram of this date, I do not desire to appear on any interview program to dignify the vicious and completely untrue statements about the FBI made by one Cyrus Eaton." It appeared on page A-33 of the "Washington Star" of May 7, 1958.

Fulton Lewis Jr. in his column on page 22, of the "New York Mirror" of May 12, 1958, captioned "Pro-Russian Blurbs Via TV - Tax-Free," criticized the Mike Wallace TV interview of Cyrus Eaton. Lewis wrote, "Even while it faces a death rap from the Internal Revenue Bureau, the Fund for the Republic blithely continues to flaunt its pro-Russian, anti-anti-Communist proteges and propogands, now via TV."
Lewis was critical of Eaton and pointed out some of the false statements made by Eaton on the broadcast. Lewis described Eaton as "an old familiar character with an old familiar line."

Lewis concluded his column as follows: "This is what Dr. Hutchins and the Fund for the Republic all "The Survival and Freedom Series," all under the tax-free pretense of education. We anwhile the red propaganda machines spread Ur. Eaton's bleatings to the world, quoting a great capitalist. And Mr. Eaton, even at this moment, is trodding velvet carpets in Moscow." (100-391697-526)

The Vay 16, 1958, issue of "Counterattack" was highly oritical of Cyrus Eaton's remarks.

By memo of Ur. Bease to Ur. Tolson dated May 20, 1958, it was indicated that the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCVA) had experienced considerable difficulties with the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) and its legal staff in connection with obtaining equal time to answer the charges made by Cyrus Eaton. After considerable debate ABC finally allowed Dick Arens, chief counsel HCVA, to appear on television and refute Eaton's charges. After arriving in NYC for the broadcast Arens was contacted by several members of the legal staff of ABC and was told that under no circumstances would he be allowed to make any references to the FFR in his speech. They also checked Arens' speech for any references which might precipitate a libel suit and made some eliminations from the speech. (100-127094-132)

On May 19, 1958, Richard Arens made a televised address over ABC from 7:20 p.m. to 8:00 p.m., in which he charged that Cyrus Eaton had played into the hands of Communists, and his attack on the Government Agencies had brought to a climax a "series of public utterances which have appeared over the course of the last several years in the world communist press." Areas stated, "The international communist propaganda machine, which we estimate expends an average of $3,000,000,000 a year on propaganda, is now using Mr. Eaton's statements all over the world against the United States and our internal security system." Areas stated that Eaton "has extolled the virtues of the Soviet Union, he has attacked what he curiously characterizes as the anti-Russian belligerance of the United States, and expresses his firm conviction that the masters of the Kremlin desire only peace."

During the broadcast Arens announced that Eaton has been ordered to appear before the HCVA at an appropriate time.

A summary of Arens remarks may be found in 100-391697-529.

The spring meeting of the "Crusade for America" was held at the Garden City Hotel, Garden City, Long Island, New York, on May 26, 1958. One of the main speakers was William F. Buckley, Jr., editor of the "National Review" who answered a written question from the audience concerning his opinion of Eaton's attack on the FBI. Buckley stated that Eaton was either "a lunatic or was communist inspired." Buckley said that Eaton had no objective evaluation for his analysis of the FBI and characterized Eaton as suffering from "a dislocation either emotional or intellectual." Buckley related that it was a curious spectacle that people like Eaton get front-page publicity in "The New York Times" for such utterances. (100-391697-535)

The third person to be interviewed by Like Wallace on this TV series was Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. This interview was broadcast on May II, 1958, and "The New York Times" of Lay 12, page 24, carried an article captioned "Douglas Attacks Conformity Drive" which reflected that Justice Douglas stated the U.S. tended to become insensitive to inroads against basic liberties. He said there was a demand for conformity to general patterns of thought. He stated there was an inclination "to look for a teacher who is so-called safe," a minister who is 'safe, a Congressman who is 'safe," A person who is 'safe' was defined as one who did not have unorthodox ideas and was "not a contentious character." The Justice continued that after World War II it became the practice to have "public trials" ferreting out subversives. So a result, "people became more and more frightened and, to get a job or to keep a job, wanted to be safe." Consequently, there has been "a general contraction of the feeling of ability to speak freely and a general lowering of the standards of free expression that we have enjoyed in early days."

A verbatim transcript of the Justice Douglas interview may be found in 100-391697-517.

The fourth program of the series was broadcast on Lay 18, 1950, and the guest was Mr. Aldous Luxley, Dritioh author and social critic. According to "The Kew York Times" of Lay 19, 1950, page 45, Murley expressed concern that votentific and technological advances were making it possible to persuade man through his subconscious. Luxley said "Ke have now, fowerful, wind-changing drugs which will ledue terrible results..." Luxley mentioned subliminal advertising as a new device for influencing thinking, but which was not yet a menace although it might be used in future political campaigns. The stated that "a democracy depends on the individual voter making an intelligent and rational choice for what he regards as his enlightened celf-interest in any given efrometance." (163-291607-A)

A summary of information contained in Dufile regarding Eucley may be found in ICC-801607-531.

The fifth program of the series featured an interview of Ir. Eric Fromm, a psychophalyst and social oritio, and was breakest on May 25, 1988.

Luring the interview Fromm stated there has never been a better speicty them that in the U.S., but it is in cerious danger of destroying itself if the U.S. goes on in the direction it is now taking. So stated production and consumption have become an end instead of a means to an end. Americans are not concerned with matters of society or polities. Fromm stated he was a Social Egmocrat and remarked that socialism was connected with Stalin's so-called socialism, which had nothing to do with socialism; it is the most resocialism openized that if Earx had lived in the thirties, he would have been shot as an agent of capitalism by Stalin. A summary of information in Sufiles regarding Froma may be found in 100-201607-504. (100-201607-500)

Adlai E. Stevenson, former demogratic presidential candidate, was interviewed during the 6th program of this series on June 1, 1958. Etevenson stated that in some cases there is corruption of politicians, but felt that much equid be done by the voter. Stevenson said he believed the voters should take a more active part in their political parties and the political clubs in their communities. A summary of Stevenson's remarks may be found in 100-501697-541.

The odventh interview of this series was televised on June 8, 1958, and featured Egluster L. Weaver Jr., former president of the National Procedurating Company, who criticized the management of the television networks for failing to live up to their responsibilities and for degrading the quality of their service to the public.

A summary of the interview with Weaver may be found in Dufile 100-391697-546. A summary of information contained in Dufiles regarding Sylvester Weaver Jr. may be found in 100-591697-542.

The Washington City News Service on June 9, 1958, carried a release which reflected the FFR had protested censorship by ABC of the Nike Wallace interview with Sylvester (Rat) Weaver. An FFR spokesman said that "ABC lawyers believed the statement he (Neaver) was making at that time was possibly libelous and they censored it. We protested it to ABC." A spokesman for Weaver said that when Vallace's interview with Weaver was "definitely faded" for about ninety seconds. Neaver was discussing whether or not television was living up to its responsibilities in a free society. The spokesman for Weaver said, "I think the public got the gist of what he (Weaver) was saying-that television management was not living up to its responsibilities in a free society."

"The Evening Star", Washington D. C., of June 16, 1958, page A-10 carried an article captioned "Notwork Drops Interview as Lodge Edits it "which reflected that the American Broadcasting Company cancelled the 5th interview of this series, which was to have been televised on June 15, 1958. The filmed interview was with V.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge who had insisted on editing certain portions of the interview that involved "national security and the public interest." The article reflected ABC felt that to have permitted the deletions would have constituted editorial consorable in violation of company policy. John Baly, ABC vice president for news and public affairs, said Newsmaker Productions had guaranteed Ur. Lodge the right to edit the interview. Robert Hutchins took issue with ABC and defended Lodge. As originally filmed, Lodge said in the interview that the V.S. should give up the idea of winning popularity abroad and should seek international respect instead. Lodge also said that the Eussians "believe in protracted conflict to the bitter end." The phrases to which Lodge objected were not disalosed. The interview was not televised. (100-391697-A)

"The New York Times" of June 17, 1958, page 59 carried an article by Jack Gould captioned "TV: Sound Journalism" which reflected that Robert Mutchins had said that Mr. Lodge was within his rights in not allowing an official of a network to determine what statements should be broadcast. According to Mutchins the FFR had invited Lodge "to say what he wanted to say in exactly the way he wanted to say it."
Mutchins added that the purpose of the series is educational.

Jack Gould was critical of Hutchine stand and of the Fund's policy in handling this series of interviews. Gould said."Neither the funds nor Mr. Vallace states on the air that their guest has the prerogative to examine the finished.

interview in advance, censor what he doesn't like or make other changes. The public is not told that the guest, in effect, has control over the presentation."

"Under Dr. Hutchins' novel concept of the "educational interview, genuine reportorial independence becomes mere camouflage for a handout." (100-391697-A)

"The New York Times" of June 18, 1958, page 67 carried a column by Jack Gould captioned "TV: Reply by Hutchins" which reflected that Robert M. Mutchins wrote a letter to Jack Gould to take exception to remarks printed by Gould in the June 17, 1958, issue of "The New York Times" Gould had stated that John Daly was to be congratulated for taking a firm stand in regard to this series of pregrams and the cancellation of the Lodge interview. Hutchins contended that Daly was not firm but rather acted as a censor to keep Lodge from voicing his views on the air. In his letter Mutchins pointed out that Mike Wallace had conducted previous interviews with a searching skill and has maintained his characteristic independence as a reporter. Jack Gould wrote "If the journalistic interview format is used, then the fund should be the first to want to withdraw from any influence, control or supervision whatsoever. That is the way to give Mr. Wallace the reportorial independence of which Dr. Hutchins speaks. Mr. Wallace, in turn should report to the man charged with over-all responsibility for news policy, which in this instance is Mr. Daly.

"On the other hand, if the fund does wish to present an educational series wherein the speakers do control contents, then the program, at the very least, should be labeled "The Fund for the Republic Program" and disassociated from independent news reporting." (100-391697-4)

The ninth program in the Fund sponsored like Wallace interview programs was televised on June 22, 1958, and featured Monsignor Francis Lally, Editor of the Boston Catholic Newspaper "Pilot." The interview dealt with allegations that the Catholic Church does not adhere to the doctrine of separation of church and state, and that the teachings of the Catholic Church do not enhance intellectual development but stifle it. Monsignor Lally presented his arguments showing that these allegations are erroneous.

Nonsignor Francis J. Lally has been a member of the Fund's Board of Directors since Varch, 1957, and a summary of information in Bufiles concerning him may be found in 100-391697-456.

FFR DISTRIBUTED COPIES OF WIKE WALLACE INTERVIEWS

Veno to Mr. Nease to Mr. Tolson dated June 2, 1958, reflected that Judge James R. Duncan of the Subversive Activities Control Board furnished two pamphlets which were printed copies of the Mike Wallace interviews with Cyrus S. Eaton and William O. Douglas. The pamphlets were mailed from the FIR in New York City and reflected single copies could be obtained without charge from the FIR; additional copies were available at ten cents each. (100-391697-538)

By letter dated June 23, 1958, the New York office furnished a similar pamphlet which reflected the details of the Mike Wallace interview with Reinhold Niebuhr. This was the first interview of this TV series. (100-391607-551)

GRANTS-IN-AID

GRANT TO THE CHRISTIAN LIFE COUNTSSION

Page B-10 of "The Evening Star" Washington, D.C., of May 23, 1958, carried an article captioned "Church Beats Motion to Reject Ford Funds" which reflected that the Southern . Eaptist Convention being held at Houston, Texas, beat down an attack on the acceptance of $15,000 by the Christian Life Commission from the FVR. The article reflected a motion was introduced stating that "this convention return the $15,000 grant from the Ford Foundation through the Fund for the Republic and that no further grants be received from this foundation. The convention was also told that the FFR That as a matter of record granted funds not only to religious organizations and institutions but also to institutions that are recognized as Communist front organizations." The article further reflected that the receipt of the grant was defended by Reuben A. Alley of Richmond, editor of the Religious Herald and Dr. A.C. Willer. of Mashville, Tennessee, executive secretary of the Christian The purpose of this grant was not stated in Life Commission. the news article. (100-391697-A)

ROBERT E. SHERWOOD TELEVISION AWARDS

"The New York Times" of June 17, 1958, page 59 reflected that several American Broadcasting Company programs had been nominated for Robert E. Sherwood television awards, which are administered annually by the FFR. The award winners will be cited for programs dealing with the theme of freedom and justice. (100-391697-A)

CRITICISM OF FUND

Nature of Criticism

Since its inception, The Fund for the Republic has been the subject of numerous comments from columnists and broadcasters including such well-known individuals as David Lawrence, George Sokolsky, Fulton Lewis, Jr. and Walter Winchell; from Members of Congress such as Representative B. Carroll Reece and Senator John W. Bricker; from the National Commander of The American Legion; and from the editorial staffs of newspapers throughout the United States.

The vast majority of these reviews have severely criticized the Fund for:

- 1. Its assumption that the Communist Party, USA, is not a dangerous threat to the security of the United States, but merely another political party akin to the Democratic and Republican Parties.
- 2. Its apparent interest in "investigating the investigators"-congressional committees and other governmental investigative organizations.
- 3. It offers no solution to security problems.
- 4. Its activities as a political and propaganda agency rather than a tax-exempt foundation.
- 5. The similarity of its program in many respects to that of the Communist Party, USA, thus indirectly aiding the aims and purposes of the Party.

by the above-mentioned individuals under these five categories. Additionally, under point number five, based upon previous material in this monograph setting forth in the form of statements, objectives, products and plans of The Fund for the Republic, the reader may wish to appraise a portion of the Communist Party line as portrayed in the Party press during the period immediately preceding the incorporation of the Fund in December, 1952, and more recent statements appearing in 1955.

Communist Party, USA, Is Not a Menace

On September II, 1955, the National Commander of The American Legion, Seaborn P. Collins, assailed The Fund for the Republic and its president, Robert M. Hutchins, and called upon legionnaires "to have no truck with" activities sponsored by the Fund. Collins stated that ".... By shrewd grants and expenditures, The Fund for the Republic is threatening and may succeed in crippling the national security. One apparent line of attack is to attempt to persuade Americans that communism is not, and never has been, a serious threat to the United States. "Collins added that "This propaganda is considered by the American Legion to be as dangerous as it is untrue," and that ".... With Hutchins at the helm the fund is tending... toward elimination of restrictions on those who seek to destroy our freedoms.'"

New York Mirror, September 12, 1955 The Washington Post and Times Herald, September 12, 1955

On October 9, 1955, the national executive committee of The American Legion accepted a report severely critical of The Fund for the Republic. According to an Associated Press article of October 10, 1955, a summary of this report drawn up by the Legion's publications commission, said the Fund "has been spending its money largely on projects and individuals which have definite left-wing biases." Regarding Hutchins, the summary states that he "has never at any time shown the slightest interest in, or concern over, Communist subversion.... The summary points out that "Nowhere in any project or activity of the Fund is there a hint that the objectives of Communists include the destruction of all civil liberties.

Communists are treated merely as non-conformists, not as conspirators."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, October 10, 1955

In commenting upon this action by The American Legion, the Los Angeles Examiner stated:

"The root of the controversy is that the Legion is dedicated to Americanism and is vigorously anti-Communist, while the Fund for the Republic has been accused of coddling radicalism, of opposing congressional investigations into subversion and of discrediting the Federal security program."

"Behind the entire controversy lies a mortal conflict—conflict between 'liberals' who would tolerate Communists as an abused political party, and those who view Communism as an international conspiracy which seeks to subvert our Government.

"No one should deny that the second view is the right one."

Los Angeles Examiner, September 14, 1955

Despite this criticism, evidence that the Fund intends to continue its previous methods was shown, when on September 15, 1955, the board of directors of the Fund circulated a release defending its aims and work against The American Legion charges. The board stated in part that since its inception, it has regarded the sphere of the Fund as including the entire field of freedom and civil rights and has taken as its basic charter the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. This release also stated that from the beginning the board has held that the major factor affecting civil liberties today is the menace of Communism and Communist influence in this country. Coupled with this threat, according to this release, was the "grave danger" to civil liberties in methods that "may be used" to meet the threat.

This release of the Fund reaffirmed the board's faith in its purposes and completed projects.

Press Release of The Fund for the Republic, September 15, 1955

On October 6, 1955, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, speaking before the Northeast Council of Citizens Associations in Washington, D. C., warned delegates of an "'insidious movement' attempting to portray the Communist Party as a political party such as the Republican and Democrat." Rover said the movement has emanated through various facilities including The Fund for the Republic. He stated that he thinks that there is definitely an anti-Communist propaganda movement in the wind; and that in a recent Fund for the Republic statement, it was pretty clearly stated that the Communist Party was only a political party. Rover pointed out that the courts have ruled that the Communist Party is revolutionary.

The Washington Post and Times Herald, October 7, 1955

Russell Turner, a staff assistant to Fulton Lewis, Jr., produced an article regarding the Fund provocatively titled "Fund for Which Republic?" in which he stated that evidence, accumulated during the Fund's two and one half years of actual operation, shows conclusively that its true objectives are to convince gullibles that the domestic Communist menace is and always has been a myth, to stop any effective investigations of Red operations and influences, and to smother anti-Communism wherever it may crop up.

Turner asserted that the evidence is that it would

- 1. put an end to every form of personnel security program, in or out of government;
  - 2. have the country accept at face value the self-appraisal of the Communist Party, USA, as simply a domestic political movement, despite legislative, executive and judicial findings that it is a subversive conspiracy directed from Moscow and designed to overthrow our Government.

Human Events, Washington, D. C., September 24, 1955

"Investigate the Investigators"

On August 30, 1955, George Sokolsky referred to books, articles and other material distributed by The Fund for the Republic "... with the object of influencing public opinion." The list included such titles as Banned Books by Anne Lyon Haight, a special issue of the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, Government by Investigation by Alan Barth, et cetera.

Sokolsky stated that the list is all one-sided. "It is anti-FBI, anti-Congressional committees investigating subversives. Certainly any citizens can be anti-FBI and anti-Congressional committees. But the question arises: if rich corporations can set up tax-free foundations to propagate a particular point of view, is there not a possibility of limiting freedom of debate because no tax-free money is available for another point of view?"

George E. Sokolsky, Boston American, August 30, 1955

On September 24, 1955, he commented on the Report of The Fund for the Republic dated May 31, 1955, stating,"What this report of the Fund for the Republic indicates to me...is that the Fund, as an action organization, is attempting to use the $15,000,000 that the Ford Foundation has given it to take over the work of the Congressional committees and to smother all anti-Communist investigations and activities. If that is its intention, it will fail. If that is not its intention, why interfere with the Congressional committees?"

New York Journal American,
September 24, 1955

David Lawrence on August 23, 1955, stated that, judging from the annual report of The Fund for the Republic which had just been issued, it appeared that the organization was primarily interested in "investigating the investigators—the persons and institutions who recognize that a Communist conspiracy has existed in the United States and still exists."

Lawrence also alleged that The Fund for the Republic and its president, Robert M. Hutchins, are biased in their opinions and have made considerable effort to persuade others to follow the opinion of The Fund for the Republic.

New York Herald Tribune, August 23, 1955

No Solution to Security Problems

In August, 1955, Dorothy Thompson reviewed the report of The Fund for the Republic and criticized it strongly for offering no solution to its primary goal of advancing the understanding of civil liberties. Thompson said that the "squeamish" document exhibits a lack of both intellectual clarity and civil courage and that in this document the Fund has brought forth a "timid, rather pinkish mouse." While Dorothy Thompson stated that she had long doubted that congressional committees inquiring into the beliefs of individuals were an effective means of combating Communism, she had hoped that the Fund would suggest a more effective means of combating the chief enemy of civil liberties in this country and throughout the world while upholding the great traditions of Western society.

The Washington Post and Times Herald, August 26, 1955

Political and Propaganda Agency

Fulton Lewis, Jr., in a radio broadcast, May 22, 1955, stated that he had some interesting information on "the new activities of the highly-suspect-and-getting-more-so Fund for the Republic," which he felt would bear careful attention by his listeners "because this is a new kind of curve ball from the left wing." Lewis added that The Fund for the Republic had supported one questionable project after another, consistently. Lewis also stated that this was the organization that financed the circulation of Edward R. Murrow's one-hour "glorification" of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer after Oppenheimer's security clearance had been removed by the Atomic Energy Commission. Lewis also stated that The Fund for the Republic was distributing books to Federal judges and that in doing so was making an attempt at political and ideological lobbying and that this activity was being financed "by money that really belongs to you and me."

On June 8, 1955, George Sokolsky stated that The Fund for the Republic has been antagonistic to all congressional investigations and investigators, has teams all over the country ostensibly investigating the Communists but actually seeking to discover what active anti-Communists have been doing. He further pointed out that the Fund has also become engaged in the free distribution of books, pamphlets, newspaper articles, et cetera. One phase of political propaganda is the uninvited, unsolicited, unpaid for distribution of material on one side of a question with the object of influencing public opinion. He stated that the Fund has sent such material to clergymen, college presidents and Federal judges, among others.

New York Journal American, June 8, 1955

On July 21, 1955, Representative B. Carroll Reece reminded.

Congress that the Special Committee to Investigate Tax-Exempt Foundations had, during the Eighty-third Congress, Pexpressed regret of the entry of the Ford Foundation and its $15 million offspring into the field of civil liberties, which is in a disputed area already crowded with muddled liberals, pro-Communists, anti-anti-Communists, and designing pressure groupists, who scheme constantly to maintain a left-wing balance of power in America, by loudly shouting the phony civil-rights issue. Representative Reece further noted that the committee had denounced the expenditure of great sums of tax-exempt money in the political field by biased individuals whose public utterances brand them as wholly incompetent to conduct a fair and objective inquiry, or to make grants of money in the public interest.

Reprint from Congressional Record of speech by B. Carroll Reece in House of Representatives, July 21, 1955

Paul Harvey in his-radio broadcast of August 28, 1955, stated that he simply could not understand why The Fund for the Republic was "hiding behind the label non-political"... when everything they espouse and finance seems to parallel the political action of the PAC. Indeed, the Vice-President of the Fund for the Republic, W. H. Ferry was a top official of the CIO Political Action Committee in 1944 and 1945." According to Harvey, in following its pattern of opposing everybody who is sincerely concerned with our national security, the Fund "is loading its guns with your dollars... And aiming its guns... at the FBI and the American Legion."

An editorial in the Fort Lauderdale Daily News commented that "The American people are now having their pockets picked to finance propaganda that, to say the least, is soft on Communism and hard on anti-Communists. We're talking about that progeny of the Ford Foundation, the ironically-named Fund for the Republic." The editors ask, "Where do these academic southpaws get off by thinking they can use tax-exempt Ford millions to brainwash the American public? Under the law, foundations are granted their tax-exempt status to advance the public good—and that does not include partisan political activities. And despite the coy way they phrase the objectives of their 'studies' they ARE active in the field of politics."

Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) Daily News, September 3, 1955

On September 4, 1955, correspondent Walter Trohan reported that Representative August E. Johansen has suggested congressional scruting of the tax-exemption privileges of The Fund for the Republic after examining its official structure and projects. He charged the Fund with promoting leftist causes while pretending to defend civil rights. According to Trohan, Representative Johansen said that he is not concerned over the right of private groups, privately financed, to be active in alleged defense of civil liberties. He said he objects to apparent propaganda efforts, operating under the guise of defending liberties, receiving tax-exempt status, which means that the people are financing leftist causes. Trohan quotes Johansen as saying, "The fund report discloses certain current and projected activities clearly propagandist in character, including activities involving the utilization of the most modern and powerful media of communication, and mass opinion shaping before the fact finding has been undertaken."

Chicago Sunday Tribune, September 4, 1955

On October 6, 1955, Fulton Lewis, Jr., in his column remarked that the report issued by The Fund for the Republic confirmed the many suspicions that the basic "Hutchins-Ferry" intent is to eliminate any form of personnel security program. Lewis contrasted the objectivity of the Rockefeller Foundation with what he terms the "questionable and dubious" attitude of the Fund. According to him, most of the criticism of the Fund is based upon its attempts to prescribe the tenor of conclusions derived from studies made under its grants and to monitor them. He stated, "That constitutes an effort to lead and mold public opinion, not to promote thinking and discussion; its legitimacy is extremely dubious."

Similarity to Communist Party Program

General Comment

Certain commentators have indicated that material produced by

The Fund for the Republic has evidenced an amazing, if unwitting, similarity with the program of the Communist Party, USA.

Fulton Lewis, Jr. on October 5, 1955, stated that "The circuitous route chosen by the Fund to accomplish this aim is by attempting to persuade the American people that Communism is a legitimate, albeit heretical, political movement; and that any attempts to control the subversive conspiracy which Communism really is, constitute illegal and improper violations of the Constitution's guarantees of civil rights and liberties." Lewis concluded with the forceful observation that "The more I delve into this Fund for the Republic, the more amazed I am at the many similarities between its program and that of the Communist Party."

New York-Journal-American, October 5, 1955

An editorial in the Boston Post of August 25, 1955, stated that

Dr. Hutchins' Report of The Fund for the Republic, dated May 31, 1955, revealed that "his tender and sole concern seems to be for the civil rights' of members of the Communist Party and their fellow travelers." The article further stated that the Fund has spent $2,514,738 in five years to "advance" understanding of civil liberties," but all of the super-liberal doctor's projects concern "anti-anti-communism."

Boston Post, August 25, 1955

On October 3, 1955, Senator John W. Bricker addressed the annual convention of the American Bakers Association and assailed The Fund for the Republic. Bricker stated that the purpose of the Fund, instead of being objective as originally intended, is apparently to criticize those critical of Communism.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, October 4, 1955

The Daily Worker, an east coast Communist newspaper, in commenting upon the arrest of Max Weiss, a national leader of the Communist Party, USA, under the membership clause of the Smith Act, alleged that his "crime" was the type that "conveniently requires no evidence: membership, association, ideas," and quoted a statement by Dr. Robert Hutchins, president of The Fund for the Republic:

Think, what has happened of late to the great American principle that man is to be judged by what he does, not by what he thinks, not even by what he says, certainly not by what his relatives think or say or even by what they do, surely not by what his acquaintance or acquaintances of his acquaintances think say or do. "

Immediately following this statement the editorial says,

"To which might be added -- and certainly not by what paid perjurous informers claim he thinks or says!"

Excerpts which follow were taken from the Communist Party press showing the Party line on legislative and juridical matters in 1952 and 1955, upon which those identified with the activities of The Fund for the Republic have among them, also taken a stand on one or more of these facets.

"...if the McCarran and Communist Control Acts are upheld by the Supreme Court these acts 'will for the first time in American history outlaw a political party, tighten up measures for policing the labor movement, and lay the legal basis under certain circumstances to turn our country into a complete police state.'"

"A CRUSADE to restore the Bill of Rights was called for last week by the special conference of Communist Party leaders from all parts of the country. The conference stressed the goal of securing the invallidation of the McCarran Internal Security Act of 1950, now facing a U. S. Supreme Court test, and of its amended form, the Communist Control Act of 1954 under which Brownell is already prosecuting the first union."

Daily Worker, August 9, 1955

"Brownell and his Justice Department face a dilemma. They are determined to frame more and more Smith Act victims, and this they cannot do without the use of their discredited informers. And they cannot utilize these informers effectively unless they find some answer to the growing revulsion of the American people against these paid liars. Their solution to the dilemma is. Congressional 'investigations,' first challenged years ago...
In most cases these are illegal. Not only were they never authorized, they could not have been authorized even if Congress had so desired, because under the law, committees can hold hearings only for the purpose of formulating legislation or passing judgment on some pending legislation or appointment."

It was reliably reported that on October 5, 1955, a meeting was held at the Civil Rights Congress* headquarters, New York City, relative to the formation of a new group. This meeting was presided over by a New York Communist Party functionary, Sam Coleman, who stated that the new group would be an independent Party organization. The name tentatively selected for this group is Council for Protection of Personal Liberties and one of two major issues to be considered initially is "paid Government witnesses."

trial, are reported to have contacted Norman Thomas, a Socialist Party leader. Thomas is said to have agreed to help establish a defense committee and allegedly is negotiating with The Fund for the Republic to underwrite the defense of these individuals. However, Party leaders were reportedly of the opinion that the Fund would not furnish funds.

"Touth Monds to know," on November N7, 1855, Among various cusations colled, Carper was asked if Release furthing resigned would the American Section take the Fund off of the plack link, and that the topics had no black link and that the contegonism of the Topics toward the Fund was not directed at furthing himself but was directed at the cettivities of the Fund under Extension. As an example of these cetivities, he stated, the Fund says that formulated is a philosophy whereas the American Legion believed to is a conspired and a danger to our country, (Kens M.A.Jones to Michalo, 11/23/25)

In enguer to the criticism proviously made by Cosborn P. Collins, former Lational Commander of the American Legion in September, 1858, the Fund placed a 1-page advertisement in the Incomber, 1858, tooms of the American Legion tagantae. The Fund otates that Collins had been misinformed afout the purposes and program of the Fund, which they claim encompages the cotine field of fracdem and civil rights. Lewis in his column of Cepterhor 13, ICSS, gaid that by and large the individuals who combrol the Fund and direct its operations are as fine a collection of "ultra-liberals, sutricht leftists, and applicates for Communical as ever could be cathered under one tent.

To stated further, "I am continued to to ottempting to ordate a public opinion forwardle to repeal of statutory provisions for any and all forms of percental ecounity programs, in or out of the Covernments that, as a procedent to enditioning the public to that opinion, it is trying to call the field that there never has been any demostic Communist threat, that the theory named thing is a mathy, that it choose in tota the theory that the Communist marty, that it choose in tota the theory that the Communist marty, that, is a logisticate political movement rather than the foreign directed subversity compliance which the read, the Resourted Pranch, and the Courte have hald to be." (ICC-TOICEY-ICE)

In his column of Bouchtor 16, 1930, Limia stated that the Yand and its officers are perfied on the accres, and justifichly so: their the ecompt status and criticism from liberals the normally could be expected to side with the Fund. Levis abled that these concerns are believed the real explanation for a Freez Conference regarding the surposes and activities of the Fund held by Dutchins, its president, on Freezenter 7, 1886. According to Levis, the though of these obstituies of the fund that he proposed to descriptive through the program that the threat of Communication the United Cistes to a myth, and that he intended to "explede" that myth. (9484-2189-252)

Ch December 9, ICEC, Icuia Ciscussed on his bracecast the costs involved in fund-raising activities of various charitable organizations. To then chalused the Fund's finguetal statement as not out in its Jay 31, ICEC, cannual report, witch otated it cost the Fund 3.0 certs on the collar to raise funds. Lewis cided, hemover, that the Fund had initially received $15,000,000 and, therefore, it had no fund-raising costs. In then edd that the Fund gave out $1,000,000 in grants with edministrative costs amounting to $650,000. Touts concluded, therefore, that using these figures as legitimate cost, the Fund had spent 35 cents for every dollar williced. This, he cald, reflected poor chainstration and on the executive ability of foul Foffman, Chairman of the Fourd of the Fund. (94-4-2189-249)

Louis, in his broadcach of Decamber 29, proted that the Louis Committee an Un-American Activities (1934) investigation concerning the Fund was not a encor and would be directed to determine whether the Fund was a legitimate tox-except institution or a political prophyanda subjit. He eath if the Fund was "elem" it had nothing to fear. The only thing the Fund has to fear, Lewis said, was justed. He added that he doubted whether the 1834 had broad enough juricationies to investigate the Fund since the meation of the exception was actually a matter for the layer and Louis Sentitives. Lewis suggested that the proposed investigation night be headled jointly by the 1834 and the Rays and Response Constitute. (94-4-2189)

In his broadcast of lecember 23, 1885, Lewis stated that a group of individuals interested in the defence of Enith Act cubjects, particularly with reference to the forthcoming trials in Pittsturyh, are trying to obtain a staff of big-named lawyers and are trying to gather evidence and tendinony to show that the Communist largy does not present a clear and present danger to the U.S. This group, says Lewis, is trying to get advance information from the fund on to the results of the lund's various studies in order to support that claim. This group, Lewis indicated, claims that they have received some encouragement from the Fund. (94-4-2189)

 Cearca Sakalaku

Enhalsky, in his column of Captanter Ld, 1855, said that "the Fund, as an action organization, is attempting to use the $15,0 ),900 that the Ford Foundation has given it to take over the work of the Congressional committees and to enother all anti-Communist investigations and activities." (9/24/55 teams of "Fuchington Post and Times-Escald")

In his October II, 1005, column, Cakalaky said that the Ford Foundation has in recent manths taken a possition attitude toward its off-spring, the Fund for the Republic. He said that "privately the directors of the Ford Foundation denounce the Fund for the Republic; it is impossible to get anyone to be responsible for a public statement along the lines of the private conversations." (10/11/55 topic "Low Fork Journal-American")

Cokolaky, in his braddenst Tetober 16, 1555, was oritical of the Fund and its various projects. To atated that most of the fund and its various projects. To atated that most of the fund to care has been on what he regards as "left-wing" projects. The also charged that the Fund was engaged in political activities. (62-89885-118)

Corre Ford II V

In December 7, 1955, Henry Ford II made public a letter in which he stated he feels that some actions of the Fund for the Lepublic "have been dubious in character and inevitably have led to charges of poor judgment." Ford raid he questioned Fund activities "as a private citizen" and added, "what effect my comments may have remains to be seen." Ford wrote "neither I nor cay of the other trustees of the Foundation has a voice in the Fund's activities or projects. We have no central over the colection of personnel for the Fund's staff." (12-0-55-West Tork Herald-Fribune," "West Tork Laily News," "Mashington News," "Wachington Star"; 100-501007-4)

It is noted that Ford's letter was previously quoted by Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his proceeds of December C, 1955. Lewis then stated that the Fund is now left as an independent on attached propagands fund without prospect of any financing from the Ford Foundation, nanotheless congerous, but at least not carrying the dignity and prooting of the Ford name. (94-4-2189)

With regard to Ford's letter, Raul Kofficen, Loard Chairman of the Fund, on December 9, 1955, defended the Fund against Ford's criticism. Loffman said "anyone who will review the record of the Fund for the Republic will agree it has made important contributions through educational mesno." (100+ 501607-A: 10/9/55, "Fachington Fast and Times-Jorald")

J. Addington Fagner, National Commander of the American Legion, referring to Ford's critical letter stated on December 8, 1855, that it "strikes a reasouring note for every American who is concerned about the Nation's cocurity." Le added, "we chall, of course, continue to criticize the Fund for the Depublic so long so its activities and the empressed philosophy of its managers reflects a lack of concern for either the integrity of our governmental institutions or the immediate and present danger of the Communist constract." (100-301007-A; 10/0/55 "Sushington Fast and Times-Deraid")

Chairman Francis E. Vulter of the House Committee on En-American Activities stated "it is gratifying to learn that Henry Ford to finally disturbed by came of the activities of the Fund for the Espublic...current investigations by the Committee on Un-American Activities will undoubtedly disturb Ur. Ford even more by disclosing evidence to the that the Fund deliborately intends to obstruct all investigation and control of the Communist conspirate and to strongthen thereby the forces bent on the overthrow of this nation and its institutions.

Folter eath that Ford's statement was "not carriaing when one considers that the Fund regards the Communist Farty... as a were 'political party' and those who lend strength to the Communist machinations are guilty of nothing were than conscientious non-conformity." Such "shocking pronouncements" he said. "... have already disturbed millions of Americans who have long realized that the Communists themselves cosk to disarm the unwary by terming the Communists conspiracy a 'political party." ### Mercallenerun;

Inving Forman of the Cachington, D. C., office of the American Civil Liberties Union advised the Lureau on Datober O, 1955, that he had point considerable time during the previous week with Elmo Loper, member of the Loard of Directors of the Fund, and Louis Carris, his partner who is active in the Fund. Both Loper and Carris agree that the Fund was engaged in political activities rather than in pioneering activities not done by other poorle. Both agreed that Eutchins and Ferry (W. N. Ferry, Vice President of the Fund) have missed the beat on the kind of ctudies that should be made by the Fund and the nature of these studies. Doth have been greatly worried by the Fulton Lewis broadcasts and they have checked up on certain things that Louis has said (not specified) and found then to be true. Marris also told Ferman that the Fund will not investigate the FDI; that there is general tritiation by the Board of Directors of the Fund against Eutchins, its President. (120-891007-220)

The Doard of Directors of the California Republican Accembly (CRA) on Cotober 3, 1955, commanded a Congressional investigation of the Fund, stating that "the CRA is opposed to allowing tax-free foundations to disseminate politically-classed propagands which could undermine the American system. (199-301607-200) ("Los Engeles Examiner," 19/10/55)

The Detober 14, 1955, issue of the "New York Journaldecrican" contained an editorial entitled "Two End Ones," which etated that there were two shocking instances in the news the previous day illustrating how funds and foundations, professedly formed for the good of the nation, can by studitty and blindness lose the faith of the American people. The editorial cited as one emaple the Fund's hiring of Anos Landman, who took the Fifth Amendment repeatedly when questioned about his Communist detivities.
According to the editorial, W. U. Ferry, Yund Vice President, made one of the most revealing statements of anti-anti-Communist logic when he stated that Landman was hired on a temporary per died basis and the fact that he took the Fifth Amendment was not reason enough to bar his employment. The editorial stated, what matters is "that the Fund hired a man who crawled behind the Fifth Amendment on a matter of vital interest to this country."

The other incident referred to in the above editorial that the tire tarring of a jury room at Vichita, Kansas, by faculty tembers of the Chicago University Law School, financed by the Ford Foundation. The editorial claimed that this was again an example of more anti-anti-Communist thirting. (199-291 COT-A) Former Representative Fred A. Martley, head of "The National Light to Nork Connittee" on Kousmber 1, 1985, challenged the Fund to include "compularly unionica" in its civil liberties inventing gation. Martley gaid that any civil rights inquiry is meaningless unless it includes "the threat to the liberties and rights of the individual which are involved in forcing a man to join a union in order to hold a job." Eartley taid that the failure of the Fund to look into this nation has convinced him that its investigation "is a chan and a fraud." Is added that the Fund's inquiry "is leaded and anything which cames out of it is succeed." (100-001037-4; Eathington City Levo Cervice, 11/1/05, "Laily Tarker," 11/7/00)

In Movember 17, 1855, Lay Cohn, former thiof Councel to the Conate Investigating Subject title, stated that the day of investigations of Communicat subversion in the United States is gone and is all but deed. He charged that the Ford Foundation had given "unrivalled assistance to the cause of Communica in this country," and that "the most revolving part of the whole picture is the vilence of Henry Ford II and his colleagues, who are responsible for the creation of this menuter." (130-391637-A; Eschington City Keps Lorvice, 1143/55)

Tenator Joseph R. EcCarthy in a speech on Lecomber S, 1855, before the Certain Intermediated, Chicago, Illinois, attacked the Fund on a "vicious anti-anti-Communist propaganda machine." LeCarthy said that he was subruged that the Covernment, through tan ecomption for foundations, is "subsidiating this brasen compaign to belittle the Communist penace and undermine our coefficient," (109-501007-A;)(12/6/CS, "fachington Post and Times-Terald")

John O'Ponnell in his column on December 2, 1830, stated that the whole Euchine operation and the fund for the Depublic gives off a "Red stanch" at its worse and a pinke perfuse at its best." (183-3016378)/12/25, "Red York Paily Reps")

According to the December G, 1955, "New York Jewrnal American," Arastic changes in the setup of the Fund appear imminest. The Deard of Trustees of the Ford Feundation, which appears the Fund, was scheduled to meet Lecember Q, 1955, with the chief topic scheduled to be the operations and allocations of the Fund. A very important figure (unidentified) in the Ford Foundation said: "To are going to do scheduled in this matter, (199-501097-A)

David Lawrence

David Lawrence in his column 1/5/56; stated that the Fund has an opportunity to redeem itself and meet the arguments of its critics that it has been using funds other than for purposes of educating the public on principles of American Government. He stated that heretofore the Fund has spent its money on projects and the distribution of books and pamphlets to minimize the communist menace and to show that the CP is merely a political party and not a conspiracy to destroy this country. (15-56 WMM) for

Lawrence stated that the Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has been investigating the whole internal security problem in this country and has published a 100-page "Handbook for Americans." This handbook explains how the CP works and points out that the party is a "Russian-inspired, Moscow-dominated, anti-American, quasi-military conspiracy against our Government, our ideals and our freedoms." If the Fund wishes to prove its impartiality and disinterestedness, Lawrence said, it can send the above-named booklet to every school, teacher, clergyman, writer and civic and fraternal organization in this country. (1-5-56, "Tashington Star," 100-391697-A)

Lawrence's suggestion was endorsed by an editorial appearing in the 1/16/56, issue of the "New York Daily News." The same newspaper carried an editorial in its 3/19/56, issue which stated that one of its readers saw the previous editorial and wrote the Fund inquiring whether such a distribution would be made. In reply the Fund wrote: "The report 1... was considered for inclusion in a recent authorization by our directors for the distribution of various publications in the area of civil rights and civil liberties. It was decided that a distribution of the report would not be undertaken by the Fund." The editorial stated that no explanation was given by the Fund and maybe there isn't any explanation that the Fund's directors would care, or dare, to make public. (100-391697-1)

Fulton Louis, Jr.

In December, 1955, Fulton Lewis, Jr., made available to the public a booklat containing pertinent portions of his broadcasts during the period August 22, 1955, through October 20, 1955, concerning the Fund for the Republic. This booklet contains Lewis critical comments against the Fund. In addition, it identifies the directors, officers and staff of the Fund. (100-391697-327)

Levis devoted a portion of his program on 2/21/56, to a discussion of a verbal release by Senator Thomas G. Hennings speaking on behalf of his Subcommittee to Investigate Constitutional Rights. Lewis noted that the Hennings Committee had the backing of the Fund and that Hennings comments were strictly according to the "party line" of the Fund. He stated that Senator Hennings told the committee that the greatest danger of croston of the First Amendment was had be found in the various Government loyalty and security programs. He then went on to mention further the cutle of these programs and the use of faceless informers. (94-4-2109-292)

On his 3/2/56, broadcast Lowis stated that Menry Ford, II, had recently been more critical than over of the Fund. This criticism was leveled by Ford in a letter dated the previous week, which was in reply to a letter from Senator Styles Bridges who had written to Ford on another matter. The Senator had commented that he was one of many who had been greatly disturbed by the activities of the Fund; that he felt the Fund, with particular reference to the Freedom Agenda Program, had done irreparable harm. Senator Dridges called upon Ford to give careful consideration before allotting more money to undertakings of this character.

Lewis stated that in his reply to the Senator; Ford stated that he had gone on record by stating that the organization (Fund for the Republic) has exercised activities which have been dubious in character and which have inevitably led to charges of poor judgment. Ford pointed out, however, that the organization was independent of the Ford Foundation, and he had voiced his objections to its activities as a private citizen, but apparently his comments had had no effect whatsoever.

Lewis concluded by saying that a sizable group of Republicans and Democrats in the Senate were planning an organized demand of the Conmissioner of Internal Revenue that the Fund be removed from the tax-free list because of its activities in politics and propagated which are forbidden by law. #### American Legion

J. Addington Nagner, National Commander of the American

Legion spoke at a public gathering at Los Angeles, California, on 1/3/56, on the subject of security and the threat of communism in the United States. Is then criticized the Fund for being among those who advacate that a person who pleads the Fifth Amendment should not be suspected of wrong-doing; that he should in some instances be commended for it. Vagner commented further that the Fund's projects are not designated to promote the common good; that they are those which cannot help but gladden the hearts of the remaining members of the GP of the U. S. A., and of their Russian masters. Vagner was critical of the Fund for advocating that the GP was a "political party" and not a menace to the United States. He acked that objectionable activities of the Fund present a "most serious threat to America's success in the life and death struggle with communion." He declared the Fund to be an "aid and comfort to the enany." (100-391697-219)

Nacrican Legion at New York City on 2/18/53, renewed his attack against Lutchins, as one who refuses to see communism "as a real and present danger to America." Vagner urged that Congress examina the activities of the Fund "praliminary to determining whether its tax-free status is in the best interests of the people and the Government of the United States." He stated further that "the American Legion coes not balieve that the Fund has acted in the best interests of the guidance of Eutchins." ("Cou York Daily Kews," 2/19/56; 100-301697-4)

Lagner in a speach B/BD/56, before a group of American Legion renabilitation and service officers in the Statler Notel, at Mashington, D. G., attacked the Fund and stated that the Fund attributes the real danger to the nation and its freedom to those who fight communism and not to communism itself. ###  Ktacellangous

The January, 1956, isoue of the "American Hereury" magazine contains an article entitled "Where is the Liberty' in Civil Liberties," written by Earold Lord Varney. The author criticizes the Fund as being one of the organizations engaged in professional civil liberties agitation today. He claimed that when the Fund's "pied pipers ask is us to crueces with them for 'liberty,' they are not talking about liberty under the accepted interpretation of the Bill of Rights. They are proposing a 'new look' bill of Rights which has been twisted and contacted by the ideologies of its proposers to include pratection of subversive and subversion. They are waging a politically-notivated campaign of civil liberties whose primary potivity is the smearing and the discrediting of the nations anticommunists."

The cuthor further charged that Lutchins has located his generously-endowed projects with shiping operations against the anticommunists. He added that the Fund is unmistakably biased-biased in favor of those who have given aid, wittingly or unwittingly, to the communist conspiracy in America and biased against proven effective criticommunists.

PART Y

(April 1, 1936, to June 30, 1936)

On 12-16-55 Lella V. Dadi, admitted former Communist Party member, eduted our Lew lork Office that the was plutning le al action against Nichard A. Novere, Harper and Prothers Fublic ing Company, and the Find for the Republic. The explained that the May, 1955, issue of "Marpers' Laguagine" published an erticle by Novere entitled "The Kept Vitnessea," which, away others, made reference to her. The added that on 6-12-55 she addressed a letter to the publishing company pointing out that the article was libelous and wanted a retraction; however, the was defied a retraction. The suppagaintly learned that the Fund had distributed PS, DOS copies of this article and as a result the plane to carry out her site (100-0051-109)

Eureau files failed to reflect that any further dotion has been taken by lodd in this matter. However, the New York Divinion advised on C-22-55 that a search of the records of the United States District Court, Louthern District of New York, reflects no sich suit. File number 7654 in the Office of the Clerk, New York State Courtered Court, reflects only two notices of appearance filed by the defendants on C-20-56 in this matter. No complaint papers have get been filed by Dodd. In addition the 6-7-56 issue of the "New York Forld Telegram and Sun" reports that Dodd is accepting $150,000 Canages in a suit against the Find and E-reer and Erathers Publishing Campany for alleged libel in Bouere's article.

Fulton Lewis, Jr., stated on his broadcast C+10-56 that he had it in good authority that the fund, itself, originated the idea of Covere's article, had the article written and when it was subsequently published in Marpera Lagazine, it obtained 25,000 reprints of the article and distributed them to the public. (04-4-2109)

According to the 4-4-56 tonue of the "National Review" the Fund was reduked by the "pectal Committee on Committee Tactica, Strategy and Objectives of the American Bar Association for the (unaccepted) grant of $5,000 to the Plymouth Resting, Fennsylvania, library to make possible the employment of Urb. Mary Knowles, who has refused to testify before a Congressional committee regarding her Committee Party record. It is noted that the grant was made by the Fund to the library in June, 1955, for its "cours cous and effective defending of democratic prohotyles" in refusing to fire Eary Encules. (190-391697)

Regarding the above, Filton Lests, In. stated on his broadcast 4-30-56 that the Cenate had voted to cita Bro. Knowles for contempt in that she had refused to answer questions about commiss before a Congressional committee. According to Lests -all the pertinent papers are being sent to the Department of Justice. (04-4-2160-200)

An editorial asperring in the CO17-56 issue of the "Chicago Tribune," and entitled "Low Tree Are You Feeling Today?" stated that when the NCUA opens its investigation of the Fund for the Republic "we hope that the committee will not overlook the mysterious incident of the matchbooks." The editorial states that the Fund, according to Fussell Kirk of the "Fitti nal Coview" magazine, was now passing out free matchbooks imprinted with the legend "Feel Free." The editorial states, this suggests that somebody in the Chitch States doesn't feel free; that Ir. Hutchins, President of the Fund, senses a compiracy a sinst the exercise of the unfettered mind and valiantly meets the challenge by passing out matchbooks with a reasonating word to all passers-by.

This editorial states that the MCDA should question Eutonine about this quaint excursion into propagands and group psychology. (100-391657-A)

The G-TD-55 issue of the "New York Daily New" contained on article entitled "Don't Forget FTD, Though," stating that although the HON hearing on the Fund for the Depublic has been postponed indefinitel;, the Fund atill needs a public airing and the HON is the preper group to tackle that job. The cittorial asserts that the find has some some highly questionable things including the promotion of its notice that the T. S. Communist Party is just another political novement instead of the criminal conspiracy that it is. (100-30167-A)

CRITICISM OF THE FER ( July 1, 1956 to September 30, 1956)

An article appearing in the June 27, 1956, issue of "The Lowdown" stated that Cobert M. Mutchins, President of the Fund, has just released a study (unidentified but apparently referring to the Fund's "Three-Year Report") which indicates that "that worthy gentleman believes every communist has the moral and legal right to try to everthrow America, but that good, loyal Americans haven't the right to fight back." The article adds, "summed up, that is the philosophy that Mr. Mutchins is trying to sell the American people." It is noted that "The Lowdown" is a news letter on farm affairs published by the Eashington News Syndicate, Tashington, D.C. (100-391697-A)

J. Addington Eagner, then National Commander of the American Legion, advised the Dureau on 8-1-56 that the American Legion will prepare a nonograph with appropriate documentations to reflect a true plature of the Legion's fight against the Fund. It will then be issued to all rank and file members at their next national convention and will serve in the future as a "bible" for Legionnaires. (100-391697-412)

The American Legion at its August, 1956, Illinois State Convention passed a resolution charging that Robert M. Rutchins, President of the Fund, was unsuited for the responsibility of directing the activities of the Fund and that he has been "trying to propagandize Americans into believing that communism never has been and is not now a serious danger to this country." Another resolution suggested that the Subversive Activities Control Board hold hearings on the Fund and inquire as to why the Fund should not register with the Attorney General. ("Chicago Laily News," August 2, 1956) (100-391697-4)

On 9-23-56, F.C. Daniel, Kattonal Commander of the American Legion, stated on a television program that the Fund "promotes the communist conspiracy in this country by being anti-anti-communist." Daniel added "we've never accused the Fund for the Republic as being a communist organization or even of being dominated by communists." But as an "anti-anti-communist organization," he said, "it certainly would lend itself to the spread of communist propaganda." (New York Daily News," 9-24-56, 100-391697-4)

(October 1, 1956 to December 31, 1956)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his radio broadcast of 10-11-56, stated that in the current issue of Colliers magazine, there is an article by Paul G. Hoffman, a director of the Fund. The article, entitled "How Eisenhower Saved the Republican Party," reports that President Eisenhower had completely reconstructed the Republican Party and had thrown out the previous Republican conceptions and had revamped the Party along the lines believed by Hoffman to be an improvement. Hr. Lewis said that this was little recommendation from one such as Hoffman. Lewis pointed out that Hoffman described in his article, a "splinter group" which consistently resisted the aims of the Party and suggested that these men should be persona non grata in the Party.

Ur. Lewis criticized Hoffman's views and added that this article will not sit well with the members of the Republican Party and that it comes from a "character" who has been shoved down the throats of Americans by President Eisenhower when he named Hoffman as a representative to the United Nations. (94-4-2189-344)

Ur. Lewis, in his broadcast on 10-12-56, again discussed the article by Paul Hoffman appearing in Colliers magazine. He said that it would be interesting to know who wrote the article for Hoffman because he was sure that Hoffman had not written it himself. Lewis stated that he suspected the ghost writer to be none other than "his very left, very pink little shadow in the Fund for the Republic, W. H. Ferry." Mr. Lewis also stated that it might be constructive for the Senate Campaign Investigating Committee to begin asking some questions. He continued that if his guess was right, it definitely ties the Fund for the Republic into political activity and would void its tax-exempt status. Mr. Lewis concluded by stating that it is the height of impropriety for the Fund to put forth this article. (94-4-2169-345)

Additional criticisms against the Fund for the Republic can be found in other portions of this memorandum.

(January, 1, 1957, to Karch 31, 1957)

The December, 1956, issue of "The Citizens' Council," official paper of the Citizens Councils of America, Jackson, Niceissippi, contained a one-page article highly critical of the Fund for the Republic. The article states that the Fund was allegedly established to "defend and advance the principles of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution," however, the Fund is a partisan supporter of the "Leftwing" with all that name applica. According to the article, the Fund's immediate interest is simply (a) to promote integration of the colored and white races, and (b) to attack and attempt to discredit Congressional investigating committees, the FBI, the American Legion, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and similar patriotic organizations -- in a word, "to promote anti-anti-Communica."

Referring to the Jund's "Three-Year Report," released by the Jund during June, 1956, the article states that the report provides a veritable blueprint of the pattern of psychological warfare that is being waged against the South with an intensity that staggers the imagination of those who are deeply and seriously concerned about the future of our Southland and of our country. The article specifically refers to the Fund's grants to the Southern Regional Council, the American Friends Service Committee, the MACP and other organizations for continued studies and work is the field of integration and economic conditions among the ninority groups. Article concludes by asking, the Fund for (which) Republic?"

According to an article in the 2/10/57 "Washington Post and Times Herald," Representative Francis E. Walter, chairman of the HOWA stated in a foreword to the Committee's report for the year 1956, released on 2/9/57, that "the danger of communism is increasing, not receding." In this connection, he added that some of the practices of the Fund for the Republic, an "educational" foundation, have provided great "aid and comfort to the Communist apparatus, particularly in the vital area of mass communications and entertainment."

Regarding the above, the crticle noted that Elmo Roper, the Fund's board chairma, described Talter's charges as "fantastic." He wired Walter that releasing such statements was "incredible" in view of the fact that Walter has repeatedly denied the Fund the right to be heard. (100-391697-A)

PART P

CHITICICAL OF THE FUND (July 1 to Deptember 23, 1957)

Fulton Louis, Jr., in his syndicated column 7/10/27 ctated that the Fill "is making a blatant attempt to gloss over its maledorous past by declaiming loudly that it is shifting the approach to a defense of American civil liberties."

Lewis stated that "Sefending civil liberties" is broad language and can cover a multitude of sine, such as claiming there is nothing wrong with being a communist and that no stigma should be attacked to those who invoke the Fifth Amendment rather than answer questions about subversive associations.

Lewis quoted a statement of the F-A which indicated that the directors and officers of the Fund had concluded that their fundamental problem use not in the "ill-cheervance" of the U. A. tests (Constitution, Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence) but rather in the great changes in the directored and institutions of the American people, which have rendered the application of those tests to contemporary affairs as confusing and difficult a task. Lewis stated this is in explanation of the FRMs designation of "ten distinguished Americans" as consultants "to confuse an extensive inquiry in the basic issues of individual fractor and civil liberty in the U.C.," the pecuing of which is also a master, according to Lewis.

Louis also stated that the Fund has made no apology for its past mistakes but hopes they will be forgation by the public. Regarding these past mistakes Louis stated as follows:

"For instance, the Fund has nover quite subtered the cumption to exatt error in the unaquary Lary Knowles case and to got the Plymouth Lonthly Lecting, near Philadelphia, to return the CO,000 the Fund tried to 'abard' it for amploying the Fifth Amendment librarian.

"It was this and other equally-deplorable activities that brought the tax-free $15,000,000 Fund into the general disrepute from which it presently is traing to recover -- activities such as publication of its midleading bibliography of pritings on Communion, its slanded study of government personnel accurity proceedings, its financial contributions to the defence of individuals defying the orderly processes of government ment.

"As happened in so many other matters involving the fund, the slow unravelling of the full facts in the Lary Enomics case is putting it in even a worse light than appeared originally.

"The Fund plucys has tried to make it appear, for example, that Mrs. Knowles was fired by the Morrell Library, in Morroad, Mass., because she refused to answer questions when she appeared before the Cepate Internal Cocurity Cubecamittee in May, 1953.

"Firing her for that reason would have been fully justified. But the minutes of the Library's Board of Trustees show that the real reason for her firing was that she refused to tell the Trustees whether she was then a Communist. The minutes of Kay 9 and June 1, 1959, make clear that she was given every opportunity to clear hercelf with a simple statement, and that her discharge was voted only after high-handed and cavalier refusal.

Activities Committee held hearings a year ago on the Fund's $5,000 'award' to Plymouth Leating for hiring and retaining Ure. Knowles, the defence indulged in deliberate migreprosentation. Critical and highly pertinent portions of a letter from Ure. Knowles former superior at Lorwed, for instance, were omitted from the text submitted to the committee.

"The 15.000 has been held in cerron for two years because Plynouth Lecting refuses to accopt it. Actually, the overchelaing majority of numbers of that sucker group would like to got rid of Live. Encoles. But their library is run by a separate leard of Trustees heavily located with 'liberals' who insist otherwise

"The fact that the Find made its scard to the cream body is indicative of the scant, injury it made to determine the facts in the Lary Knowles case, so well so its alip-shed operations generally. Esthing indicates they have improved." (103-231007-4)

(Cot. 1, to Doc. Ul, 1957)

The "Tankington Post and Times Herald" of Votober 12, 1957, pg. A-13 carried an article by George L. Sokolsky which ridiculed the FIN's Pasic Issues Frogram as set forth in the Funds pumphlet entitled "The Free Lociety."

Tokolsky stated that "Cuch a study is corthwhile, no matter by whom it is made. The results, the conclusions, the decisions reached may be of value or not; depending upon the capabilities and integrity of those making the study and the correctness of the reporting of their discussions."

Lokoleky related some of the questions which the fund's program proposed to study and stated that, "They may be among the important issues of the moment, although it would some that they might be trivial compared with the realistic danger to this Republic arising out of its conflict with the Loviet universal state.... It appears to me that a study by great minds of the causes of our failure to meet the Aussian attack upon us and our way of life would be more important than whether children attending parachial school should be kept off buses and prevented from receiving free orange juics."

Sokolsky further related the three functions of the Lonalttee of Lonaltants which are, "To think, to discuss and to publish." And the fund's statement that "The discussions of the consittee may become models of the rational decate essential to the democratic process...."

Legarding the function, "to think" Cokolsky commented, "This is indeed a novel task, for most of the thinking in this world was not done by behest but as a voluntary action by certain individuals who sould not avoid thinking. I wonder who told Aristotle that he should think."

Regarding the constitle's function, "to discuss! Sokolsky commented that, "discussion undoubtedly has produced some truth. Certainly the Canhedrin (supreme council of the Jews having religious, civil, and orininal jurisdiction) produced a volume of trutheas a result of discussion, tut....post of the criginal individuals...got their ideas out of their own heads."

Regarding "models for national Mebate," Sokolaky wrote, "there are many, including the debates in the Congress of the United States which have kept this country moving since we became a nation."

Sokoleky concluded his article with the following statements

"Anyhow, we are now to have an investigation, willians of dollars worth of investigation. Too bad that Foltaire is not alive to investigate the investigators, or to curse them for the poverty of their ideas, or Joe Eccarthy to haul them before his consisting to discover their foldles." ## MICARLEANIONS (September 10, 1955, to January I, 1956)

The board of directors of the California Republican Assembly ended its quarterly meeting at Los Angeles, California, on 10-9-55 by asking the Congress to investigate the Fund for the Republic. In making the request, the directors reported that the Assembly is "opposed to allowing tax-free foundations to disseminate politically slanted propaganda which could undertaine the American systems." [100-391637; [(10-10-55, New York Times]

According to the 10-10-55 issue of the "Lew York Times," the American Jewish League Against Communism, Inc., rejected a request for "cooperation" from the Fund. Coarge E. Cakelsky, the League's Frestient, said that they could not cooperate with the Fund because the League was cativised that the Fund was not investigating Communism without bias and that this bias can be described as "anti-anti-Communist." (100-301607-A)

Irving Fernan, Nashington representative of the American Civil Liberties Union, advised the Eureau on 10-10-55 that he had heard that the officers of the Fund were norried and upset, and that the Fulton Lewis broadcasts had a telling effect on them, Fernan stated that a story is going around to the effect that W. A. Ferry, Vice President of the Fund, is beaten down and is talking in terms of taking a long leave of absence and quietly bowing out. (1:0-331007-247)

The American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California held its 21st anniversary meeting at the Larine's Lemorial Togatre, Can Francisco, Galifornia, on 18-19-55. Euring a panel discussion on civil liberties in America, William Cotlent; who is studying the Subject for the Fund, attacked the Federal who is studying the Subject for the Fund, attacked the Federal Cecurity Program and said that he was astonished by the "incredit lack of substance" in charges that often are used to dismiss a Covernment employee. (10-19-55 "Can Francisco Leus")

The Fort Foundation announced on 10-20-25 that Lonald K. David, former dean of the Graduate School of Lusiness Administration at Maryard, voul assume his auties as Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Trustees of the Ford Foundation on 11-1-55. It was stated that Lavid has been a Trustee of the Ford Foundation since Lay, 1943.

*Prior to 0-10-55, information of a miscellaneous nature was included unrer other apply plate thin the captions previously set forth and is therefore being included under a separate category.

On 10-21-55 deorge Cokoloky called the Dureau and paid that he had talked to a Ur. Hoore, a publicity relations can for the Ford Hotor Campany, who said that David was appointed to the chairmonthip of the Evoqutive Committee of the Ford Foundation and was to devote full time toward destroying the Fund; knocking out the jury inquiries of the University of Chicago; and sorutinizing the activities of the Ford Foundation in an endeavor to rehabilitate it. (100-201007-250)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., on his 10-21-55 breadeast stated that he had been told by Lenator John W. Ericker that he, Dricker, had blacked a then recent proposal for the Fund to be given the responsibility of investigating the operations of the radio and television industry. The entire job of gathering the paterial for a subcommittee of Congress would be turned over exclusively to the Fund which would have the full responsibility of processing this material. Lewis stated that, had this deal gone through, the Fund would have been able to conduct the alleged studies under the cleak of a Congressional committee with the power of subposes and the full force of Congressional authority behind them. (96-4-2163-215)

Dill Dillon of the Durne Detective Agency, Eachington, D. C., advised the Dureau on 10-27-55 that their Now York and Vaghington, D. C., offices had received a contract from the Fund to check their plane lines. According to Villan, officers of the Fund are of the opinion that their phones have been tapped and they are extremely suspicious of the possibility that three or four newspapermen have caused this action to be taken. (100-301007-201)

Chairman Francis F. Valter stated on 11-03-55 that his House Committee on Un-American Estivities is investigating the Fund and will open hearings soon after Congress reconvenes in January. Mr. Folter ead that the investigators began checking after the Fund, in its 1956 annual report, "criticized Congress for branding a political party on international complicacy." The Fund's criticism came, Mr. Falter daid, after Congress - in the Communist control bill - said the Communist Larty is part of an international conspiracy.

The Fund, in a statement issued 11-23-55 from its
New York headquarters, refterated it is "dedicated to advancing and defending the principles of the Devication of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights." (100-201004-A; 11+24-55 issue "The Evening Star," "Fashington City News Cervice," 11-23-55)

Fulton Louis, Jr., advised the Lureau on 18/6/55 that he has contacted a Villian O'Netll of Akron, Chio, who stated that he has been to Letroit, Michigan, the previous day on business. While in Latroit, considerable concern was expressed over Lewis's attacks on the Fund; that the Ford Motor Company was considerably upset and that they were leaving cales and getting . Tolse of critical natl. (186-201297; Mr. Wichols' memorantum to Mr. Tolsen 13/7/23)

Leen Racht, in his column appearing in the 12/10/55 issue of the "Lan Francisco Call Fulletin," a Lan Francisco nelapoper, commented on a recent "dubious" activity of the Fund. Lucht stated that a "guidance center" has been operating for soveral years in New Lachelle, sew York, under the directorship of Goodwin Ratson, a former federal communications commissioner who was fired after a congressional investigation in 1243 for "conduct intentionally destructive of/or ininical to the Lac" Facht added that the American Legion had subsequently exposed -absen as a pro-Immunist connected with numerous pro-Sounhist enterprises. The center refuded to fire daten and continued to receive support from the Larchmont and Cambrancek (County) Immunity Chasts.

According to Racht, the Sund for the Republic in October, 1889, offered 18000 to the Center in recognition of its support of Vatern. The Fund also offered 18000 to Earthment and 18000 to Ramoreneck County Community Chest. Racht added that it was an uncer-the-table-deal with no publicity. However, Guring the negotiations information leaked to the American Legion who turned on the Fund. The Fund then announced that it had "deferred the matter indefinitely."

Erring Forman (identified above) advised the Eurcau on 18/23/35 that the Fund for the Pepublic aurusy on blacklisting had been completed; that it takes a very vigorous stand against the extent of blacklisting, but the Fund is not afraid to release it.

Ferman stated further that he had recently seen Almo Moper (a member of the Fund's Peard) and that Roper indicated that he wanted to see Congressman Malter with Pean Friswold of Maruari University regarding the so-called Mouse Committee on Un-American Activities investigation of the Fund. He further told Ferman that the Foard of Trustees is becoming more and nore convinced that Mutchins is the wrong person for the job, and Ferman feels that they are pretty fed up with Mutchins. W. H. (Ping) Ferry, the Fund's Fide President, is on terminal leave at the present time, according to Ferman. (Nems, Michels to Rolson, 19/23/35, "Fund for the Lepublic.")

Francis E. Valter, Chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, announced an December 30, 1955, that his Committee will seen call Robert H. Autohins for testimony - probably in public - on the fund for the Depublic. Valter said that the Fund has maintained that the Communist Farty is a political group and has criticized Congress for branding it part of an international compiracy. "It is inconceivable," Valter told newmon, "that the heads of such an organization could be so naive as to believe that the Communist Party is a political party in the usual sense of the word."

Walter said that a staff incurry into the Fund question is already underway and that the Committee hearings will start after current investigation into alleged cubversion in the Lational Labor Relations Doard has been completed. Falter caid Lutchins will be asked how the criticism of Congress got into the Find's 1954 report. He said Lutchins' teatimony "probably" will be public, although no decision has been made on this. Walter told reporters the Committee is not investigating the Fund as such, but he said it wants to find out how it happened that the Fund took what Falter said has been a consistent line of the Comminists. (100-301007-A; Washington Hews Corvice 12/50/55)

Irving Ferman (previously described), advised the Dureau on December 17, 1955, that during the prestous week he had lunch with Al Virin, an attorney associated with the Los Angeles offiliate of the American Civil Libertian Union and Adam Yarmolinsky, the Washington representative of the Fund for the Republic, Wirin it appears, a cording to Ferman, to presently engaged in securing the services of preminent attorneys to join him in submitting a brief on behalf of the defendants in the Pittsburgh Smith Act case, whose convictions the Supreme Court has agreed to review. Virin requested the use of data being compiled by Professor Cossiter in his study of the Communist karty which is a Fund for the Republic project. The data which Wirin is interested in obtaining is that which would support the proposition that there is no clear and present or probable wanger of the Communist Party to the United States. Jarmolineky expressed doubts that Rossiter would permit the use of his naterial, whereupon Wirin advised that he had previously specia to Robert Laynard Eutchins and Rallock Loffman in California about the use of such naterial and they had expressed the thought that the use of such naterial could be effective and night be released through Resolver prematurely so that it could be used in the brief. Firin indicated he was going to pureue this matter further with both Eutching and Lallock Hoffman. (Eulet to AC 12/22/55; 100-8016077- 321)

HICCOLANNIES (January 1, 1956, to Farch 21, 1956)

Investigation of Find by Heuse Cornittee on Un-American Activities (HUJA)

Filton Lewis, Ir., advised the fureau on 1-4-56 that Congression Salter, Chairman of the MCJA, told him that Irving Ferman, contacted him to say that Elmo Roper and Dean Griswold wanted to talk to Walter about the proposed investigation of the Fund by the MCJA. Ferman told Walter that Roper and Griswold had came to the view that the Fund would have to get rid of Autohing because his presence was discrediting many of the good things of the Fund.

Valter further told Lowis that about ten days earlier he had received a letter from Bethuel Webster, counsel for the Fund, who wanted to talk to him about the investigation of the Fund. Walter concludes that they are trying to work some kind of a deal to avoid the investigation and to kill it.

Lowis said he is going to try to make this impossible.

Irving Ferman advised Mr. Michols in confidence on 1-5-56 that Elno Coper was in town on that date and he had arranged on appointment for Congressman Malter to talk with Roper. Congressman Walter immediately began talking about the procommunist position of Eutchins and Roper began presenting documents which showed that Eastchins had claimed that communical was an enemy of the United States. At that point, Fergan changed the attack and pointed out that the fund was utilizing tax-except funds for propaganda purposes. Salter than yave Roper a bad time on this nattor. Formen is now convinced that the only way the Fund can be proceeded against is on the basis of tax-exempt funds, and he believes Kalter will proceed in this direction. Roper confided that the Board of Directors of the fund was in complete chaos and that three manbers wanted to get out; that the general counsel, fothual Vebster, wanted to leave and Faul Hoffman wanted to find a way of giving the money away and quitting and that Hoffman had called a neeting of the Board of Directors of the Fund for Saturday, 1-7-56. (memo Lichols to Tolson 1-8-58, 109-301607)

During his 1-12-56 broadcast, Fulton Levis, Ir., stated that the Fund was having internal trouble. He explained that at a poord of Directors meeting on 1-7-56 it was necessary to dissuade three directors (unnamed) from resigning. Criticism of the operations of the Fund was very severe at this meeting. Oddly enough, Lewis stated, the criticism was not so much about what the Fund has accomplished but related to the public relations side the manner in which projects had been presented to the public. Lewis noted that this was significant as either the members of the Board don't realize what is going on or are not taking the time to look beyond the gladorous and idealistic titles of the various Fund projects, and they are too "stupid and gullible" to note the real purpose and objectives of some of the projects of the Fund. (92-4-2169-272)

Kerl Baarslay, former investigator with the McCarthy Committee and presently connected with the HCUA, advised the Bureau on 1-12-56 that he is doing research on the Fund. Fulton Lewis' staff has given him considerable information thus for and the American Legion has indicated a willingness to cooperate. He added that nothing could be done concerning the hearings on the Fund until after Larch, 1956, when Congressmen Walter returned from Europe. (C1-7582-2942)

At a press conference on 1-16-56 at Seattle, Washington, Nutchins told reporters that the charges made against him and his associates at the Fund by the HCVA were "flimsy and unintelligible." He added, "I can't conceive of an investigation on grounds so flimsy." Autohins was asked about Representative Kalter's accusation that the Fund's annual report (May 31, 1955) referred to the Communist Party as a "political party" and criticized Congress for labeling it "part of an interactional conspiracy." Hutchins admitted that the report "in discussing another question" claimed in passing that the Communist Party is a "political party." He explained that the remark was nevely a passing reference. He denied emphatically that the report criticized Congress. (1-17-56, "Seattle Post Intelligencer," 100-391697-A)

Other Information

The October, 1955, issue of "The Virginian," a monthly "states" rights" paper published and circulated by The Virginia League, Newport News, Virginia, carried an article captioned "Left Fund Meddles in Virginia School Affairs."

According to the article the Yirginia Council on Human Relations (not further described) was organized in February, 1955, and was financed by "the infamous Fund for the Republic of the Ford Foundation." The article went on to state that it is well known that the Fund specializes in financing left-wing organizations and groups and had been denounced by the American Legion and on the floor of the United States Congress. (105-38960-18)

According to an informant who has furnished reliable information in the past, "The Virginia League" was formed in June, 1955, for the purpose of advocating segregation between the white and colored and the opposition to the Supreme Court ruling on integration in public schools. (105-35960-13, 18)

Went Investigation of the Fruit

The ETTE innounced on June 11, 1953, that it would open hearings June 27 to determine whether the Fund for the Capublic is "friend or foe" in the struggle against communism. Cammittee chairman Francis L. Calter caid that Congress should learn whether the Fund, which is supported by the Ford Foundation and enjoys tow immunity, is "serving an interest ininical to our basic traditions." Falter said that the Fund is financing a "number of activities" which have been criticized by members of Congress and patriotic organizations. (Vashington Post and Times Larald, 199-30167-4)

Rarl fourslag, a member of the MCLA's staff who is handling the investigation of the Fund, advised the Euredu on 5/14/50 that in connection with its hearings on the Fund. J. Addington Wagner of the American Legion will be the first witness called. Other witnesses will be Codfrey Schnidt, who will tastify concerning the Fund's blacklisting of individuals in the entertainment field:

James Lurnham, who is reportedly an authority on international communication. I. D. Lutthews and Francis Hallandra, who is director of Americanian for the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Ecoholog issued an invitation for former Assistant to the Director D. L. Ladi to testify concerning the ill effect that the survey on the loyalty-security program had on the general public, but Ladi declined.

Ladrelag and Chairman Fulter felt that after the above withespes have testified. Robert Eutchins will be so incensed that he will want to appear before the committee. The committee also plans to subporna Amos Landman, Earl Drowder and Alan Westin, will of whom have been used by the Fund in some capacity. (102-301697-379)

The 8/12/50 teams of the "Daily Worker" carried on article critical of LCUA's proposed investigation of the Fund, claiming that the only reason for the committee's existence is the "Led scare." According to the paper, the Jund is avouably anticommunist and for free and public political discussion. The Fund has not hesitated to make grants for the publishing of material that defends the Constitution of the United States. According to the article, the UCUA can continue to do grave damage to this country, and there should be a major effort to curb this committee. (103-301007-A)

J. Addington Esgner of the American Legion advised the Eureau on 0/10/50 that James O'Estil, publisher of the American Legion magazine, had discussed the proposed hearings on the Fund utti Chairman Falter of the ECUA, and that O'Estil at Kagner's instructions had pointed out the inadequacy of the committee's proparation to hold such hearings. Chairman Walter agreed and the hearings have been indefinitely postponed. (Long Michals to Tolson 0/19/50, 103+301097).

The Cashington City Tews Carvice carried on announcement on C/SD/SG that the ISTA had postponed the hearings on the Fund indefinitely. Committee Chairman Ealter said that the inquiry has not been abandoned, even though no new date was set. Se said preliminary staff work had gone slower than expected and that there was no pressure of any kind brought to pear on him. "It is just that a number of things have happened that prevented the staff from completing its inquiry," Falter said. Walter added that the delay was necessary to permit the staff to examine certain additional facets of the Fund's activities. A committee toward that that some of the new lines of inquiry appeared to be more premising than those on which the staff had worked previously. (103-801607-A)

On G/71/50 Etchard Arone, chief counsel for the HCUA, publicly announced that the committee's investigation of the Fund would not be held this year because of the July-Luguet political conventions and a Committee rule against holding hearings within 60 days of an election. Arens denied rumors that prospective witnesses had backed out. (Washington Post and Times Revald, 6/22/56, 100-391697-A)

The Fund's Three-year Report

According to the "New York Times," 6/62/56, the Fund made public on 6/21/56 a report on its first three years' operations. Nutchins reported that to date the Fund has spent $5,414,601 of the 15 million dollars given to it by the Ford Foundation. He said that the largest amount, about one-third, was spent to promote better race relations. Almost as much was spent to stimulate discussion of basic imerican documents on civil liberties. His report classified the Fund's work in these categories: to study communism in the United States, to work for equality before the law and equality of apportunity, to make the Bill of lights a living document, to maintain due process and the principles that underline it, and to maintain freedom of speech and belief. Rutchins said, "The Fund is studying communism in the United States in order to determine its influence, direct or indirect, on civil liberties. The Fund regards communism as a threat to civil liberties, but it was not organized solely to oppose communium; it was organized to study and disclose the facts about all threats to civil liberties, including communium."

Hutchins stressed the independence of individuals and groups making studies and reports for the Fund and receiving grants from the Fund. While the Fund vouches for the integrity of the authors of these reports, he added, it does not take responsibility for their selection of facts or the accuracy of their statements. He said any recommendations made were those of the receiptents of the grants.

The report indicated that the Fund's present trend was toward concentrating attention on race relations, especially by promoting a modern and biracial approach in the churches and in the Couthern Legional Council to the problem of docorregation in the South's public schools. Teligious organizations of various denominations have received $732,000 to promote better page relations. The Couthern Regional Council/Euccessive grants has received $445,000, the largest sum of money going to any single beneficiary.

According to the report, as of 5/1/56 the Fund had a balance of $10,826,145. Its three-year expenditures include $2,246,848 in grants, $1,710,724 in projects, $182,513 in program development and $1,274,056 in administrative expenses. It is noted that the Dureau has a copy of this report.

Fulton Lewis, Ir, stated on 6/21/56 that the fund has issued a report which he assumes is the annual report, civing a "rosy picture" of the fund's accomplishments. In this report Paul Defiman cays that the fund has "cought to do comething about the crosion of our another liberties, to work against racial discrimination; and to promote a wider understanding of our heritage of freedom and justice in developing a strong, enterprising America." Lewis cold that when translated into acts and accomplishments those words relate to a picture which is "sinisterly different." "It is, instead, a picture of planned attack and substage against the Federal Covernment loyalty-security program, against Congressional investigation into assumines and other subversive activities and a general organized effort in the field of rectal relations to follow the standard communist tactic of arousing racial strife and friction as a means of inflating trouble and disharmony on which to play for their own communist advantage."

Ather Information

on 4/24/56 Ure. Joyce Karnbluh, who identified herself as being with the Fund for the Republic, called and requested that she be furnished a quotation which the Director made in 1054. The stated that she desired this quotation to include in naterial on civil liberties being prepared by the Fund. The recalled that in 1050 or 1054 Mr. Hoover gave but some kind of a statement acking that information be reported to the FDI. A few weeks later, the understood, Ur. Trover gave out another protocomet decrying hystoria, and that this statement was picked up by the "New York Times." It was her understonding that the two statements were inconsistent, and that the second in effect retracted the first. The said that the second statement was an excellent quotation which she wanted to use. Turacy files are negative concerning Ure. Kornbluh. (100-301607-573)

The Los Angeles division advised the Eursau on 5/0/55 of having received information to the effect that the Eventieth Century for Studies had purchased the Abraham Chassinam story. (Chasanow, a Navy employee, was suspended on security charges and later reinstated with apologies from the Kavy.) Philip Dynne is preparing a story which is allegedly going to point out the fallacy of the Fersonnel Security Program, tased on a survey made by the Fund by Adam Tarmolinsky. Faul Jacoba, who is connected with the Fund and the American Civil Liberties Union, and Adam Tarmolinsky resortedly have been very active in collaborating with Lunne on the script. Dunne will attempt to obtain Navy approval of the script. (121-49153-94)

rulton Lewis, Jr. on his breadcast 5/10/56 etated that he verified the fact that Twentieth Century For bought the Chacanow story and planned to make a picture, but that the studio dented accepting any help from Yarmilineky and Jacoba. The studio said that if the Eavy did not approve their script, they would not make the picture. (54-4-7139-710)

Former Assistant Lirector Tracy advised the Pureau on 5/16/25 that the Commission on Covernment Security is looking into the proposed Chasañow picture. They took the matter up with the Many Department on 5/16/36, and the Lavy stated they had had a request for cooperation which the Lavy is now going to decline. Tom Donegan reported this picture to Law Labb of the White Laurey and orders are being issued from the White House to the Lavy Department to oppose this picture. (121-4315)-54)

Fulton Lewis, Jr. on his C/21/50 broadcast mentioned an inoident in Canta Anna, California, invalving two Kegra girl students at Charman College. He read an article from the "Canta Anna Legister" stating that the two students were ensted from their apartment because they were Repress that they refused to cooperate with a "leftist civil rights group keping to make a television movid of the inoident"; that Derbart Derbard, a former writer now with the Tund for the Republic as a news film producer, called one of the girls pig headed"; that the girls said they felt discrimination is an internal problem for the Inited States and that they did not feel they chould take a stand; that the girls are natives of Lancna and they felt relations between Panana and hierica might be endangered if they cooperated with Termard's project; that Dermard told the girls films of the incident would be helpful to the United States and said his group makes films of civil rights incidents which, according to a Tund employee, are distributed free of charge to television stations; and that Dermard denied that the girls' story would have been slanted—

We're not loading it. We are nevely reporting it." Ir. Louis said that he feels the two girls are to be highly commended for making a much greater contribution to the cause of better racial relations than the Fund for the Republic had any sincere intention of doing.

HISCRLIAHEOUS (July 1. 1956, to September 30. 1956)

On July 10, 1956, a subcommittee of the HCVA began hearings at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, to determine the rection behind the Fund's $5,000 award to the William Joanes Hemorial Library, Plynouth Heating, Pennsylvania, in June, 1955, for its "courageous and effective defense of democratic principles" for hiring and refueing to fire Mary Knowles, a librarian, who previously refused to discuss past Communist Party activities while testifying before a Senate Committee in 1953 and 1955. During the hearing Issac Shephard. former treasurer of the library testified that the hiring of knowles had caused considerable dissension and that the award was still in escrow. Urs. Itllian P. Tapley, chairman of the library committee testified that within five ninutes after meeting Knowles. she (Knowles) told her about her appearance before the Senate Committee and apsociation with the Samuel Adams Schools Doston, Kassachusetts. Tapley said she also know this achool was afted by the Attorney General. Judge George C. Corson, a member of the Plynouth Friends Meeting, testified that the najority of the Quaker body was "absolutely opposed to retaining Urs. Inoules." He added that the group had been "stignatized" by the Fund's award. Henry Hensley, forner nember of the library committee, stated that at one of the neetings he asked Urs. Knowles regarding her Communist Party membership. She made no reply. At a later date he asked her again but she rejuded to answer. Hiring Urs. Knowled, he eald, has divided the community. Urb. Laureen Black Odgen, an investigator for the Fund testified that she had investigated the Quaker group and recommended that the $5,000 award be made to the group's Library fund. She stated that it was not her duty to probe into the past of Urs. Knowles before recommending the award being given; nor was it part of her aveignment to read Mrs. Knowles previous testimony before the HCUA. Mrs. Eleanor B. Stevenson, a member of the Fund's Board of Directors and chairman of the committee which recommended the award to the Plymouth Friends Moeting, appeared at the NCVA hearing but was not called as a witness. For this she was sharply critical of the committee. (The Philadelphia "Inquirer" 7-19-55, 100-301697-A)

On 7-19-56 a committee of the Villiam James Memorial Library tosued a public statement to the effect that it "remains satisfied with the qualifications of Mrs. Knowles as both a citizen and as a librarian." The statement also stated that "Ers. Knowles has evern that she had no subversive associations since 1947, and no evidence has been produced to the contrary. Inless, or until, evidence to produced indicating activity inimical to our democratic form of government, we envision no charge in our relationship with her." The statement also questioned the value of the EPA hearing into the Fund's $5,000 award to the Cucker library. The statement was signed by Uro. Lillian & Tapley, chairmon of the committee; Urs. Mary B. Chapple; Tay Liday; Mics Alice Ambler; and Johan Archibald.

In 7/25/56 the Plynouth Rogting Library thouse a statement protesting congressional interference with their affairs. They charged that the ECA hearing at Philadelphia 7/17, 18/56 was a "travesty upon the word investigation and a mackery of the idea of inquiry." (Lashington City Lews ervice 7/25/56, 103-831637-4)

"Knowville Journal," in referring to the Fund's 45,000 cmard to the Flymouth Lecting Library, commented that "the Fund for the Lopublic has done it again." According to the editorial, "the incident provides another chapter in the history of the foundation which believes that the Communist Farty is just unother political organization." The editorial was critical of the Fund's americant tam-exempt funds for such a purpose and asked "how long will Congress permit this kind of injustice to the great majority of federal tam payers to go on?" The editorial added that "in the words of one of the members of the group, the Fund stigmatized the organization about the gift, in effect implying it was sympathetic toward communical." (103-391007-4)

Sepresentative Valter eduteed the Eureau on 9/11/56 that he was becoming more and more discouraged regarding his committee's inquiry into the Fund; that intense proceure was being brought upon him but he was not glving up the fight. The previous meek he told Cherman Adams of the White House that whiles the President can fit to overrule the Treasury Department and remove the Fund's tax-except status, he (Lalter) was going to empartmen the President. He felt vertain his threat would bring results with the President. He felt that the threat was necessary as he had beard Paul Definan had prevailed upon the White House and the Treasury Department to keep the Fund's tax-except status devoite the fact that the hew York Office of Internal Devenue Dervice had recommended such status be removed.

Regarding the pressure being put on him, talter stated that two of his friends, Rugh Hoore and Ned Fox, who reside in his Cangressional District in Pennsylvania, have begged him to drop the fight against the Fund. He has learned that they were approached by an attorney named Webster who caused considerable interruption during the HCVA hearing on the Fund in July, 1956. (This is Bethuel M. Webster, who is the attorney for the Fund). Falter aqued that by checking income tax returns with the Treasury Dopartment he has learned that the Fund paid ElmorRoper $40,000 to write articles against that the Fund paid ElmorRoper $40,000 to write articles against Representative Falter and $38,000 to Attorney Webster to create have at the ECUA hearing on the Fund. Falter added that despite this pressure on him he intended to carry on his fight against the Fund. (Nemo LeLoach to Nichols 9-11-56; 100-391697)-4/20)

James Warner of the New York Herald Tribune" advised Ur. Nichols on 9-26-56 that Faul Loffman had recently been in touch with Brownie Reid and was complaining about the tactics of Congressman Walter in investigating the Fund and wanted Brownie to have a newspaper expose made of this. Farner said that Reid personally called to tell him about this matter and asked that he check into the situation to see what was being done. Reid did not ask for any story to be written. Reid further told Warner that Faul Hoffman had suggested that they plant a dummy at a white House Press Conference along the lines as to whether Congressman Walter was devoting too much time and energy to investigating the Fund. This Reid flatly refused to do and Carner agreed that this was a proper procedure. The Director noted "I have advised Hagerty. H" (Lemo Nichols to Talson, 10-1-56; 100-391697)

MIECELLANEOUS (October 1, 1956, to December 31, 1956)

Irving Ferman, Nashington representative of the American Civil Liberties Union, advised Ur. Nichols on 1/17/56, that he had had lunch with Robert Hutchins recently. Ferman said Hutchins was quite personable and has shed a large amount of belligerency. One of the most significant things mentioned was that when Hutchins organized the Fund, he hoped to develop it as a mass communications media and in this he failed. Hutchins also intimated strongly that Paul Hoffman was a liability to the Fund and that Elma Roper was a strong candidate for his job. (It is noted that Roper did recently assume Hoffman's job as chairman of the Fund's Board of Directors.)

Ferman said that the Fund's study of "Fear in Education," being made by Louis Harris, partner of Ropersy, will be out by the end of this year. Harris told Ferman that he found no fear in education, rather he found considerable belligerency and antagonism from the outside.

Fermon added that the Fund is getting ready to give a dinner for Harry F. Cain, formerly with the Subversive Activities Control Board, and will give him an award, the details unknown.

Ferman stated further that George Eddy, a former Treasury Department employee, who was involved in either a loyalty or security case, is now writing a book which seeks to clear Harry Dexter White, Alger Hiss, and William Remington and to prove that they were railroaded, (100-391697-430)

Eddy appears to be identical with George Alfred Eddy, former Treasury Department employee, who was the subject of a loyalty investigation conducted by the Bureau in 1954 based on his association with alleged communists. The Security Board of the Treasury Department held that although the above charges were substantiated, they did not constitute grounds for dismissal under EO 10450. On 6/14/55, the Treasury Department dismissed Eddy on the grounds of unsuitability, however, he was reinstated and was allowed to resign on 6/30/55. Bureau files fail to show any connection between Eddy and the Fund for the Republic. (121-8616)

Thomas J. Donegan, Personnel Security Advisory Committee, Executive Office Building, Washington, D. C., on 10/19/56, furnished Mr. Nichols with an exchange of correspondence between Albert Pratt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy and the 20th Century Fox movie studio, regarding negotiations had concerning the production of a movie called "Three Brave Men." The movie, which portrays the story of Abraham Chassinow, the Navy employee suspended on security charges and later reinstated with apologies from the Havy, was being written by Philip Dunne and will allegedly point out fallacies of the Personnel Security Program. The Bureau previously received information that Paul Jacobs and Adam Yarmolinsky of the Fund for the Republic have been very activite in collaborating with Dunne on the script. (62-103526-4)

Fulton Lewis, Jr., informed Mr. Nichols on 10/30/56, that Tex Talbot of California had informed him that he had received a letter from Governor Fyle of the White House stating that the Department of Justice has held that there was nothing wrong in the operation of the Fund for the Republic. This, Lewis finds difficult to believe and he told Mr. Nichols he was going to take the matter up with the Attorney General. Lewis has made no additional mention of this to the Bureau. (100-391697-431)

Fred Mullen, of the Department, advised Mr. Nichols on 11/15/56 that John Lindsay, of the Department, is about to resign and retire to his law firm in New York City. Mullen believed that Lindsay was with the same law firm as Bethuel Webster, who is the general counsel for the Fund for the Republic. It is noted that while in the Department, Lindsay has seen naterial that the Bureau has sent to the Department regarding the Fund for the Republic. (100-391697-483)

It is noted that Lindsay did resign from the Department effective 12/31/56; however, his present employment is unknown.

(January 1, 1957, to March 31, 1957)

The Bureau has previously received information indicating that Paul Jacobs and Adam Tarmolinsky of the Fund for the Republic have been very active in collaborating with Philip Dunne on the script of a movie entitled "Three Brave Men," which was being produced by 20th Century Fox and allegedly points out fallacies in the Personnel Security Program. The movie reportedly portrays the story of Abraham Chasanow, the Navy employee suspended on security charges and later reinstated with apologies from the Navy. (62-103526-4)

As indicated in the 2/18/57 column of James O'Neill, Jr., movie critic for the "Washington Daily News," the movie "Three Brave Men" was then showing at the Capital Theatre. O'Neill states that the picture is a "dull one"; that it is largely fiction and second-rate fiction at that. He adds that the script is a rough rewrite of the Pultizer Prize-winning series originally written by Anthony Lewis who was then a reporter for the "Washing-ton Daily News." According to O'Neill, the picture bears only a faint resemblance of the facts and does not tell the real story.

Jay Carmody, movie critic for the Washington "Evening Star" also reviewed the movie in his 2/16/57 column. Contrary to O'Neill's review, Carmody states that the movie followed faithfully Lewis! story of the Chasanow case. He states that "it is always clear that Chasanow and his lawyer are fighting to prove his innocence, not that the Government's loyalty program is grossly guilty."

Columnist George Sokolsky advised Hr. Nichols on 2/25/57 that Dr. Held, president of the Ford Foundation, advised him that the Foundation was frantically trying to divorce itself from the Fund for the Republic. Sokolsky said he suggested to Held that the Foundation could do so by denouncing the Fund, by writing letters to everybody who links the Fund with the Foundation and to disavow and condemn the Fund. Sokolsky doubts whether Held will engage in such extreme tactics. (Nemo, Nichols to Tolson, dated 2/27/57; 100-418797-76)

On 2/20/57, candidates for election to the San Diego City Board of Education spoke before a meeting of the San Diego Republican Women (Eastern). William P. Elser, candidate for re-election was challenged because of Board of Education action in allowing Hutchins, President of the Fund, to speak at La Jolla, California, High School on 4/3/57. Elser, according to San Diego newspapers on 2/21/57 said he had looked into the Hutchins matter when an application for a speaking permit was made, and had checked with available courses including the FTI. "The FBI told was "Elver said, "there is no record that Eutohina has been connected with subversive cations." The files of the Europu and the Can Diego Office fail to reflect any pertinent information identifiable with Elecr.

Con Diego cavised the Eurecu by letter 3/7/57 that Elcer had contacted them on 2/18/57 but was furnished no information. Elser, when interviewed, on 3/23/57, claimed that he had been nicquoted by the local papers; that he had stated during his speech on 3/20/57 that he had contacted the FBI re Mutchina but was furnished no information. Elcer, when re-contacted by Man Diego on 3/13/57, pursuant to Bureau instructions, stated he regretted that this struction had occurred and was convinced that it was the work of his political opponents. He added that he intended at his first opportunity to make fully elect to the press the true circumstances regarding this situation and to stress the fact that at no time was he provided with information by the FSI. # House Committee on Un-American Activities (NCJA) Investigation of the Fund

On April 1, 1957, Mrs. Philip L. Gorson, Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania, who has been active in opposing Mary Knowles as librarian of the Villiam Jeannes Memorial Library, advised our Philadelphia Office that Karl Emerslag, of the NCJA, visited her on that date and stated that the committee was continuing its investigation of the Fund for the Republic (FFR). In fact, he stated, it is contemplated that Marry E. Sprogell, who was the legal counsel for Mrs. Lilliam P. Tapley, Library Chairman, would eventually be called before the committee. Mrs. Corson added that she believes that Sprogell is the person who interested the Fund in the Mary Knowles situation at the Villiam Jeannes Memorial Library. (100-425057-1)

It is noted that on July 10, 1936, a subcommittee of the NCVA began hearings at Iniladelphia, Pennsylvania, to determine the reason behind the Fund's $5000 award to the William Jeannes Memorial Library, Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania, in June, 1955, for hiring and refusing to fire Mary Knowles, a librarian who previously refused to discuss past Communist Farty activities while testifying before a Senate Cubcommittee in 1953 and 1955. A copy of the above NCVA public hearing may be found in Exfile 100-391697-480.

Eprojell has not been investigated by the Eureau. Lufiles reflect that he has been active in the American Civil Liberties Union and was appointed treasurer of the Philadelphia Branch in June, 1955. During the above-mentioned hearings by the ECIA, it was determined that the Fund's award to the Plymouth Meeting Library regarding Mary Knowles was based on a memorandum recommending same submitted in April, 1955, by Sprogell, also a member of the religious Society of Friends, Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania. ## Attenuted Annociation with the Guermann French Wink of Nac York

By letter dated C-D1-57, Ur. Lates Laney of the Coerseas Press Club of New York (UFC) advised the Lureau that Cecil Lrown had suggested an essociation between the OFC and the FM. The nature of this association was not explained by Ur. Laney. (103-131607-478)

The "Daily Worker," on East Codet communicat newspaper, of 12-31-46, page 0, reflected that Secil Drown of the Easted Browdesting System was cut to five minutes a week case recult of being singled out by the Cankin Congressional Committee for a review of his scripts with the thought of holding hearings on his political views. On C-1-40, it was reported that Brown claimed he was cuppressed by the Columbia Brownessing System (CD3) because of his "liberal" views, but had been officially released because he had failed to render the objective reporting required by CD3. By letter dated C-17-57 the Los Angeles Office added its files contain squarel nemapositio complaints which alleged that Brown's newscasts seemed to be procommunicat. (100-04300-4; 160-043000-20)

Legarding the association between the OPC and the FFD Dates Dame, stated it was cartain to bring loud reparausaions from a large against of the Cuerceas Press Club membership. Dancy further stated, "In my opinion, this is another case of left wingers trying to move in and infiltrate a reputable organization for their use as a public forum. Speaking as an Cuerceas Press Club member, we certainly should have no part of it, no nester in what guice it is presented." (103-831637-472)

Fill Lational to Coordinate rate 1274.

In its report of findings recarding the F.L. its use indicated the LGUA had, Caring the Investigation of the FIL, requested of the FIL, facilities in Lew York City for members of the LGUA staff to restan documents relating to the Fund's contribute since Locember, 1951. In April 19, 1857 the Committee was delived by Fund Councel Lethual Laboter, that the board had not yet considered the request. Kabeter also said "I shall not advise that this request be granted." On Lay LL, 1857 Febster personally called upon the Committee's stoff director and stated he had been instructed by the Loard of Circators of the Fund to say that the Fund would not permit a review (by 1804 investigators) of countless additional documents relating to the sperations of the Fund.

Ine LILA report further reflected that on June 4, 1057, LILA made a request of the FRL for some original decimente and shortly theresiter the Caprema Court handed down its designed in the John I. Watern suit. The LIVA report utated as follows: "without mentioning the decision, Fund council interpreted to...and adviced that the data new or heretofore supplied at your resuct are not regarded by the Fund as partinent to an investigation by your committee. It is our position eccaluded totater, that in the future the fund will not cention to supply from its files internal papers and information not relevant to a proper in ity.

The LIVA report set forth teasess the requested material was proper and within LIVA's jurisdiction. The LIVA took the position that "this rejust to open its files disqualifies the Fund as a tax-except organization. That strictly adventional, religious, or charitable organization would hide its operations from the Congress of the U. U., the very body from which it received the authority to spend its inheritance without the burden of taxas."

The LIVE report of its findings reporting the FRI the feet the FRI they spent tend and tend of they acade of dollars of the except manay, to obtain needpaper, radio and television courage to learn that is written and said about the Fund for the Lamblic. It has spent sums in excess of these amounts to attack these who question the integrity of the fund operations. The Committee is unable to attack the exact amount thick has been spent by the fund for the Lapublic in this cativity. In indication of the amount spent we believe is reflected by the expenditure of over 17,000 to hire a public relations firm to prepare script and to purchase radio time for spot amountments following the program of a radio near commentator the questioned the fund a pativities." # ALLEGED ATTACK ON THE VERACITY OF HATERIAL IN THE DIRECTOR'S

On Lay 16, 1958, Natthew Evetto, a former Dureau confidential informant who was discontinued for revealing his informant status and excessive use of intoxicants, advised he had received information from a "source" that some of the communists working for either the Ford Foundation or the Fund for the Lepublic were getting ready to "do a job" on Mr. Moover. Cvetic stated the "job" would consist of an attack on the veracity of the material contained in the book "Masters of Lecett." He assumed that Ceorge Marshall, Nayme McMillan and Earl Browder would spearhead this verbal attack because he had a faint recollection they had been connected with the Ford Foundation or the Fund for the Lepublic. Evetic refused to identify his source and was of the opinion the source obtained the information from a public anticommunist source in Fasadena, California.

A check of Dufiles does not indicate Ceorge Marshall or Wayne McMillon have been affiliated with the FFR. Earl Browder was hired by the Fund in 1955 as a source of information and raw material and was paid on a regular fee and paid commentator basio. (100-372409-433)

Memo of Mr. Delmont to Mr. Boardman dated May 20, 1958, reflected that the Los Angeles Office conducted investigation into this matter, and it was observed that there was no apparent basis for Cvetic's statement that individuals were planning an attack on the Director. (100-372409-495)
